BRIEF WAR NEWS

The fall of Przemyśl during the past week consolidated Russia's hold on eastern Galicia, and has released the investing army for field operations elsewhere. No details on which full reliance can be placed have been made known concerning the strength of the force to which Przemyśl capitulated. It is probable, however, that the first estimates were too high, and less than 100,000 men were used on these operations.

The Russians were compelled to evacuate Memel after a surprise attack by a German detachment. The heavy conditions of the highways caused by rains led the Slavs to believe their possession of the east Prussian port was secure. The Germans, however, overcame the difficulties of transport and drove the Russians several miles into their own territory. Accusations of extensive pilfering at Memel have been made by the Germans and have been followed by reprisals at Suwalki, Lomza and Grodno and along the Russian Baltic coast, where open towns were bombarded by a German fleet.

The Dardanelles bombardment has accomplished nothing of value during the week to the attacking warships.

While there has been some fighting along the east Prussian frontier and in Bukowina, the mountains of both the east and the west are the scenes of the most important engagements at present.

In the Vosges the French, after a long fight, the position changing hands more than once, have finally established themselves on the summit of Hartmann's-Weilerkopf, a mountain peak 15 miles northwest of Meulhausen and a few miles north of Thann. This is considered an important success, as it gives the French command of a considerable amount of country occupied by the Germans. The fight for the position has been a bitter one, and has been going on for many days.

On the western front, beyond the French success in the Vosges, where the Germans abandoned a large quantity of material and left numerous dead on the ground, there have been no events of importance, neither side apparently being ready as yet for the big effort which everybody has been expecting. There have been the usual bombardments of the positions and mine warfare and the aviators on both sides have shown much activity.

Holland's request for an explanation from Germany of the sinking of the Medea and the capture of two other Dutch steamers is creating much interest in diplomatic circles, where it is pointed out that the vessels of other neutral countries have not been molested.

Fear of Massacre Moves Washington.

Washington.—Alarming reports of atrocities, including the hanging of 60 men taken from the French mission and five from the American mission compound at Gulpashan, Persia, stirred the state department to further efforts to obtain protection for American missionaries and refugees in the vicinity of Urumiah, Persia, where an uprising of Kurds threatens a general Christian massacre.
