

FOR EVENING WEAR.

Coffure Not Complete Without Ornament.

THE ECCLESIASTICAL HELMET.

Every woman who goes out a great deal in the evening is enchanted with the new coiffure ornaments. In Paris this winter flowers are not worn in the hair by smart women; neither are ribbon bows, except in the case of extreme youth, and fashionable women the world over are beginning to imitate the Parisienne in this respect. The coiffure ornament illustrated is copied from the headgear of one of the dignitaries of the Roman church. It is built of passementerie with a crown of gold colored satin.

Today's Style in Names.

What are the names that the girls of today are bearing? Perhaps a good reply to that question would be to give a list of the Christian names of the girls that make up the crews in a well known college. Here they are, exactly as published a few days ago:

Adelaide, Mary, Priscilla, Dorothy, Natalie, Lucie, Eleanor, Mary, Ethel, Linda, Virginia, Henrietta, Valeria, Bertha, Anna, Rachel, Thelma, Mildred, Hildegarde, Marie, Garetta, Helen, Carolina, Avondelle, Carolyn, Mildred, Elma.

Out of the list of twenty-seven Mary occurs but twice, though another time it appears masquerading as Marie. There are several names never heard of before, and the mothers of those girls surely did not lack courage. The Carrie that was changed to Caroline has now become Carolyn and Carolina.

The foreign element in our country is shown by such names as Linda, Thelma and Elma. There is certainly a variety in this up to date list. Perhaps the mothers are becoming militant and standing up for their rights in the naming of their girl babies.

Youthful Evening Frock.
Charmingly youthful is this little gown of white taffeta silk and shadow lace trimmed with rosebuds. The wired ruffles are chic, but the bizarre effect of the minaret tunic is lacking.

Winter Gloves.

White gloves worn with fur become soiled in half an hour. It is scarcely for this sensible reason, however, that fashion has banished them for the moment, replacing white by antelope, iron gray or sable brown.

It is a supple skin, warm and comfortable. Button fastenings will soon disappear completely from gloves in favor of the "pressions" which click into each other with an ease and security their predecessors never achieved.

HOW TO ARRANGE PARTY FOR CHILDREN ON FEB. 22.

For a children's Washington party decorate the room prettily with flags and pictures of Washington and Mount Vernon. Have a paper hatchet in which there is a pin for each child. Blindfold each child, one at a time, and have him pin the hatchet on the nose of Washington. A large cheap print may be obtained for this purpose. This will make lots of fun. Award a cherry log cabin box filled with candied cherries.

Then have these riddles—children just love to guess them:

What holds all the snuff in the world? No one knows (nose).

What makes a man baldheaded? Want of hair.

Why is it impossible for a bare-headed boy to cut down a cherry tree? Because he hasn't a hat yet (hatchet).

In what age do we find the happiest men? Marriage.

To what island should women be banished? The Isle of Man.

What is the name of the most popular ship in the world? Courtship.

Where is a good place for a hungry man? Sandwich Islands.

Where should a person go to find happiness? To the dictionary.

What would you do if you were caught with a stolen watch? Give it up.

HOW TO IRON A SHIRT.

Plain Directions For a Task That Many Girls Declare Is Hard.

Shirts must be ironed, but every one hates to do it. Most women will agree that next to dishwashing this kind of ironing is the worst task in the house. There are three or four shirts every week. You can send them to the laundry, and they generally look well when they come back too. Of course it costs money, and lots of it, and then the shirts don't last nearly so long.

Much has been said about the man who makes two blades of grass grow where before there was one. But how about a woman who can make one shirt last where before two were needed? She deserves honorable mention at least. A woman who will not make an honest effort to be economical is a disgrace to the generation in which she lives.

If all women knew how easy it is to iron shirts the laundries would have to close up. The irons must be clean and hot and the shirt clean and damp. Begin on the sleeve, not on the cuff. If the sleeve is ironed first the garment will not be mussed over doing the sleeve later. If you iron the cuff before the sleeve the cuff will get broken when the sleeve is ironed. It isn't hard to iron the cuff. Just read the directions on any starch box to learn that.

If you cover the cuff with a cloth it will not become scorched so easily. Next iron the neckband. Then fold the back of the shirt lengthwise through the middle and lay it flat on the board to iron. If you do this you won't get wrinkles pressed into the front. Then iron the front, being careful to get the front plait, with the buttonholes in, dry and straight. Lay the yoke flat on the board and iron till dry. If a shirt is ironed this way even the gronches of men will have no cause for complaint.

NOVEL ORNAMENTS.

How to Make Pretty Plaster of Paris Pictures.

Attractive pictures can thus be made with plaster of paris. Put the paper picture that you have ready into a dish in the center, but first grease the dish or wet it with cold water. This will keep the picture in place. Go over the picture (which should have the picture side down) with a soft cloth so that drops of water will not wrinkle the work when it is finished, pressing gently and firmly. Pour in the plaster of paris, which should be of a creamy consistency, and leave until it hardens. Just before it hardens slip in a little hook, a piece of string or make a hole for the picture to hang up by. In the morning shake gently, turning the plate upside down, and it will be ready to hang upon the wall. An oval meat platter makes a nice shaped picture.

How to Increase Lung Power.

Men and women can increase their lung power—chest expansion it is called technically—by five minutes' exercise morning and night. Stand up straight on the balls of the feet, head thrown back, and inhale deeply, first inflating the lower part of the lungs and then the upper. Then exhale slowly, letting the chest sink first and then the lungs. Do this fifteen times morning and evening and you'll spend less money on colds and catarrhs.

How to Clean a Percolator.

When the perforations in a percolator become clogged the coffee requires more time, and it is quite apt to be muddy. Use a teaspoonful of oxalic acid crystals to a pint of water and let it percolate about twenty minutes. Then clean with a stiff brush. Lye or any gritty substance cannot be used on aluminum.

How to Clean Coat Collars.

When the coat collar becomes soiled it may be cleaned by rubbing it well with a mixture composed of one part of salt dissolved in four parts of alcohol.

AUTOMOBILE NOTES.

How to Keep Your Car In Good Condition at All Times.

To wash a car properly with soap first dissolve in a pail of water sufficient soap to make a good suds. Then in the washing operation use the suds, sopping it on from the sponge instead of rubbing the soap on a wet sponge or, what is worse, rubbing it on the surface of the car. Before applying the suds the car should be rinsed thoroughly with water, using a gentle stream. This is important, as all particles of grit and dirt must be removed from the surface before applying the sponge. Apply the suds liberally where the parts are dirty; then rinse off with clear water and a fresh sponge, flowing the water below the sponge to insure that any grit and dirt that may be left on the surface are washed away before the sponge has a chance to pick it up and scratch the surface. After the final sponging the surface should be dried with a clean, wet chamois.

In washing the chassis the same method is in order, except that it may be necessary to use stronger suds. Where cars are in use over oily or muddy roads frequent washing is necessary, and this washing should be done as soon as possible after the car leaves the road, as when this oil or mud dries on the car it is very difficult to remove and will damage the varnish, it being impossible under certain oil and mud conditions to remove all the stains. In this connection it is important that neither the bonnet nor radiator is washed while it is hot, as to do so will dull the luster, ruining it in a very short time.

Another point which should be given attention is that the same sponge should not be used for washing both the body and the chassis. Both sponges should be of the best quality, care being taken at all times to keep them clean and in proper condition.

AT THE TELEPHONE.

How to Make Conversation Over the Wire a Success.

First—Never pick up the receiver until the bell stops ringing. In so doing the bell on your other party's wire rings, and he will answer it, which causes a babble of voices and much confusion.

Second—Do not place your mouth too close to the mouthpiece. This causes a vibration and thus prevents your being heard distinctly.

Third—When you call a party give central the district, number and letter slowly and distinctly.

Fourth—When you get the party your question should be, "Is this So-and-so?" not "Who is this?" which is neither a pertinent nor a time saving question.

Fifth—Speak in as moderate a tone as you would if the person were right beside. To shout also makes a vibration, which is very annoying, and even a deaf person can hear a moderate tone over the phone.

Sixth—Don't mention names or tell all you know over the phone. This is a very unwise policy, and unless you have a private wire you have no right to monopolize it indefinitely to the exclusion of those on your wire.

HOW TO ENTERTAIN ON ST. VALENTINE'S DAY.

A hostess who entertained for a card club had these unique invitations. The meeting was on Feb. 14, so in bright red envelopes she placed hearts of lurid hue, on which she wrote: "Hearts are trumps. No previous attachments considered." The date, hour, name and address followed. She served ice cream hearts, made by using a heart shaped cookie cutter, some leed with pink and some with white, pale green and lavender, all from harmless colorings. The score was kept by dropping candy notes to hearts into a silken bag, cut out heart shaped and made with a drawstring at the top. Gift hearts were glued on the outside of bags in the way of ornamentation. Cupids dressed in red tulle, with gilt wings, were the place favors, and red carnations were the flowers used for the centerpiece, and one for each guest was laid by the plate.

How to Dress For Work.

The woman who has a daily task before her needs to be neatly dressed and to present a good appearance; to be well dressed—that is, suitably and becomingly—is part of her stock in trade. A good figure and well cut clothes are often more potent than a pretty face. Cheap smart clothes, ill kept; mock jewelry and the like are a bar to success, as are the latest modes interpreted in a second class style. A well cut tailor made in tweed, cloth or serge is of use all the year around. With collar and cuffs of the same, which possibly wear better than velvet or satin, worn with a blouse of the same shade in a serviceable fabric, such as marquisette or flannel, the choice is large, and for winter wear there should be detachable linings. Woolen ratine and serge make most useful one piece gowns. Crepe de chine is to be commended for demitoelet and in black and white is good and fashionable.

How to Protect Magazines.

Strips of cotton cloth cut diagonally and fastened with library paste to the back of a magazine cover when it is new will save wear and add to the life of the cover.
