"DRY" SLOGAN IS ADOPTED

Chicago Women Organize to Put Saloons Out of Business in 1916.

Chicago.—If booze destroys the efficiency of the man who fights for his country, it naturally destroys the efficiency of the man who fights for bread.

This sentence, the "dry" Chicago federation announced, will be the slogan of the league which organized to make Chicago saloons quit in 1916. It will be emblazoned on the billboards. It will be written in electricity on monster signs that will be stationed all over the city. Wherever possible the signs will be placed in windows above saloons and next door to them, if the places can be rented.

Stage Robbed Near Baker.

Baker, Or.—Facing the guns of two masked men, Ralph Moorehouse, driver of the Rainbow-Durkee stage, was forced to deliver a gold bullion brick, representing the weekly cleanup at the Rainbow mine, valued at about $7000, to the robbers.

William Halder, alias "Sourdough Bill," was arrested by Marshal Ed Hannon at Huntington on information from Sheriff Anderson at the Rainbow mine for alleged connection with the holdup.

Drys Gain in Michigan.

Detroit, Mich.—Returns received indicated sweeping victories for the "drys," in the local option contest which featured the Michigan state election. The apparent victory of the "drys" means the closing of at least 265 saloons throughout the state.

NORTHWEST PROJECTS RECEIVE $2,926,175

Washington.—One million five hundred thousand dollars has been allotted by the secretary of war to continue work on the north jetty at the mouth of the Columbia river during the 15 months ending June 30, 1916.

The total amount allotted by Secretary Garrison for Oregon and Washington is $2,926,175, or within $645,500 of the amount carried by the rivers and harbors bill when it failed.

Other allotments for northwest waterways are as follows: Columbia and Willamette, below Portland, $450,000; Coquille river, $76,000; Coos Bay, $70,000; Coos river, $3000; Siuslaw river, $117,500; Yaquina river, $3000; Nehalem bay, $116,175; Snake River, $20,000; upper Columbia river, Celilo falls to mouth of Snake river, $37,000; Willamette and Yamhill rivers, above Portland, $25,000; Cowlitz and Lewis rivers, $15,000; Clatskanie river $1000; Grays harbor and bar, $460,000; waterway connecting Port Townsend bay and Oak bay, $15,000; waterway connecting Puget Sound and Lakes Union and Washington, $17,500.

Bryan Takes New Private Secretary.

Washington.—Harvey B. Ferguson of Albuquerque, N. M., who retired as a member of the house, became private secretary to Secretary Bryan Saturday.
