J. E. STEWART & COMPANY

Powell Butte

The most delightful social affair of the season took place Tuesday evening when Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Smith entertained in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McPharlane and family. The Smith home, a cozy bungalow just new, was crowded to its capacity with friends and neighbors, who gathered to wish the McPharlane's God's speed in their journey to their new home in Tekoa, Wash. The evening was most pleasantly spent at all sorts of games after which the hostess served a most appetizing lunch, consisting of sandwiches, coffee, cakes, ice cream and home-made candies.

Geo. Morgan had the misfortune to lose his big black horse, "King," last Tuesday. Death was no doubt occasioned by an overfeed of barley the night before when the horse got loose and helped himself to the grain.

Geo. McPharlane and family left on the Thursday morning train for Tekoa, Wash., where they make their future home.

A. H. Rohde sold several head of fat sheep last week to J. B. Roe, the Redmond butcher.

Mrs. Mary Orewler came out from Bend Tuesday for a visit with her granddaughter, Mrs. Joe Shearer, and family.

Joe Shearer has moved his family from the Ross Bussett place across the road to the house recently vacated by Mrs. Andrew Miller and family.

B. A. Kendall, the Redmond hardware merchant, was a visitor in our section Thursday.

B. Manchau, who recently bought the Adams' eighty, has returned from his home in Tacoma, accompanied by several members of his family, including a married son. Mr. Manchau will start immediately to improve the place on which he intends to make his home. Doubtless, other members of the party will buy land here also.

Alvin Riggs was a Prineville visitor Friday.

Wednesdays S. D. and Ed mustard were visitors at the county seat Saturday.

Allen Wilcoxon and family visited in Bend Sunday, returning home Monday.

J. J. Chapman is adding a bathroom to his house. We might add that he is going to install a really truly bath tub when the room is finished.

Reeves Wilcoxon took a load of spuds to Bend Saturday.

Wednesdays A. W. Bayn, Allen Wilcoxon, E. N. Hall, D. A. Yates and E. L. Iverson visited Mrs. Henry Tweet Thursday afternoon. The ladies planned their coming as a surprise but Mrs. Tweet was equal to the occasion and provided a dainty lunch for her guests at the close of a pleasant afternoon of conversation.

Guy Sears is building a fine big barn on his place. The structure is 40x45 feet. One side will be finished with stations for dairy cows, while the other side will be used for horses and to house vehicles. The center will be used for hay.

Mrs. M. S. Patton came in on the train Monday from her homestead near Opal City and will pay a visit to her brother, N. P. Alley, and family.

A. W. Bayn and G. C. Truesdale were Prineville visitors Monday.

N. P. Alley sold some hogs recently to McNeilly.

John Rohde, who spent several days in Redmond recently, returned to Powell Butte Wednesday and is staying with his brother, A. H. Rohde.

Mr. and Mrs. Speer visited at their homestead Sunday. They have been employed at the Geo. Hobbs place for the past two months.

Grimes Valley.

Fred Stuart and Tom Creamer have gone up the Ochoco to haul lumber to Prineville.

John and Fred Grimes have taken a contract to widen and clean out the Pringle ditch.

Clyde Hoover is getting along very well building the new church house, with the help of the neighbor men.

Mrs. Numa McCoin is getting her turkeys ready for market this week. She had about 100 to kill.

Misses Geyer and Joslin gave a surprise party to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Grimes Saturday evening. Taffy pulling was the event of the evening, with games and music.

Roberts

Charles Kershner made a trip to town last week for a load of rye.

Ed Hinterberger left for his home in Seattle a few days ago. It is his intention to return to his claim in the spring as he has a large field plowed ready to seed.

Geo. Millican was riding in the vicinity of Little Bear creek last Sunday.

G. H. Nye made a trip to the city last week for a load of supplies.

Edward Gould and son, James, spent several days last week on their desert claim. They have finished pulling stumps on the Son-tag claim.

Ira Wirtz has been dragging sage and clearing a large tract of land on his ranch.

Ed Parker spent two days on Little Bear creek last week. He returned home Sunday evening.

Miss Bunn of Little Bear creek who has been visiting relatives in the valley, returned to Central Oregon Saturday night. She is no longer Miss, but brought back a partner of her joys and sorrows. Nothing like the Bunny-hug.

H. Bunn made two trips to Redmond lately for freight and supplies.

Mrs. George Taylor's mother and brother of Prineville have been visiting her on Bear creek.

Mart Trenne spent a few days in the county seat last week.

Lamonta

Ada Mitchell spent a pleasant week-end at Marie Braden's.

Omar Cyrus and family and Miss Geyer were visitors at the H. F. Mitchell home Sunday.

Irwin, Elsa and Frank Grant were visiting at the Black home Sunday.

The Lamonta boys are busy practicing football for the coming game with Madras Thanksgiving.

The rabbit drive north of Lamonta was not a success last Sunday, owing to bad management. It is hoped it will be better next Sunday for people from The Dalles and Portland will be there Nov. 23.

There will also be a drive south of Lamonta near the Divide. Everyone come.

Every farmer is busy putting in his fall grain. Part of the grain is coming up and looking fine.
