Delightful Concert

Last Monday Evening

Prineville enjoyed a great musical treat Monday evening when that wonderful contralto, Mrs. Lulu Dahl Miller, appeared at the Lyric under the auspices of the Ladies' Glee Club. Mrs. Miller's program was delightfully varied so that everyone must have been satisfied, ranging, as it did, from the weirdly dramatic songs of old "Omar," the Persian poet of long ago—"I Sometimes Think that Never Blows so Red the Rose," and "The Worldly Hopes Men Set Their Hearts Upon," down to the most deliciously little lilting "Fairy Love Song" which caused many to sway in time to its gay little rhythm.

The intervening numbers were as follows: "Yesterday and Today," wherein one glimpsed the beauty of the singer's lower tones, "Irish Love Song," a little lullaby effectually bringing out the crowning qualities of her voice. "Tonight" and "Sacrament" were especially enjoyed. The former being full of impassioned tenderness, while the latter, perhaps, best portrayed her perfect legato. "O Don Patale," an aria, brought forth the most enthusiastic applause which was deeply appreciated by Mrs. Miller as she had been a little fearful of its reception.

"A Heart From Kerry" proved to be a curiously tender little yearning of one far away from home and Ireland, so wondrous is Mrs. Miller's power of actually visualizing her songs.

Although the program was lengthy, Mrs. Miller, with great graciousness, accorded two encores, "A Child's Prayer" and the ever welcome "Rosary," which were hugely enjoyed.

A pretty moment was when a beautiful bouquet of flowers, the gift of the Glee Club, was handed across the footlights. Genuine joy and pleasure animated the face of the singer as she bowed her happy thanks.

A tribute must be paid to Miss Blanche Williams and the ladies of the Glee Club for the delightful numbers rendered—"Ashes of Roses," "The Night Has a Thousand Eyes" and that well known little "Cradle Song" of Kate Vannah's. Perfect communion twixt director and club was very evident and each singer displayed clear conception and ability. Prineville has every right to be very proud of the Glee Club and its charming director, Miss Blanche Williams.

The difficult task of accompanist to a vocalist of such marked temperament as possessed by Mrs. Miller was most ably achieved by Mrs. Lake M. Bechtell, and this is to be particularly appreciated when one remembers the very brief time for preparation.

Altogether the evening was indeed a notable one.

Jefferson County Held Up by Injunction

In the circuit court of the state of Oregon for Crook county, Oregon.

E. T. Slayton, H. S. Cram and F. F. Hoelscher, plaintiffs, vs. Warren Brown, county clerk of Crook county, Oregon, defendant.

The complaint sets forth, among other things, that on the 2d day of September, 1914, there was filed in the office of the county clerk a petition praying for an order submitting to be held on the 3rd day of November, 1914, the question of the formation of a new county entirely from the territory embraced within the boundaries of Crook county; that the county court of Crook county never convened, held no session, or made any order submitting the question of said proposed new county to the electors of Crook county at said election; that said court never convened after the date of filing said petition prior to the date of said election.

That the county clerk of Crook county notwithstanding the failure of the county court to convene or to make an order submitting the question of the formation of said proposed new county to the electors of Crook county, placed the new county upon the ballot for the general election to be held Nov. 3, and a great many of the electors voted thereon and the measure carried; that the defendant, Warren Brown, is threatening to, unless restrained, will certify the abstract of said vote upon the said question to the secretary of state of Oregon who will canvass said vote for and against said question, and the governor of the state of Oregon will thereupon issue his proclamation declaring said new county created; that the county treasurer of Crook county will thereby be compelled to and will disburse and pay to the county treasurer of said proposed Jefferson county large sums of money collected from the taxpayers of Crook county for the maintenance of Crook county; that a large amount of the revenues of Crook county will thus be diverted for an illegal purpose.

That prior to the placing of the question of the formation of said new county of Jefferson upon the ballot by the county clerk of Crook county, the county judge and two commissioners, as individuals, and when not in session, and not at a term of said court, made a memorandum order, or pretended order, for the submission of the question to the electors of the county.

Wherefore, plaintiffs pray for a temporary injunction restraining defendant from certifying the abstract of said vote to the secretary of state, until such time as this cause can be heard in this court, and at the trial that said injunction be made perpetual upon the question of the formation of said Jefferson county.

M. R. Elliott and N. G. Wallace, attorneys for plaintiffs.

Prineville to Help Starving Belgians

An organized movement to help the starving Belgians has been taken up by the good women of Prineville. They are planning to send food and clothing so that it will reach these sufferers about Christmas time. They have written General Freight & Passenger Agent McMurray in Portland to see if he can arrange for freight transportation.

Those at the head of the movement are very earnest and enthusiastic about the matter and are inviting everyone to share in this worthy cause.

They have arranged for a home-made candy sale for this Saturday afternoon at the Clifton & Cornett store, beginning at 1 o'clock. They have also arranged with Mr. Clifton to have food, bedding and money left there for these worthy and needy people who through no fault of their own are suffering for the necessities of life. So dear reader, we hope you will help fill a good big box for them. Everyone is urged to give something and it is expected that there will be a liberal response to this appeal.

Remember the candy sale Saturday and also to leave donations at the Clifton & Cornett store.

Idle Money Wrongs the Community

Money lying idle is economic waste. It is like a well-trained man who has not found himself. It has the capacity but lacks the opportunity. The amount you may have hidden away or in a safe-deposit box has a power for good. Money is the lifeblood of trade and should be in circulation. You don't need to spend it to put it in circulation. Bank it—preferably with us, or some other good bank—and thereby help the community. We pay four per cent interest on savings.
