

THE CITY

E. B. Wade of Suplee was a local visitor yesterday.

David Robb, state health officer is in Prineville and vicinity today on business, connected with his office.

A meeting of the Chautauqua association was held last night at which plans were made for the local event which will be held here July 3 to 8. M. E. Paget representing the association, was present and assisted materially in planning for the ticket sale.

There will be two games of baseball in this city next Sunday. At 10:30 there will be a game between Culver and Paulina and in the afternoon Prineville and Bend will cross bats again for the deciding game. The Culver-Paulina game will be an interesting one for these teams are considered about equal in merit. They expect to both appear here during the tournament, Chautauqua week.

Joseph Townsend who has lived in the vicinity of Powell Butte for the last two years was brought to the local hospital in an unconscious condition this morning. He has been in this state of being for 18 hours and physicians seem to think the stupor caused by a brain disorder. A receipt among his papers shows him to be a paid-up member of the Odd Fellow lodge of Vassar, Michigan, until June of this year. The local lodge is investigating.

At a prohibition meeting held in this city Monday evening, it was unanimously voted to assist in the statewide movement to get a measure on the ballot this fall which provides for absolute prohibition. The effort of the brewery interests to open their institutions by a measure which will be on the same ballot will meet with organized opposition by the temperance people of this county, according to the statements made at this meeting.

1000 Acres to Be Irrigated Near O'Neil

James Trapman, W. F. Galbraith and Wm. Patterson purchased 1280 acres of land near the O'Neil bridge last week from the Oregon & Western Colonization Co., and started work at once to clear the land and fence it.

They will install a pumping plant near the bridge, which will be operated by electricity, and will furnish water for more than 1000 acres of the land purchased.

These men are planning to colonize the land, and will sell it in small tracts to actual settlers soon.

The lift for the water is about 95 feet, and all arrangements have been made to install the plant. The land is situated just north of Crooked river in what is sometimes called the Lone Pine basin.

Other parties who purchased land on Mr. Davidson's recent visit here are: John R. Powers, one section; W. C. Congleton, one section; Thos. Barnes, four sections; F. Fred Hoelscher, one section; O. C. Gray, 1 1/2 sections; Geo. Russell, one section and R. E. Stoy & Son, 1 1/2 sections.

during the next few weeks.

A total of ten reservoir locations were investigated, but the cost on some of them was much greater than on the two decided upon.

The cost of irrigating the lands of the district will be less than $45 per acre according to the latest statements of Mr. Rea and members of the board who have investigated the matter thoroughly.

The reservoir on Ochoco will have a dam 125 feet in height, and will submerge 1,100 acres of land. This reservoir will have a storage capacity of 47,000 acre feet, which is almost enough to furnish water for all the acreage that can be put under the canals for the entire year. The McKay reservoir will provide water for lands in that part of the district and will supply high line ditches from McKay on both sides of the stream, covering lands on Dry Creek, Johnson Creek and Juniper Creek reaching to the old Circle place on Lytle Creek.

The present plan of the board is to increase the district to some extent, making a total acreage of about 20,000 acres. They hope to have all costs accurately stated so that a bond election can be held in August or early September.

by speakers of the day. After a large basket dinner the assemblage was addressed by C. E. Spence, state master of the Grange, on the value of co-operative farmers organization. He pointed out that the ban of such a move was the prejudices and jealousy of individuals, hence for success personal opinion must be sacrificed and the majority allowed to rule. J. W. Brewer, A. E. Lovett and others made valuable talks on farm problems.

The closing event of the day was a baseball game between Bend and Jefferson county, won by the former 5-1. Except for the second inning Boring held Bend to two hits and in one instance retired the side with nine straight strikes. Tetherow pitched shut-out ball throughout and was never threatened.

pipe, which with a 100 foot fall furnishes motive power for the pump and is in turn used for the supply. The pump is automatic in nature and may be left for days without attention. The greatest difficulty encountered was in getting the machinery and pipe into the canyon.

A concrete reservoir, 50 feet square and 10 feet deep, having a capacity of 200,000 gallons, stores the water on top of the rim. A ten inch pipe which has a fall of 170 feet then conveys the water a distance of four miles to Culver where it is used for city supply. The project was made possible by an organization of farmers and business men and is valued at $15,000.

Opal Springs, so called because of thousands of opals in its bed, is a volume of clear water flowing from the rocks at the edge of Crooked River.
