

WILL AMERICANS BRING BACK CUP?

Yankee Tennis Team Strong Enough to Win Davis Trophy.

SHOULD DEFEAT GERMANS.

Experts Figure McLoughlin, Williams, Hackett and Johnson Too Clever For Kaiser's Representatives in Second Round of Preliminaries—Winners to Tackle England.

What do you think of our lawn tennis team and its chances of bringing back the Davis cup? Experts think they are very good.

Four out of five matches from Australia and a round nearer the Davis cup make the going look a little easier to land the famous trophy in this country. With Australia out of the way, America next plays the Germans, who defeated the French recently. McLoughlin, Hackett, Williams and Johnson are now in England, where they will participate in the All England championships at Wimbledon and subsequently work their way to Germany to decide the second round in the Davis cup preliminaries.

The Kaiser's representatives are likely to prove harder foes than the antipodians, but Charles Hackett, the English professional, who taught the German team a few points of the game, believes that America will eliminate the fatherland players. If McLoughlin maintains the speed he showed against the Australians every racket welder in Europe will bow to him.

America's recent victory over Australia reads like a personal triumph for the fiery Californian. Out of the three matches necessary to clinch the series McLoughlin won two. It fell to the lot of the young national champion to open the series against Australia. Taking on the veteran Horace Rice, the Californian defeated the visitor in three straight sets, allowing him but seven games.

His next achievement was in the doubles with Hackett against Jones and Doust. Mainly on McLoughlin's magnificent playing the foreigners were forced to five sets before they were able to win the match.

Wallace F. Johnson, the new member of the team who took the place of Raymond D. Little, is a Philadelphian. He is the famous chop stroke player, an intercollegiate champion, former doubles partner of Clothier and third ranked player of the United States in the singles last year and in 1909.

WOLVERTON PUT ONE OVER ON UMPIRE FINNEY.

Harry Wolverton, the former manager of the New York Americans and now leader of the Sacramento team of the Pacific Coast league, knows a thing or two about the technical side of baseball. He was banished to the center field clubhouse by Umpire Finney in a game at San Francisco the other day, but sat down on the doorstep to watch the game. Finney perceived him, stopped the game and motioned him off the field. Harry then pulled his legs up and sat on the door sill with his feet against the jam. His point of vision remained the same, and there was slight change in his body, but he was off the field and Finney knew it. The game continued.

MACK WANTS CY MORGAN.

Veteran Is Twirling Great Ball For Kansas City Team.

Connie Mack would like to have Cy Morgan back. Old Cy, who was not good enough for the Athletics a year ago and was sent to the minors, it is figured, would help the weak twirling staff of Mack's team just now.

Mack has kept the wires hot to Kansas City, where Morgan is pitching high grade ball, but Kansas City cannot spare him at this stage of the race, and all the flattering offers which Mack has made have been turned down. It only proves that it is a mistake for a major league club to let out a winning veteran before some of the phenomenal recruits have shown good form.

Pitchers of the ability of Morgan are not picked up every day. He was too valuable a twirler to be allowed to go back to the minors notwithstanding the fact that he had his wild spells. Morgan is sure to be in the big show again next season even if Mack does not succeed in securing him. He won his first ten games pitched.

RACE HORSE BRINGS FORTUNE

Argentina Government Pays $150,000 For Craganour.

The sum of $150,000 was paid recently by the government of Argentina for the horse Craganour, which was first past the winning post in the English Derby a few weeks ago, but was disqualified for bumping.

Only on four occasions has the price paid for Craganour, which is to be used for breeding purposes in Argentina, been exceeded in the amount paid for a race horse. These were Ormonde, which was sold for $156,250 to an American sportsman; Cyllene, which went to an English sportsman for $157,500; Diamond Jubilee, sold to an Argentine breeder for $157,500, and Flying Fox, which holds the record for price and was sold to a French sportsman for $196,875.

Speaker Great Judge of Fly Balls. Jim McAleer, king of the fielders in his day and age, declares that Tris Speaker is the best judge of a fly ball he ever saw. Clark Griffith also says the same thing.

Catcher Gossett Looks Good. Gossett is making considerable of a hit behind the bat for the New York Americans and looks like a comer. He has done fine throwing from all sorts of positions.

LEAGUE MOCULS AFTER GAMBLERS

Baseball Club Owners Start Crusade on Betting.

WOULD BE SPORTS BARRED.

Every National and American Magazine Will Make Strong Effort to Keep Out Gambling Element—There Has Been Plenty of Betting on Games in Several Cities.

At last strong steps have been taken to combat the gambling menace to baseball. All the big magazines are making heroic efforts to stamp out betting within their ball parks and making the crusade in a body.

The crusade grows out of the reports that considerable open gambling was indulged in at Chicago, New York, St. Louis, Detroit, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh.

The crusade will be continued and with no letup until every professional gambler as well as those who wager small amounts among themselves "on the quiet" will have to refrain from the "gambling instinct," so called, or else they will be barred from the ball parks altogether as "objectionable" parties. They will be left out in the cold, too, and without any means of redress.

That is a privilege the management of the big league clubs has by legal rights that have been tested time and again.

The magazines fear that if measures were not taken at once to stamp out this evil the bookmakers would soon be posting odds on the games inside the baseball parks, and if this came to pass it would not be long before the game would be in bad repute.

Many years ago betting came near killing baseball, for it became known that some of the ball players were in league with the gamblers, throwing the games or trying to win them, as the betting demanded. The managers, ferreting out the guilty ones, black-listed them and then framed rules to safeguard the game against a repetition of the scandal. How well they succeeded is best told by the great popularity of the game today, for baseball has grown and developed until it is indeed the great national pastime, equaled by no other game that was ever invented.

CRAVATH AFTER STICK HONOR

Phillies' Outfielder Thinks He Can Lead League in Batting.

Gabby Cravath, the Phillies' outfielder, is out for the hitting honors of the National league this season. Judging by the manner he has been whaling the ball off late, he is in a fair way Cravath is not a youngster. He starred in the minors for several seasons and had one or two trials in the big show before, but didn't suit the big league managers until Charley Doolin saw him. This was last year. Sluggo Cravath has won many games for the Phillies by his hitting.

HONOR FOR KAHANOMOKU.

Olympic 100 Yard Swimming Record Holder Given House and Lot.

Duke Kahanomoku, the world's champion short distance swimmer and holder of the Olympic record for 100 yards, has been presented with a house and lot on the beach at Walkiki, Honolulu, by city officers.

The donation was made in appreciation of his victories at Stockholm and the honor he brought to his country by his achievements.
