GRAND JURY INDICTS EIGHT

Short Session Lasting Only Two Days

Six Men Are Set Free

Judge Duffy Will Convene His First Term of Court in This City Monday Morning

The grand jury was called Monday morning and was in session two days during which time they brought six true bills and four not true bills.

Garrett Stark was indicted for jail delivery and with Charles O'Kelly was indicted on a charge of larceny from a dwelling, the alleged crime having been committed this spring when the goods were taken from the residence of John Dobry a short distance from Prineville.

A. D. Queen was indicted for burglary at Roberts where he is charged with having entered a store house and taking various articles.

A true bill was brought against Roy Kelly, Frankie Smead, and Joe Gibson for the killing of a horse near Post, which was the property of George Ray.

David Milburn of Lower Bridge was indicted for filling up an irrigation ditch belonging to the Black Butte company.

Gus Weightelt was indicted for assault with a dangerous weapon.

These men will be tried as rapidly as possible, the first case coming up Monday morning. Judge Duffy has called the jurors that were in attendance at the last regular term of circuit court, to be present for duty Monday morning.

Bruce Moxley, Henry Gadsu, J. A. Brundage, Pete Dhoohe, and F. S. McCabe all of whom were held on various counts to appear before the grand jury were released because of lack of evidence.

Austin Kizer was released from bond because of the fact that no witnesses appeared against him.

In making their reports the grand jury recommended that a reward be offered for the arrest and conviction of the party who murdered Mrs. Nettie Cole in Bend some two weeks ago.

This grand jury was not dismissed, but has adjourned subject to the call of Judge Duffy. They are: E. E. Gillenwater, Chas. Boyd, Harley M. Saunders, Walter Ruble, J. R. Post, J. W. Stanton and J. W. Gilchrist.

Prof. Griffin Is Coming to Prineville

Prof. F. L. Griffin of O. A. C. will be in Prineville on Monday June 28, for the purpose of giving demonstrations in canning fruits and vegetables. He will demonstrate the methods of canning both cooked and cold articles, and as he is an expert in his line, no doubt will be able to give some valuable advice to the ladies of the community. The lecture will be free. Further particulars will be given in the Journal next week.

Foster & Hyde's Fire Sale is a Hummer

Foster & Hyde have been practically swamped with business since the beginning of their fire sale. Friday and Saturday they had eight clerks on the jump and business has been quite heavy during the current week. Although they have sold lots of goods during the sale, they have the greater part of the stock yet, which they expect to dispose of as rapidly as possible.

Prineville Men in Good Roads Move

W. F. King and F. F. Holscher returned Tuesday noon from Maryhill, Washington. They have completed the task of erecting signs at every crossroad from that point to Prineville, along what is Samuel Hill's favorite road between his home town and California points.

This road was selected by Mr. Hill last year, when the route from Prineville to Lake county was worked by Prineville men, and signs put up along that road.

The work just completed required four large signs and 48 small ones all made of metal with wood backs, and the lettering put on evenly with stencil. On each of them there is a black arrow and a red star pointing the autoist to the road that will take him to California 90 miles quicker than any other route.

The work of erecting these signs will no doubt bring great results to Prineville, for all of which the people are indebted to F. F. Holscher and W. F. King who have taken the matter in hand.

Samuel Hill and Major Bowlby met the local men here and the entire party went on south yesterday where they will investigate the matter of making a cutoff that will reduce the distance a matter of thirty miles more between this point and the Sacramento Valley. They will return to Prineville today.

Another Slant at the Mail Order House

The following story is taken from the Chehalis, Wash., Advocate, and is applicable to almost every town:

Every now and then there comes to the office of every country newspaper a merchant of the town in which the paper is published, the merchant bearing some article some times short, but more often long, setting forth arguments in favor of patronizing home merchants rather than mail order houses. The quest of the home merchant for arguments in his favor is a legitimate one and, so far as resource permits, it is the office of the home newspaper to print such articles. But does the merchant stop to think that every time a paper prints an article such as that it costs the newspaper something?

Very often, much more often than should be, the merchant who brings such articles to the newspaper office is one of those who, when approached by the advertising man, says, "No, nothing this time." The merchant does not want to advertise because "business is bad" or he "is so well known that he does not have to advertise," or one hundred other reasons that the ad man gets on his round of the business houses. The merchant doesn't stop to think that the home newspaper gives its support without remuneration to every move that is for the better interests of the city, county and state, that gives columns of space to every celebration that is held, that it writes up the home talent play before hand, and does a hundred and one other things of a public nature, all of which costs the paper money.

The fact of the matter is that some merchants do not realize the value of advertising when it applies particularly to their own store, but they do realize that the mail order houses, by advertising, are cutting into the business of the home town merchants. In their desire to head this off, they do not consider that by advertising their own business in a straight forward manner through their home newspapers they can counteract the advertising done by the mail order houses, and the only way they see to keep business at home is to play upon the charity of the home paper for free space to knock the mail order houses.

If the home merchants, by advertising patronage, do not help to support the local newspaper, they cannot blame the newspaper for catering to the advertising of the mail order houses and running it whenever they get it.

Will McCallister was in Prineville the last of the week.

Seven Horse Buyers In Town Today

There are in Prineville to day, seven men who are buying horses for the armies in Europe. Others will arrive tomorrow. All horses from 1000 pounds up in weight, and over four years are being taken at prices from $75 to $175. Four car loads were bought yesterday, in and near Prineville, three car loads having been shipped by these buyers from Redmond last week. These horses, the buyers say, are the best they have seen in the west.

Twenty five head of the lot came from G. W. Russell's ranch. All of these horses are being shipped through Arizona, where they will be put with others and sent on to Newport News from where they will be sent abroad.

BASE BALL SEASON OPEN

Prineville Won in a Close Contest Sunday

Another Game the 20th

Antelope Champions Are Coming with Re-inforcements to Get Our Sheep

The opening ball game of the season was played in this city Sunday. The game was called with proper ceremony, and proved to be an interesting one.

Mayor Chas. S. Edwards and Dr. Rosenberg officiated in the formalities and Dr. Davis acted as umpire for the game.

The visitors, who played as a Culver team, but had men from different locations in Jefferson county, started the score by one run in the second and another in the first half of the fourth inning up to which time Prineville had no tallies to her credit. In the last half of the fourth however, the home team threw a scare into the visitors and brought home three men, which lead Culver never overcame. In the fifth the home team tallied two more and one each in the sixth and seventh, which completed their total of seven.

In the eighth the visitors rallied and Prineville went to pieces to the extent that four runs were made by the Jeffersonians. They were not able to do any business in the ninth however, and the game closed going to Prineville six to seven.

Batteries for the day were: Culver; Mitchell, Boring and Weigand; Prineville, Fleming, Tetherow and Neal.

Manager Michel of the ball team announces that Antelope and Prineville will play on the local grounds next Sunday.

Prineville News Gets Scorched

The fire department was called out Friday morning at 4 o'clock to a fire in the plant of the Prineville News. Before the firemen arrived, the building was a mass of flame in the interior and every door and window was pouring forth a large volume of smoke.

Being located but a block from the house of Hose Company Number 1, there were two streams of water playing on the building and contents in short order and as a result much of the contents were saved from total destruction.

There is no positive information as to the origin of the fire, but as Bro. Pollard was working until very late the evening before, and had a fire in the stove, it is thought that the fire caught from the stove. He was sleeping in the front office on a cot when the falling of broken glass from the window awoke him just in time to escape the flames.

The publication of the paper will be resumed just as soon as the place can be overhauled and stocked up Mr. Pollard says.
