Death of William Adams.

William Adams, who was taken to Portland a couple of weeks ago for medical treatment, died at that place Sunday, April 27, aged 74 years, 6 months and 3 days. The remains were brought to Prineville and buried at the I. O. O. F. cemetery Tuesday. The History of Central Oregon gives the following sketch of his life:

"William Adams is to be numbered with the stockmen of Crook county and has done faithfully the work of the pioneer. He was born in Missouri in 1838.

"While William was very young the father died and so he remained with his mother until twenty years of age, receiving his education in the public schools. In 1859, being strongly attacked by western fever, he determined to try mining and accordingly went to Colorado during the Pike's Peak excitement. For three years he freighted and mined then came to Idaho and spent three years more in mining. After that he went to the Willamette valley, married and settled on a farm. That was his home until 1871, when he came to Beaver creek in Crook county. He settled on school land and took up cattle raising. In 1878, during the time of the Indian troubles, he was forced to flee with the other settlers and sought safety for his family near Prineville and one year later settled on McKay creek. Some time thereafter he sold his farm then moved to a place eight miles southeast of Prineville. There he engaged in the sheep business.

"In 1867, in Lane county, Mr. Adams married Nancy A. Maupin. She died in 1901. To Mr. and Mrs. Adams the following named children have been born: R. B., George and John in Alaska; William, deceased; Mrs. Wm. Boegli of Culver; Mrs. S. W. Yancey of Prineville; Silas, deceased; Charles, Oliver and Effie of Prineville."

In 1905 Mr. Adams was married to Miss Anna Marks, who survives him.

Requisition Papers for Calhoun and Thorpe

Requisition papers for the extradition of Coleman Calhoun and Willis Thorpe, who are wanted in connection with the horse case of the Robertson boys, which was tried last term, were issued in justice court here this week and transmitted to the governor of Washington for his signature. Calhoun and Thorpe were located at Toppenish, and are now in custody of officials there. It will be remembered that the bunch was charged with shipping two carloads of horses out of the state, and the trial of the Robertson boys last fall resulted in a disagreement of the jury. At that time Calhoun and Thorpe could not be located.

The "Story of the Cadillac," is one of that mechanical and commercial advancement which makes for permanency. The Cadillac Company has never yielded to clamor by producing that which catered merely to fancy, nor that which took advantage of the uninformed. On the contrary it has produced only that which it knew would give to the purchaser "value received" in abundant measure. The Cadillac Company has never been obliged to resort to exaggeration and over-drawn claims to dispose of all the cars that it could make—and more. Its policy has ever been to under-claim rather than over-claim. It is gratified that the public accepts its representations at their full worth; because the public has never been misled and because the public could always expect and has always received more than was offered.
