Lookout for Hydrophobia in Crook County

Crook county has a well-developed case of hydrophobia. Emil Von Lake, who has been working at the Ammons sawmill on Maury mountain, 45 miles southeast of Prineville, was bitten by a coyote Monday noon while going from the mill to his tent a short distance away.

The animal slipped up behind him and fastened its teeth into the fleshy part of the left hand. So firmly were its teeth embedded that the animal was lifted a couple of feet from the ground before its hold was broken. The coyote did not seem a bit afraid. It trotted along just ahead of Von Lake until Bert Demaris had time to get his rifle and shoot it.

Dr. Rosenberg was informed by telephone of the occurrence and was asked what to do in the premises. He advised them to canterize the wound immediately with carbolic acid and alcohol and then lose no time in getting to Portland. Von Lake was to take the head of the coyote with him so that the bacteriologist of the State Board of Health could examine the brain for rabies. He did so and last evening Dr. Rosenberg received a wire from the secretary of the board stating that the coyote had a pronounced case of hydrophobia.

The State Board has telegraphed the Pasteur Institute of New York for serum with which to counteract the effects of the virus received from the bite.

Dr. Rosenberg says that several mad coyotes have been reported from Camp creek. The animals were frothing at the mouth and had other symptoms of madness. Ed Parker encountered one of them at close quarters and he beat it for the bed where he got under the covers.

The doctor says he does not want to be thought an alarmist but he wishes to impress upon parents and cattlemen the importance of caution. Two dogs were recently bitten by coyotes and other animals may have been. If cattle act queerly look out. The suspected animals should be isolated or killed. One man near Pendleton last fall lost $2000 worth of cattle and horses in no time. The State Board telegraphed the doctor its appreciation of the prompt way he handled this case. It takes from two weeks to six months for the dreaded virus to develop, the doctor says, all depending upon the condition of the person or animal infected.

Prineville Public Schools Opened Monday

Last Monday morning a new regime was ushered in for the youngsters of Prineville when the public school bell called together one of the largest and happiest crowds of youngsters ever assembled on the public school grounds. Principal Peole and his corps of teachers were in their respective places early to greet the pupils who were glad to return to school.

The pupils of the various grades were given their lists of supplies and excused until Tuesday morning when the regular school work was taken up.

The industrial work will be continued throughout the grades and it is expected that this line of work will be better than the excellent work done last year.

Prineville is the only public school in Crook county that does regular grade work in manual training, sewing, music and drawing. This work is all done by the regular teachers which means that the board of directors take special pains in securing teachers who are able to carry it on.

The entrance class now numbers 24 with several more to enter. This, with the A class from last year, makes the first grade number 40 pupils, which is the largest grade in school.

Regular work is being done during the morning session but the pupils have been dismissed afternoons to enable the teachers and

A MISTAKEN IDEA

There are some people who still resort to drugged pills or alcoholic syrups to overcome colds, nervousness or general debility, and who know that the pure, unadulterated nourishment in Scott's Emulsion is eminently better, but refrain from taking it because they fear it may lead to excessive fat or obesity.

This is a mistaken idea, because Scott's Emulsion first strengthens the body before making flesh. Its blood-forming properties aid nature to throw off sickness by building health from its very source, and flesh is formed only by its continued use. Avoid alcoholic substitutes for SCOTT'S.

Large Attendance at Crook County High

Crook County High School began the year of 1914-5 Monday with prospects for an unusually prosperous year. The attendance was large with the promise of fifty more students entering during the first month.

Special instructors in normal training and domestic science have been added to the teaching staff. The school curriculum is now complete in every detail. There is no better equipped high school in the state than the one that offers its advantages to the youth of Crook county and Central Oregon.

The high school wants every boy and girl in the county who is not in attendance at their home schools.

Come in and register and begin work Monday. There is nothing better you can do, boys and girls. Graduates are entering the universities and doing good work, or they are holding responsible positions that prove the efficiency of the work done here. Be one of them. It means success for you.

Good girls, good rooms, good food, good times at Walker Hall. The girls all say the new house matron is a fine cook and gives them plenty to eat. Room for eight more girls. Janitor wanted at Walker Hall, the girls' dormitory. He must make fires, chop and carry in wood and sweep the walks and corridor. Work will be allowed on board and pupils to get the school exhibit in shape for the fair and to enable the pupils to enjoy the day fireworks which have aroused great interest among them.

This year additional incentive is given to encourage punctuality and perfect attendance. All grades having no tardy marks and having an attendance of 90 per cent or above for one month will be given a one-fourth holiday, while all grades having no tardy marks and perfect attendance will be given a half holiday.

pension. This is approximately $1000 every month.

The grand jury reported not a true bill against B. H. McMickle of Redmond who was held under $5000 bail to appear at this term of the district court, charged with burning the Farmers' Union Warehouse at Redmond last February.

J. F. McKay, a young man employed at the Culver depot, plead guilty to a charge of forgery. He erased the name of the railroad company to a $5 check, making it payable to himself. He was fired by the company but before his transportation arrived stole a ticket to Vancouver, Wash., where he formerly lived with his parents. He received a suspended sentence.

The John M. McPherson case was put on trial last Thursday. He was again convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary September 15, for a term of from one to ten years for the larceny of a mare belonging to George Millican. Immediately after sentence was passed McPherson's attorney filed a notice of appeal to the supreme court on the ground that the indeterminate sentence law is unconstitutional. This will be the first time that this question has come directly before the supreme court and the result will be watched with considerable interest. McPherson is out on bonds.

Gaylord McDaniel was convicted of murder in the second degree for the murder of Herman Poch December 31, 1912.

John Schmeer Dead.

John Schmeer of Post, an old and highly respected citizen of Crook county, passed away Monday while on the road home from Prineville, aged 75 years. Mr. and Mrs. Schmeer were shopping on Saturday, apparently in the best of health. Heart trouble was the cause of death. He was buried Tuesday at Prineville.

board is good. Ask the girls.

Bend, Redmond, Madras, Terrebonne and Culver are all represented in Crook County High School this fall. They are a fine lot of young people and we want more like them.

The normal department is rejoicing because its graduates are holding some of the best positions in this and adjoining counties. Both graded and rural schools are being successfully taught by these young people.

Are you wearing lenses that are not satisfactory? If you are having trouble with your eyes, it will pay you to come direct to me. I will give your eyes a thorough and careful examination free of charge and tell you the exact condition they are in.

Fit Every Conceivable Style of Spectacles & Eyeglasses

Dr. Behrendt is now introducing the late Kryptok Invisible Bifocals and Toric Lens, which is without doubt the finest lens ever put on the market. Perfect fitting glasses, ground especially for the weak eyes, astigmatism, near-sightedness, far-sightedness, reading or fine work.

We especially solicit complicated cases. Our experience often enables us to give satisfaction where others fail.

Our glasses cure headache, neuralgia, nervousness, tired eyes, aching eyes, styes, granulated lids, bloodshot eyes, etc.

Remember that our responsibility does not end until you have obtained the satisfaction you expect.

Parents Should Not Neglect Their Children's Eyes.

For a pair of glasses worn for a few months will often enable a child's eyes to strengthen and fully develop, while neglect at this critical time will so injure the eyes as to make it necessary, sooner or later, for them to put on glasses and wear them continually.
