Great Show at the Lyric Friday Eve

A remarkably interesting educational film is a series of moving pictures which follow the life history of a great newspaper from the "automatic" typesetting machines to the hustling pushing "newsies," and from it we gain some idea of the clock-work precision which is necessary that we may enjoy our daily paper. These pictures were taken through courtesy of the New York Herald and will be shown "School Night" (Friday) this week at the Lyric Theatre with the two-reel animal picture, "Alone in the Jungle," an intensely interesting romance of the dangerous animal infested jungle-land of Africa, absolutely without parallel as to some of its dangerous features. Miss Bessie Eyton, of the Selig Co., performs in this play, the most daring and gripping role ever enacted by a motion picture actress.

The New Registration Law Declared Invalid

The supreme court on Tuesday of this week declared the new permanent registration law passed by the 1913 legislature invalid and reinstated the old registration law. That feature of the new law requiring compulsory registration, providing the supreme court held the compulsory feature constitutional, was declared by the court to be delegating to the supreme court legislative powers, which is expressly prohibited by the constitution. The whole act was thereby declared invalid, including the repealing clauses, so that the old registration law is reinstated and voters will register as usual for the 1914 elections, the books being opened for the primaries about the middle of March. The election will be held May 15, 1914.

For municipal elections to be held next month a new registration will not now be required.

The Missouri Way of Doing Things

Stewart & Carlson took a most effective way to demonstrate the superiority of Prineville flour last Saturday by distributing handbills that were worth a sample loaf at the new Prineville Bakery. The bread could not be beaten anywhere. It was excellent. With good flour and a good baker you are bound to get something good to eat. The "show me" plan made many friends for both baker and flour.
