

PRZEMYSL CAPTURED WITH 50,000 TROOPS

Garrison Surrenders After Ammunition and Food Are Exhausted.

Petrograd, via London.—The Przemysl garrison capitulated to the Russian army.

The hoisting of the white flag over this fortress caused little surprise, as it was generally known that it was in a terribly weakened condition, without food or ammunition, and its endurance was only a question of days.

War office advices report that nine Austrian generals were taken, more than 300 officers and 50,000 men.

The ending of the long siege is considered here of great importance. It gives Russia control of virtually all of eastern Galicia and releases for service elsewhere the Russian army which has been besieging the city.

The siege of Przemysl has been under way since the early days of the war. It has been a bitter and relentless struggle, which has never been relaxed for a day since the Russians invested the city. Several attempts of the Austrians to raise the siege have failed.

With the fall of Przemysl, which has been described as the key to the Austrian empire, the only important fortified town in Galicia which is still in the hands of the Austrians is Cracow, in the northwestern part of the province close to the German border.

Raid on Paris Made by Zeppelins.

Paris.—An official report was given out regarding the Zeppelin airships that raided Paris early Sunday and dropped a dozen bombs. The damage done was unimportant. Seven or eight persons were wounded, one seriously.

Germans Take Two Mountain Heights.

London.—Both the Berlin and Paris official reports agree that the Germans captured important positions in the heights of the Vosges. The German report says they have taken the heights of Reich Ackerkopf after a gallant defense by Alpine Chasseurs, the French suffering heavily. The French account admits the loss of Great and Little Reich Ackerkopf. Berlin says French counter-attacks were repulsed. Paris says the battle is still going on.

THREE BATTLESHIPS SUNK IN NARROWS

London.—The British battleships Irresistible and Ocean and the French battleship Bouvet were blown up by floating mines while engaged with the remainder of the allied fleet in attacking the forts in The Narrows of the Dardanelles.

The crews of the two British ships were virtually all saved, having been transferred to other ships under a hot fire, but an internal explosion took place on board the Bouvet after she had fouled the mine and most of her crew was lost.

The Bouvet sank within three minutes of the time that she hit the mine.

The waters in which the ships were lost had been swept of mines, but the British admiralty asserts that the Turks and the Germans set floating containers of explosives adrift and these were carried down by the current onto the allied ships gathered inside the entrance of the straits.

All the ships that were sunk were old ones, the Bouvet having been completed nearly 20 years ago and the Ocean and Irresistible in 1898.

Netherlands Asks Berlin to Explain.

The Hague, Netherlands, via London.—The Netherlands government forwarded a telegram to Berlin asking for an explanation of the proceedings of the German submarine in taking forcible possession of the Dutch steamers Batavier V and Zaanstroom and conveying them to Zeebrugge and confiscating their cargoes.

GERMANS RETAKE MEMEL

Port in Northeast Prussia Held by Russians Quickly Regained.

Berlin.—A great German victory over the Russians at Memel, in northeast Prussia, was claimed by the war office here.

"The Russians," the official announcement said, "have been driven from Memel with heavy losses. The victory is one of the most important registered since the spring campaign opened."

Memel, a city on the Baltic in Prussia, was occupied by the Russians and was recaptured by the Germans. Sharp street fighting occurred before the Germans occupied the city.

Not only have the Russians been driven from Memel, the German port on the Baltic, but they have been thrown back violently 12 miles across their own frontier. Krottingen, in the Russian province of Kovno, has been occupied by Germans.

SAN JUAN FORTS FIRE ON STEAMER

San Juan, Porto Rico.—The German merchant steamer Odenwald, which attempted to leave port without obtaining clearance papers, was stopped as she was passing out the entrance to the harbor by two shots across her bows from a five-inch gun and direct shots from a Maxim. She then returned and was taken in charge by the collector of customs.

Permission to sail was refused the Odenwald by the collector, pending instructions from Washington. The steamer has been at San Juan since August 6. She was bound for European ports from the West Indies with freight and passengers and sought refuge here.

Failing to obtain the necessary clearance papers, her commander apparently decided to risk the attempt to put to sea. A heavy gun on Morro Castle sent two shots across her bows as a warning, but it was not until the machine gun opened a direct fire that the steamer stopped and headed back to port.

CREAM SEPARATOR

THE WORLD'S RECORD SEPARATOR FOR CLOSE SKIMMING in 50 consecutive runs during a period of 30 days and on milk from 10 breeds.

THE NEW SANITARY LINER

Is easily removed, non-rusting and easy to wash.

Other separators, on account of defective bowl constructions become insanitary because milk, in greater or lesser quantity, comes in contact with, and quickly rusts, cast iron and steel. The Liner, exclusively a U. S. feature, absolutely prevents milk contact with the iron bowl chamber and possible leakage into the gears.

This great improvement, following that of the famous non-rusting nickel silver skimming device, with surface as non-adhesive as polished ivory or glass, completes the most sanitary separator equipment in existence.

The Mechanical Washer makes cleaning still easier and most complete.
