The Official Vote for Crook County

The primaries passed off quietly last Friday. Only a small vote was polled throughout the county. The republican registration for the county was 2036. The highest individual vote polled at the primaries was 1024 for R. A. Booth, U. S. Senator. Chief interest was centered in the fight between R. H. Bayley and J. F. Blanchard for county commissioner, and R. L. Brewster and H. A. Kelley for county surveyor. Mr. Blanchard won by 45 votes and Mr. Kelley by 61. The friends of Ralph Jordan put him on all three tickets—republican, democratic and progressive—and he was nominated on all of them. The official count is as follows:

Tennis Tournament Broke About Even

Bend and Prineville players engaged in an informal tennis tournament on the new club courts Sunday in which the honors were about evenly divided.

The Bend players were—Editor Putnam of the Bend Bulletin, C. S. Hudson and A. M. Lara, Conkers and J. P. Keyes of The Bend Company. Mrs. Hudson and Mrs. Putnam accompanied their husbands. Mrs. Hudson's mother, Mrs. Bell, as well as the Hudson children also made the trip.

In the forenoon play Dr. Rosenberg and A. R. Bowman took two sets from Hudson and Keyes, while Putnam and Lara defeated Brewster and Bechtell.

In singles Putnam defeated Dr. Rosenberg 6-3, 1-6 and 6-0, and Bowman took two sets from M. Lara.

A return match will be played at Bend by the local players in about two weeks.

The new club courts are among the best in the county and the new veranda on the east end of the Club Hall makes it especially comfortable and attractive to those who wish to witness the games.

Wm. D. Bell Released from County Jail

Wm. D. Bell, who has been confined to the county jail for some time on a rape charge, was taken to Laidlaw Monday by Sheriff Elkins where he married the girl. The people of Laidlaw thought it wiser to let the fellow work and support his victim rather than serve a number of years in the pen and the community take care of the girl. She is expected to become a mother shortly.

Strayed
One bay mare, aged 8 years, roached mane, wearing halter, R with curve under, brand on left hind leg. Left Powell Buttes May 9. $10 reward. C. C. KIMMEL, Prineville, Oregon. 5-14-3tp

Judge Benson Has Lead Over McNary

With complete returns in from nearly every county in the state, and incomplete from a few, including Baker, Jackson, Harney and Coos, the vote for fourth place for Justice of the Supreme Court shows Judge Henry L. Benson leading Justice Charles L. McNary by 45 votes.

Judge Benson has a total vote, reported, of 34,234, while Justice McNary has 34,189. In Baker county, where the partial vote reported shows Judge Benson in the lead, the complete vote, according to late reports from there, is expected to show a slight lead for McNary.

Tumalo Project Big Asset for Crook County

O. Laurgaard, the engineer in charge of the Tumalo project, while in Portland recently, discussed the big Crook county irrigation project as follows with an Oregonian reporter:

"Practically all the supplies have been bought from Portland houses," he said. "From 300 to 400 men will have been employed on the project for a year and a half when it is completed. It will support about 2,000 persons living on ranches when the job is done, and will be a perpetual asset to Portland. Settlers will have to pay from $38 to $40 an acre for the land, one-tenth cash and the balance in ten years, and if they cultivate one-third of their land each year for the first three years, the payments for those years may be deferred to allow them to put their money into stock and implements when they need them most.

"An appropriation of $450,000 was made by the last legislature to irrigate land in Central Oregon about seven and a half miles from Bend. It was to straighten up the old Columbia Southern project.

"Since last July there has been new hope and prosperity in that country," said Mr. Laurgaard. "The water rights have been straightened up and the people feel vastly encouraged. By the way, it is the only project of its kind in the United States that is being built with state money.

"To date we have spent about $260,000 of the appropriation and we have completed seven and a half miles of the feed canal from Tumalo creek to the reservoir. The feed canal is of permanent construction,

Be Careful About Cutting Wood on Public Land

Portland Ore., 310 Custom House. EDITOR PRINEVILLE JOURNAL. I have received numerous complaints of a great deal of petty timber trespass by various parties in Crook county, who have been taking wood from Carey Act lands for their own use, and also from other government lands for sale. It appears that most of these parties are ignorant of the law, and that it is a custom that has gradually grown up from the days when there were but few settlers and they took what wood they wanted from where they could get it. Now, however, conditions have changed and the custom has grown to such proportions that it must be stopped, because it is in violation of law and also not for the best interest of the community. I do not wish to see any one prosecuted simply on account of his ignorance. I wish to give a warning to all before any further steps are taken.

Several times recently I have received complaints that different parties have been cutting wood from vacant lands and Carey Act segregated lands for sale in the Deschutes valley and near there. The ownership of such lands rests in the government until patent is issued, and the General Land Office has supervision of them until that time, and is charged with the duty of protecting the timber on these lands and of prosecuting any persons taking timber unlawfully.

The only person who is allowed to sell wood or timber from unpatented lands is a homestead entry-man, and he is allowed to cut and sell only for the purpose of clearing the timber from the lands for cultivation. He can not cut and sell from lands which he does not expect to cultivate, and if he does not follow the cutting by actual cultivation within a reasonable time he is liable for trespass, and may be compelled to pay the government the full market value of the wood sold. In addition to paying for the wood, or timber, he is liable to criminal prosecution for cutting for sale, and if convicted is subject to fine and imprisonment. As stated above the timber belongs to the government and when unlawfully cut may be seized wherever found, in the woodhouse of the purchaser, or on a railroad car, or if sawed into lumber the last purchaser may be called on to pay for it even after built into a house. The government is not barred from recovering its property by lapse of time nor by sale, even to an innocent purchaser.

Any person who has no wood of his own may cut for his own use only from vacant public land, provided he takes not over $50 worth in any one year, and that he first notify the Chief of Field Division of the General Land Office, giving a description of the lands where he wishes to get his wood, and shows that he has no wood of his own and needs it for his own use, and not for sale or export. Several persons may join together in having one agent to get their wood for them and jointly may get over the $50 worth, by first getting a permit from the Chief of Field Division.

All lands segregated under the Carey Act are not public lands in that they have been withdrawn from entry for the use of the state, which has agreed to reclaim them
