

McDaniel Back from Pen for New Trial

Sheriff Elkins returned Tuesday morning from Salem with Gaylord McDaniel, who has been granted a new trial for the murder of Herman Poch. He was convicted of murder in the second degree at the May, 1913, term of the district court and was sentenced by Judge Bradshaw to life imprisonment.

McDaniel has been in the penitentiary about a year. He does not show any signs of his confinement. He has made a model prisoner and after the first month was made a sort of inside trusty. He worked in the corridors, locked and unlocked the main line cells, etc. The prisoners have the use of a good library, he says, ball grounds and other forms of exercise.

McDaniel says he was not even "hung up" for any infraction of prison rules. On being questioned as to what he meant by "hung up" the Journal man was informed that minor breaches of discipline were punished by tying the arms of prisoners above their heads and causing them to be held in that attitude from eight to twelve hours, according to the nature of the offense committed. "It's an ordeal that one does not want to go through a second time," said McDaniel. "Your arms are drawn up through the bars of your cell door and then your hands are handcuffed on the outside. The ordinary prisoner does not want a second dose but there are some hardened criminals that nothing short of solitary confinement seems to have any effect upon. The solitary cell, though, subdues the worst of them. Out of some 300 or 400 convicts only seven were in confinement when I left. Two men paid the death penalty while I was there," said McDaniel.

McDaniel was in a cheerful frame of mind upon his arrival and said he was mighty glad to get back again.

M'Nary Winner by 18 On Official Returns

Official returns from the Republican primary election from every county in the state show that Justice Charles L. McNary, of the Supreme Court, won the nomination for the office he holds over Circuit Judge Henry L. Benson, of Klamath Falls, by 18 plurality. The total vote cast for Justice McNary is 34,592, and that for Judge Benson is 34,574.

The returns given are based on the official count in 29 counties in the hands of the secretary of state and on official totals from the county seats of the five counties that have not yet reported to Salem—Clackamas, Lane, Multnomah, Washington and Yamhill. With the final totaling of the vote, as canvassed by the county canvassing boards, in the office of the secretary of state, if no other errors are found, Justice McNary will be certified as the fourth candidate for the Supreme Court for the four places to be filled at the general election in November.

WEAK LUNGS?

The toll of tuberculosis is claiming more than 350 victims every day in the United States, yet few realize their grave condition until the critical period arrives. Overwork, worry, weakness after sickness, catarrh, bronchitis, tender throats—all exert the weakening influence that invites consumption. To guard against consumption, thousands of people take Scott's Emulsion after meals because its rich medicinal nourishment strengthens the lungs, puts vigor in the blood, and upbuilds strength to resist tuberculosis. Scott's Emulsion is nature's strength-builder. Refuse substitutes.

Luncheon and Shower

Last Saturday evening Mrs. Kayler's home was the scene of a very delightful luncheon and shower given by Mesdames Kayler, Smith, Elkins and Winnek with Miss Herman as the honor guest. This was the last regular meeting of the Shumia Literary Club for the year and the members were glad of an opportunity to express their good wishes and friendship for one of their number.

A long dining table was tastefully decorated with the Shumia colors and soon after Miss Herman's arrival the members found their places by means of dainty place cards which further carried out the color scheme.

The luncheon was fit for a king but was equally enjoyed by the queens who pronounced every dish perfect. The guests were waited upon by Misses Helen Elkins and Lela Geyer.

Mrs. Collins Elkins was toast mistress and complimented the guest of honor in a few well chosen remarks. Mrs. Winnek responded to the toast of "Our Teacher." Mrs. Walker gave a toast on "The Man in the Case," in the form of a short Ode which she had composed for the occasion. "Following Suit" was responded to by Mrs. Van Morse.

At the close of the luncheon Miss Herman expressed her appreciation in a few well selected remarks.

The entire company was then escorted to the Winnek store where Mr. Winnek made a flash light of the group. They were then taken to the home of Mrs. Collins Elkins where Miss Herman was seated behind a large center table on which were arranged many mysterious packages. These proved to be gifts of silver, china, linen and other useful articles and each was accompanied by appropriate verses and good wishes.

Miss Herman again thanked the Shumias for her second delightful surprise and all bade good-night to the hostesses after having spent a most enjoyable evening.

Crop Prospects Never Better

Crop prospects in Crook county were never brighter at this time of the year than at the present time. Recent rains and warm weather are working wonders in an agricultural way. New land is being brought under cultivation at a rapid rate. The brown sagebrush landscape is giving way to smiling grain fields in every direction from Prineville. New irrigating ditches and the extension and enlargement of old ones are big factors in this transformation. The dairy herd and the hog lot, too, are working together for a bigger, better and more prosperous farming community.

Good Fruit Crop Is Expected

F. F. Bolin, who has leased the Gibson place, says he will have about half a crop of fruit this year. It was reported that the frost had killed the entire crop but such is not true, Mr. Bolin says.

A good crop of fruit is looked for at the Cove Orchard. The prospects so far are very encouraging.

Noxious Weeds Must be Destroyed

Weeds must be destroyed. Thus saith the county court but the aforesaid court has said so before yet the weeds go merrily on and increase and multiply. This time the county has been divided into three parts so that each member of the court will have something to look after. Not that they are going to relieve the road supervisors of their responsibility in the matter, but rather to check up negligent supervisors who fail to do their duty.

The law has fixed fines ranging from $10 to $25 for the first offense and from $25 to $100 for each second or subsequent offense for allowing Canada, Chinese or Russian thistle, cocklebur, white or Jim Hill mustard, or silver salt bush to grow upon your premises or along the road abutting your premises. Unless something is done to check the growth of these noxious weeds they will take the country. The court will not brook further delay in this matter.
