INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER MACHINES

McCormick Mower Saves All the Hay

FINE notches in the tilting quadrant of a mower are a big advantage. The McCormick mower has them and with a McCormick you can cut the stubble as close as you desire and get all the hay. In seasons when the grass is short, this feature makes a difference of tons in the hay crop.

This same close tilting adjustment means that the grass can be cut on rough and stony ground without danger of dulling the knife on rocks or breaking the bar by striking roots.

The next time you are in town, come in and look over the McCormick mower and note the close adjustment of tilt. The McCormick mower also has many other features that will appeal to you but this is one you should know about before you buy any mower.

A RECORD CLASS.

Next Friday evening a class of thirty young people will be graduated from Crook County High School. This is the largest commencement class in the history of the school.

The class has a banner record. The faculty is unanimous in their praise of these young people's industry, integrity and loyalty. Many talented members of the class have brought honors to the school in literary, musical and athletic activities, as well as in maintaining a high class standard in subject-matter and deportment throughout the four years of the High School course. They have set a high example for the class men who follow and they will be greatly missed from assembly and class rooms when school re-opens in September.

The commencement exercises will be held in the Commercial Hall tomorrow evening at eight o'clock. The stage will represent a ship and the program will be nautical in character and each number will be rendered by a member of the class. This will be another proof of Crook County High's efficiency—that the class, instead of outsiders, can furnish the evening's entertainment. It will be well worth seeing and hearing. The boat will be christened with water from the Pacific brought by Captain Frank Brosius.

IMPROVE THE ROADS!

Crook county is a large territory, and in all sections the need for roads and road improvement is great.

This is especially true of the country to the south of Prineville.

The eastern half of the county is a stock country, and these people are heavy tax payers, and should have their roads given more consideration than they have received in the past.

Of course it is impossible for the court to please everyone, for the road that runs by a man's door is the one in which he is most interested.

These people had some money spent on their roads two years ago, and it should soon be their turn to get at least two more improvements that are badly needed. One is the road connecting the present existing road, from the Davis place to the Mayfield ranch, the other is a new piece of work from the Dixon place at Cold Springs ranch to the Brown ranch now owned by Frank Foster.

THE TRACKMEET.

The victory of the Redmond schools on Saturday at the track meet was a lesson of the same kind that caused the C. C. H. S. to win the state debate championship. It was hard work; team work.

Some members of the local team did well, Brosius especially well, but the concerted effort that made the team victorious in former years was lacking this time, and that same spirit prevailed with the winners this year.

While we would of course be pleased to see the local team winner, yet none are more entitled to the honor than are the Redmond team.

The nomination of both Mr. Burdick and Mr. Forbes as representatives from this district is a circumstance that no voter hoped for and not even these men themselves wanted. The question now is, what will the Klamath and Lake county voters think and do about it.
