

Forest Service Issues

Annual Statement

An announcement just made by the Forest Service, covering the grazing business on the National Forest for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1915, shows a decrease of over 100,000 in the number of sheep grazed on the Forests of Oregon, and an increase of approximately 44,000 in the number grazed in the Forests of Washington.

For several years past the grazing business on the Forests of Oregon has been in excess of that in Washington, but the influx of settlers in those parts of Oregon where good forage was to be found has made it difficult for the big stock owners to find sufficient winter range for their sheep. This fact, combined with the recent high prices of wool and mutton, has led many sheep men to sell out. In Washington there has not only been an increase in settlement, but also an increase in available National Forest range, which has induced many to go into the sheep business. Hence, the Oregon sheep men found the Washington ranchers ready to buy their sheep.

There has been an increase in the cattle business in both States, over 10,000 increase in Oregon and nearly 3,000 head in Washington. Many of these new cattle men were formerly sheep owners grazing stock on the National Forest.

Government Expert To Visit Oregon

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has placed a man in Oregon to study crops and market conditions and to assist the people of the state in improvement of their conditions and in marketing their products.

Our county agriculturist, A. E. Lovett, applied to the college early in the summer for a few days of this man's time for the holding of meetings of farmers here to discuss the market conditions and methods for improvement. He has been obtained for a series of meetings beginning September 15th and, in order that meetings may be held where the farmers and others are interested, communities, commercial clubs and individuals should write Mr. Lovett at once so that he may arrange the meetings to the advantage for all who are interested.

It is hoped that eight or ten well attended meetings may be held while the expert is with us.

Fire was discovered burning in the sawdust in the rear of Horrigan's ice house on Tuesday, starting evidently from a cigarette or cigar stub. It was discovered before much damage was done.

O. C. Claypool, Marion Mayfield and Don H. Peoples returned from a ten days' trip into the mountains last evening. They report lots of hunting, but a great scarcity of game.

Word from the State Board of Health concerning the head of the rabid coyote which was killed at the Stearns ranch early in the week, says that the case was one of the most advanced cases of rabies they had ever examined. One of the dogs that was infected by this animal developed unusual symptoms yesterday and was killed last night.

It was reported that there was a ship wreck on Klamath Lake the first of the week, but after exhaustive investigation by the Journal detective it was discovered that J. B. Shipp and family were stranded near Klamath Falls while repairs for their car are coming from San Francisco. They will be in Prineville soon.

J. W. Horrigan's team ran away with the delivery wagon last night about six o'clock. They started from the barn on West B Street and ran north across the Ochoco until they came to the fence around the little house belonging to Mrs. S. Price of Paulina. There they went through the barbed wire fence and the end of the wagon tongue broke a hole in the side of the house. The tongue was broken out off the wagon, and the horses were cratched up considerably in the barbed wire, otherwise no damage was done.

A. J. Noble's team ran away in the streets Monday, causing considerable excitement. Oren Noble, who was driving the team suffered a sprained ankle, but is much better today. The team was going north across the Ochoco bridge when the coupling pole broke, letting down a 2700 pound load of hay, after the front wheels had been pulled from under the load. One of the horses was caught at Kester's barn, while the other ran to the C. Sam Smith ranch before it was caught.

The destruction of the British submarine E-13 in Danish territory by German destroyers, under circumstances which placed the shipwrecked craft under Danish protection, has aroused widespread indignation which finds expression in the Danish newspapers.

A WORD FOR MOTHERS
It is a grave mistake for mothers to neglect their aches and pains and suffer in silence—this only leads to chronic sickness and often shortens life.
If your work is tiring; if your nerves are excited; if you feel languid, weary or depressed, you should know that Scott's Emulsion overcomes just such conditions.
It possesses in concentrated form the very elements to invigorate the blood, strengthen the tissues, nourish the nerves and build strength.
Scott's is strengthening thousands of mothers—and will help you. No alcohol.
