Crook County Man Wills Half Million

W. W. Brown of Fife, who has made handsome gifts to different schools and churches throughout the state at various times for the past several years, has drawn a will which bequeaths some $500,000 to the Methodist church in Oregon and its allied institutions.

The document, which was made public one day last week, divides the amount as follows: $10,000 for the Old Folk's Home in Salem; $20,000 to the retired Methodist ministers' endowment fund; $25,000 for the building of a dormitory for Willamette University, and about $45,000 for the founding and maintenance of a school for boys at some point south of Portland and near Salem.

"Bill" Brown, who is known by every one in this part of the state, came to Crook county when a young man. He was a school teacher, and had little or no funds with which to go into the stock business.

Industry and keen business judgment has made him one of the largest owners of livestock in the West. He has cattle, sheep, horses and mules until he doesn't know the number himself. His lands cover large areas in four counties, and the horseshoe bar stock are as familiar as landmarks every where in that part of the state.

It is perhaps timely to state that Mr. Brown is a man of excellent health, but a little past his prime, and the execution of a will does not necessarily indicate any change in his close attention to his vast interests for years to come.

Boy Injured by Gas Engine.

John Huston, the sixteen-year-old son of Tom Huston, was critically injured at the Huston ranch on the Prineville-Redmond road, on Friday.

While running a chopper which was being used to chop alfalfa hay, John's coat was caught in the fly wheel of the gas engine in some manner and before anything could be done to stop the engine, John had been badly bruised and cut about the face and head. He was rendered unconscious and because of the nature of the wounds it was difficult to tell how great the injuries were.

He has recovered sufficiently, however, to be considered out of danger.

Mineral Claims Being Staked.

Claude C. Dunham was in the city Friday from Roberts. Mr. Dunham says that there have been almost 100 mining claims staked off in his country during the past few days. People from the surrounding country and some from Bend have made the filings. Quartz of varying assays has been found there. Some of the samples which Mr. Dunham had with him looked good according to local men.

Bronchial Coughs

Rural Mail Route Out of Prineville

C. J. Sundquist was before the county court on Monday with a petition for the opening of a road west of the old Gibson place north of the city.

Mr. Sundquist has a petition signed by 65 heads of families for a rural mail route covering the territory north of Prineville. The proposed line will go north from the city to the Pitcher place, west to the Grimes Chapel, north to the Gibson place, west to Sundquist's place and south and west to the Crooked river, returning up the river by G. W. Slayton's to Prineville. The route will be 24 miles long. The petitioners are asking for a twice-a-week service and as the length of route and number of petitioners comply with the postal regulations, no doubt the route will be established.

C. C. H. Wins Basket Ball Championship

The Crook County High again has the basket ball championship for Central Oregon. They met and conquered the Lamonta braves Saturday night in the closest matched game that has been played in Prineville this year.

The Lamonta team, which, by the way, was made up largely of former C. C. H. S. students, was stronger and heavier than the local team. The visitors lead off in the first period but when the half call was sounded the score stood 24 to 19 in favor of the school team. In the last half occasional bursts of speed were shown by the visitors but they never regained a lead and the final was 40 to 31 in favor of Prineville. The school boys proved better guards and stood the speed of the game better than the visitors.

Annex Will Give Stockmen Reception

The ladies of the Annex will give a reception to the visitors to the Stockmen's Convention next Tuesday evening, beginning at 8:00 o'clock. The following committee is in charge: Mesdames Wilson, Belknap, Rosenberg, C. W. Elkins, Jordan, Brink and Claypool.

Mrs. Morse Delights Large Audience

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the Lyric Theatre last Friday evening enjoyed a rare treat in hearing Mrs. Alma Gitchel-Morse's dramatic recital of Tennyson's "Enoch Arden." All the beautiful melody of Tennyson's lines and all the pathos of the life story of Enoch Arden were ably portrayed by the talented reader. Every word was distinctly audible to the farthest ends of the theatre and the story could easily be followed. Mrs. Morse is an artist of rare interpretative ability and Prineville is always glad of the opportunity to hear her.

Mrs. Robert Douglas ably assisted Mrs. Morse with music especially adapted to the poem.

Sisters Notes

The Presbyterian Church of Sisters has a bell at last.

Mr. J. P. Duchett and family were Redmond visitors Friday and Saturday.

The Basket Ball team of Sisters went to Redmond Friday evening to play the Redmond High School team. The Sisters were defeated. Saturday evening a return game was played at Sisters when the Redmond team was beaten.

Ray Gerking, of Laidlaw, was a Sisters visitor, Sunday. He plans to take a business course in a business college in Portland in the near future.

Miss Waldron made a quick trip to Bend on Sunday.

Wednesday evening friends of John Dennis and family gave a pleasant surprise on them at the Hotel Sisters. A pleasant time was spent until the wee hours of the morning.

Last Sunday Mrs. John Dennis and her niece, Lois Capron, left for a few weeks visit with relatives at Kennewick, Wash.

The Sisters Literary Society started off nicely. Our next meeting will be on Friday evening, this week, at the School house.

Howard Happenings

The Howard Social Club have planned a big Masquerade dance for Feb. 12th, 1915.

John Ritter and Esther Madson were married last Sunday. They will be properly tin-can-abulated when they return to this community.

Bill Lindau and wife have returned from their honeymoon.

The prospects are that we will have two Charivari parties this week—Going some for this tiny hamlet.

Roads in this community are running with water. They are not very soft, however.

Last Friday at the regular spell-down, the girls of the Howard school won an easy victory over the boys. Tae boys would have been completely outclassed had not Virgil Starr, a third grade pupil, held up the honors of his side.

Costumes Win Prizes at Masquerade Ball

The masquerade ball held at Glaze's hall last Friday evening was one of the most successful and enjoyable events of the season. Many very pretty costumes were to be seen and the judges had a hard time to award the prizes.

Morgan's orchestra was present and rendered up-to-date music until midnight, after which Demaris' orchestra continued until 4 a. m.

The cash prizes were awarded as follows:

Best sustained character, either lady or gent—Mrs. Pearl Osborn and Mrs. Champ Smith, as Indian women.

Prettiest lady costume—Mrs. P. G. Millhorn, as angel.

Most comic gent costume—Ed Cruppo, as tramp.

Best waltzing couple—Mr. and Mrs. John Zeek.

During the evening a number of solos were sung by Sam Jordan, which were heartily applauded.

For new and old stomach trouble use Adamson's Digest-eze. Price 50c or six boxes for $2.50 postpaid to any address in the United States of America. For sale by D. P. Adamson & Co., Prineville, Oregon.

Post Postings

Do you hear the tinkle of the wedding bells?

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ream are the proud parents of a son born January 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunter visited at W. H. Brummer's home several days last week.

Miss Elva Miller is staying with Mrs. W. L. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smead attended the dance at E. W. Nelson's place Friday night. They report a jolly good time.

Mrs. George Ray was a passenger on the stage to Prineville last Thursday.

C. R. Henry was down to Post for a load of supplies for the saw-mill on Thursday of last week.

A masquerade ball will be given at the Henry Hall on the night of February 14.

Mrs. Robert Demaris opened school on the 25th of January in the Al Lane cabin, where she will teach until the new schoolhouse is completed.

Miss Carrie Knox spent the day with Mrs. Norton on Friday of last week.

C. R. Henry and Roy Gray are hauling hay from the Oscar Crain place. There seems to be a scarcity of hay in this vicinity.

Dr. Newsom and family have returned to their home in Prineville after a week's stay at the ranch.

Mrs. Roy Gray spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Norton.

George Nolan is back again on his homestead after spending several months in Pendleton.

George Knox is home again after a month's visit at Boring.

Will Post was down from the hills and spent Saturday night with his parents.

Mrs. McLean visited with Mrs. Hayes last Wednesday.

Miss Daisy McCallister, teacher of the Shotgun school, took Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ledford, Wm. Smead and wife and C. L. Patterson were Bonnyview visitors Sunday.

Mrs. Nora Smead and Dug spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wilborn.

Worth an Effort.

An effort is being made to get the government to assist in buying ammunition to be used in shooting rabbits in this vicinity. An appropriation of $1000 for this purpose would be a wise one. It would be more to the point than ten times that amount spent in dredging the Columbia, or a great many other things for which appropriations are made. If you are interested, address a letter to Hon. N. J. Sinnott, Hon. Harry Lane, Hon. George Chamberlain, or any friends you may have at Washington, asking that such action be taken. The way to get such legislation is to go after it and go strong.

First Grade Entertains

The pupils of the first grade of the Prineville public schools entertained their parents at their room on last Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Robert E. Gray, the teacher, had regular school work that the parents might learn more what their children were doing. The little people served their parents with punch and wafers, and besides entertaining them with their different phases of school work, they took care of them in a very delightful manner. The little girls who served wore dainty little aprons and caps.

Additional Locals

V. Butler is in Prineville today.

Clark Morse was in Prineville yesterday from Powell Butte.

G. W. Slayton topped the Portland market at $7.60 for steers last week.

Special all-day meeting at the Baptist church Sunday, February 14. Come and bring a basket. Everybody welcome.

G. M. Cornett and wife left today for Portland. Mr. Cornett will bring up a new Federal truck for service on his Prineville-Paulina mail line. He expects to put on two of these 3000 pound trucks on this line this season.

Mrs. Collins W. Elkins had a most pleasant "At Home" on Wednesday. Many of her callers took their work and spent the greater part of the afternoon. About 4:00 p. m. the ladies of the high and public schools joined the company for a social hour. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Talk about delicious bacon. Did you ever taste the XXX made by Harry Lanus? It is the best ever. Try it and see. This paper stands for made in Oregon goods and we are ready to boost them when they show merit. The Lanus bacon is the best we ever tasted.

High School Entertainment at Lyric

The Glee Club of the high school has arranged to give an entertainment Friday evening, this week, at the Lyric Theatre, the proceeds of which will go to the Athletic Association. There will be solos by local favorites, a male quartet, numbers by the club, the high school orchestra and an excellent picture program. Admission prices, adults, 25c, children, 15c.

Oregon Pioneer Dies at Salem.

A dispatch from Salem under date of January 29 is as follows:

Receiving advices this afternoon that his wife's mother, Mrs. F. S. Wakefield, of The Dalles, an aunt of Federal Judge Charles E. Wolverton, is dead, Representative Kelly left at once for that city. Mrs. Wakefield was a pioneer of the state and formerly resided near Independence. Besides a husband she is survived by four daughters, Mrs. J. L. Kelly, of The Dalles; Mrs. J. N. Williamson, of Prineville; Ida and Effie Wakefield of The Dalles, and three sons, Irwin and E. N. Wakenfield and Frank Forest.
