President Will Accept Amendments to Currency Bill to Obtain Speedy Action.

Washington.—With President Wilson willing to accept substantial amendments to the administration currency bill in the hope of obtaining speedy action on the measure in the senate committee, supporters of the administration grew optimistic over the chances for the passage of the measure before the end of the extra session of congress.

The president himself, in a letter to Majority Leader Underwood, announced his willingness to consider a proposal for a recess of the house, because, he said, conferences with members of the senate committee led him to believe the bill would be reported to the senate the first week in November and passed at the present session.

Republican members of the committee and Senator Hitchcock, of Nebraska, were inclined to look upon this plan as too optimistic, but other members of the committee said they hoped to be able to live up to the president's expectations.

A reduction in the number of reserve banks, fixed by the administration bill at 12, and the removal of the secretary of agriculture and the controller of the currency from the federal reserve board, which would control the new currency system, were the amendments which the president let it be known he would not oppose.

Campaign Bill is Draconic in Effect.
The first direct results of the congressional investigation of campaign expenditures came when the senate passed Senator Clapp's bill prohibiting the sending of campaign funds from one state to another.

If the house approves the measure it will put rigid limitations, not only on the activities of general political interests, but also on the work of such organizations as the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Federation of Labor and the National Association of Woman's Suffrage.

The bill prohibits the carrying or sending of funds from one state to another to be used in the election of president, vice-president, presidential electors or members of congress.

The proposed new law would not prohibit the present work of national political committees, so long as they make public reports of all contributions received and expenditures.

Lane to Insist on $100,000,000 Loan.
Secretary Lane, head of the interior department, intends to make a determined fight before congress the coming session to secure the loan or bond issue he advocates, which will make available $100,000,000 for government irrigation and drainage work in the west. To that end he is endeavoring to center the attention of the entire country on the irrigated sections of the west.

Once the general public realizes what irrigation has done and can do for the desert regions, he believes there will be little objection to a loan to the reclamation fund, even if it be for the sum named. It is to the irrigated lands that the country must look for its increased production of food products, in the opinion of the secretary, and if $100,000,000 in addition to amounts now available can be expended for irrigation and drainage during the next decade, Secretary Lane believes the problem of high cost of living will be at least partially solved.

President Wilson will go to Philadelphia Saturday to speak at the dedication of Congress hall. The same night he will leave for Mobile, Ala., where he is to deliver an address before the Southern Commercial congress.

"The whole west has felt bitter toward the interior department," said Secretary Lane, on his return to Washington, "and I have devoted much thought and study to ascertain the reason. I have concluded that this bitterness is due partially to the bureaucratic administration of the department, but the main complaint is because there is too much red tape."

Japanese Color Education.
In Japan only a blind child could be insensible to color after long days under the pink mist of the cherry blossoms and the crimson glory of the maples in the sunny green and yellow fields or with mountain slopes of wild azalea for a romping place and a wonderful sky of blue for a cover. By inheritance and environment he is an artist in the use of color. Form, too, is as easy, for when crude toys have failed to please it is his privilege to build ships, castles, gunboats and temples with every conceivable household article from the spinning wheel to the family rice bucket.—Frances Little in Century.

THE GIFT OF BOOKS.

When I consider what some books have done for the world and what they are doing, how they keep up our hope, awaken new courage and faith, soothe pain, give an ideal life to those whose hours are cold and hard, bind together distant ages and foreign lands, create new worlds of beauty, I thank God for the gift of books.—James Freeman Clarke.

HENRY LANE WILSON MAKES LETTER PUBLIC

Reviews Circumstances Leading Up to Instructions to British Ambassador.

Spokane.—The letter to Secretary of State Bryan, in which Henry Lane Wilson tendered his resignation as American ambassador to Mexico was made public here by Mr. Wilson. The letter was written in Indianapolis August 28. In part Mr. Wilson wrote:

"I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your note of August 14, transmitting a copy of a telegraphic instruction of the department of state to the American ambassador in London, directing him to disclaim all responsibility on the part of this government for an interview attributed to me."

Mr. Wilson then reviews the circumstances leading up to the instructions to the ambassador in London. A London dispatch was published in this country August 11, saying that one of the factors determining British recognition of the Mexican provisional government was the "congratulatory" speech of the American ambassador on the occasion of Huerta's reception to the diplomatic corps. Mr. Wilson says he did not believe this came from an official British source, and when he read articles "evidently inspired from administration sources, containing expressions of gratification over the supposed proptrietary explanation" of the British government.

"It seemed apparent to me that this was the first evidence of your intention publicly to question my official acts," he continues, "and I accordingly gave to the press the interview referred to."

In his letter he criticized Bryan's foreign policy as a "spirit of hazardous adventure" and claimed he (Wilson) was actuated only by unselfish motives in his attitude toward Huerta and Madero.

Washington.—President Wilson and Secretary of State Bryan will make no reply to criticisms voiced in Spokane by former Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson of the administration's attitude toward Mexico. Secretary Bryan intimated that Wilson was discredited, and that no official notice would be taken of any of the former ambassador's "rebukes."

GERMAN BALLOON BURSTS
Airship Drops 900 Feet to Ground and Navy Officers Lose Lives.

Berlin.—Twenty-eight persons were killed near Johannisthal in the explosion and fall of Count Zeppelin's latest dirigible balloon, the L-II.

The 28 men represented the entire personnel of the admiralty board which was to conduct the final trial of the dirigible looking to its acceptance by the government as a new unit of the German aerial navy, the pilot and crew and invited guests. Every person that went aloft in the big airship is dead.

Twenty-seven of them were killed almost instantly by the explosion of the gas in the balloon or burned to death as the flaming wreck fell to the ground from a height of 900 feet.

MRS. PANKHURST IS PERMITTED TO ENTER

New York.—Mrs. Emmaline Pankhurst, the militant suffragette leader, was allowed to land on Manhattan Island from Ellis Island, where she had been detained by the immigration authorities. She had been ordered deported as an undesirable alien, but President Wilson and Secretary of Labor Wilson intervened on her appeal from this decision and instructed Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, to release her on her own recognizance and without bond.

Shortly after she landed Mrs. Pankhurst was taken in an automobile to the residence of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

"The American people did it—it is their will," she said. "What will the English say?" Then she paid her respects partly to Reginald McKenna, the British home secretary, characterizing him as "the chief torturer of England." She said it was not her purpose to preach militancy in this country, but that she would confine herself to an exposition of the treatment accorded the suffragettes in England.

Idaho is Urged to Act.
Boise.—That Idaho should follow the lead of Oregon and Washington in joining hands with the reclamation service to complete its half-finished irrigation projects and again turn the tide of immigration to the northwest, is the opinion expressed by F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service while here.
