The GUILTY Murder Trial at The Dalles

A tragic scene was witnessed in Judge Bradshaw's court in The Dalles Tuesday forenoon when Robert Pettis, who murdered Ralph Brown on New Year's Day, was brought into court. A dispatch to the Oregonian from The Dalles contained the following:

Mrs. Brown, accompanied by Willis W. Brown, her father-in-law, went to the courtroom knowing Pettis was to appear and plead. It was necessary to take Pettis from the courtroom before Mrs. Brown could be quieted by her relative and court officials. It was the first time Mrs. Brown had seen the man since the murder which is charged to him.

After Pettis had been returned to the courtroom Mrs. Brown sat with every muscle tense. She had to be held in the seat. Apparently, she wanted to fly at the throat of Pettis.

When Judge Bradshaw asked Pettis to plead to the charge of second-degree murder, he stood up and answered:

"Not guilty." "What?" cried Mrs. Brown, as she tried to tear herself from the restraining arms of her father-in-law. Mr. Brown then carried the excited woman from the courtroom. She was on the verge of nervous prostration. The intense feeling of Mrs. Brown visibly affected many in the courtroom.

The murdered man was a prominent rancher of Kaskela, Or., where he also was postmaster.

He was well known in this section. He was 38 years old, and a graduate of the University of Oregon. His wife was Miss Edith Percival, a graduate of the Monmouth Normal School.

Pettis, who is 19 years old, worked on the Brown ranch. He is believed to have been crazed by drink when, it is alleged, he shot his employer to death. It is thought that insanity will be the plea of the defense.

Pioneer Creamery Will Soon Start Up Again

A telegram from Portland today announces the fact that the Pioneer Creamery of this place, which went into the hands of a receiver was sold to the highest bidder today. L. B. Lafollette bid the property in and says that he will be ready to open the place for business again in a few days, perhaps by the first of next month.

The claims against the Pioneer Cream Company will be adjusted by the receiver. A new brand will be placed on the butter and ice cream. The present location will be renovated and put into a sanitary condition before the place is opened for business.

This is welcome news to the cream producers of this locality who have shipped cream at the rate of several hundred cans per month to various outside points, all of which have proven less satisfactory than a local creamery run on strictly business lines would be.

1912 County Judges Serve Only Four Years

A decision was handed down by the supreme court of this state yesterday which effects the terms of office for the county judges of each county. The decision is to the effect that the term of office for judges who were elected two years ago, as was Judge Springer of this county, expire at the end of four years from the date of their installation. This will make Judge Springer's term end on December 31, 1916.

Post Postings

Plenty of mud these times, but that is what the country needs.

The rabid coyotes are the leading question in this vicinity at present. Most of the people have awakened to the fact that it is dangerous to go unarmed. Every one should carry a good gun, not merely for self protection, but so as to be prepared to kill every coyote that is seen, if possible.

C. C. H. S. Notes.

I wish to state to the public that my talk last Friday evening was not given in connection with the High School program.—LEO CRAM.

The Basket Ball games Saturday and Monday were very interesting, even though Corvallis won. The first game was more exciting and was more of an even game. The score was 24 to 25 in favor of Corvallis High.

The second game was not so close. The last half of the game was very fast and the visiting team were forced to keep on the move. The final score stood 25 to 49, again in favor of Corvallis High.

Altho we were sorry to lose the game we feel it takes a great deal more courage to take a defeat graciously than it does to win a victory. The Corvallis boys won the respect of all the people here. It is the first time a team of that kind has come here without a coach and they proved that one was not needed. They were very appreciative of the kindness shown them while here by the Crook County High School team, students and patrons. We hope they come again next year.

After the game Monday night a reception was given at the high school under the direction of the Basket Ball team. The Corvallis and Lamonta teams were invited. A short program was rendered and owing to the late hour refreshments were served.

The annual declamation contest will be held February 11th and 12th at the high school. There are about eighteen participants in the tryout. Everybody is invited. No admission will be charged. The program commences at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. Stella Sears was a Monday morning visitor in Senior classes.

The program given by the glee clubs Friday night at the Lyric was well patronized. $26.30 was realized. There were three vocal duets.

The Boys' Glee Club gave three selections—"Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming," "Aloha Oe," and "A Little Peacon."

The Girls' Glee Club gave three selections—"Trip Along," "Loch Lommond" and "My Wild Irish Rose."

As a closing number of the program the two glee clubs rendered "Anchored."

The Seniors are selecting class rings, invitations and programs for commencement and are discussing graduation.

"Awake! Arise!" seems to be the popular High School song. As a joke on the girls the boys sang it as an encore. To be even with the boys the girls sang it again Monday night at the reception and immediately the boys proceeded to whistle it.

The Boys' Glee Club had charge of the assembly period Monday morning. Mr. Nichols of Corvallis, gave a short talk which was much appreciated by the student body.

In the January issue of the American Penman is given a list of the schools of the United States.
