The Junior Play

Following the custom of many years in the Crook County High School, the Class of 1914, will give a Junior play at the Club Hall on May 2. The Juniors have been working hard on the play for three weeks. The play, "College Chums," is a snappy comedy of college life, in three acts. Professor von Weber, in the form of Roscoe Claypool, is the principal source of laughter. His natural avoirdupois, combined with his excitable manner, makes him an ideal German professor. There are many other characters in the play that will keep the audience in an uproar all the time. The play throughout will be extremely interesting as the Junior class is acknowledged to be the most talented class in the school. The public will see the best play ever produced by any class in the school.

Johnson Creek School Closes

Owing to Mr. Franklin having been called away to attend the funeral of his younger brother in Albany, the postponed closing day program of his school was held Monday last. A program was rendered by the pupils and the following prizes given by the teacher: For having maintained the best record of attendance for the school year, Miss Jessie Hobwood, 9 years old, was presented with a copy of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." Jessie was present every day from the opening day till the closing of school. She was the only one who had not been absent a single day. For having maintained the highest monthly average in the red ink spelling test for three consecutive months, 94 per cent, and for having the highest general average of the school for the past two months, Miss Lillian Wolke of the 5th grade was presented with a book entitled, "Esther's Charge."

C. A. Gilchrist of the Riverside ranch is in town last week on his way home. He spent the winter in Indiana and Portland. He left the East just before the great floods swept over that section. When he was a boy he played in the forests that covered some of the country that suffered severely recently. Now the trees are gone and instead of the tiny rivulets of his boyhood are streams swollen to such proportions that steamers navigate them at high water. Mr. Gilchrist is more than ever satisfied with Crook county.

The "Story of the Cadillac," is one of that mechanical and commercial advancement which makes for permanency. The Cadillac Company has never yielded to clamor by producing that which catered merely to fancy, nor that which took advantage of the uninformed. On the contrary it has produced only that which it knew would give to the purchaser "value received" in abundant measure. The Cadillac Company has never been obliged to resort to exaggeration and over-drawn claims to dispose of all the cars that it could make—and more. Its policy has ever been to under-claim rather than over-claim. It is gratified that the public accepts its representations at their full worth; because the public has never been misled and because the public could always expect and has always received more than was offered.
