Richard Sampair Fined $100
in Powell Butte Court

FEDERAL OFFICER GRABS MAN

Charges of Violating the White
Slave Law and Selling
Liquor Are Made

Richard Sampair, of Bend, was convicted before a jury at Powell Butte last Friday of the crime of bootlegging. Justice C. M. Charlton presided. The defendant was represented by Messrs Redman and Moore, attorneys of Bend, and the prosecution was conducted by District Attorney Wirtz.

Sampair was charged with the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor in the local justice court by the district attorney. Upon an application for a change of venue by the defendant, Justice of the Peace Bowman transferred the case to Powell Butte district for trial.

The defendant alleged in his application for the transfer that he could not get a fair trial in Prineville owing to ill feeling existing between the rival communities of Bend and Prineville.

The trial was had in the community hall at the Buttes. Justice Charlton fined the defendant $100.

Sampair paid his fine on Saturday, but was taken into custody at once by federal officials, charged with selling liquor without a government license and with violating the federal white slave act.

An order was signed by the Justice which provides that the liquor be destroyed publicly.

HENRY TWEET CRUSHED TO DEATH AT BEND MILL

Henry Tweet was instantly killed Friday night about midnight at the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Company's mill by a load of lumber tipping over and pinning him against a pile on the side of the alley.

Mr. Tweet was driver of one of the teams delivering lumber from the mill to the yard and had left with a load about midnight. After he had been gone for some time, searchers went to look for him and found him pinned between the load of lumber and the pile in an upright position. The entire load was resting on him and death had evidently been instantaneous.

Mr. Tweet was married and leaves a wife and three children, who will receive the benefits of the workman's compensation law under which the employees of the mill are operating. Mr. Tweet was a son of Thomas Tweet, a well known resident of Bend and one of her oldest and most respected citizens.

He was a brother-in-law of John Steidel. Mrs. Tweet was not informed of the death of her husband until the next morning, when Mr. Steidel informed her of the accident.

The accident was apparently unavoidable and was caused by the wheels of the wagon sinking into the soft cinders in a new alley.

Mr. Tweet was a resident of the Powell Butte country for years, and is well known in Prineville.

Christmas rates of a fare and a third on the O-W. line have just been announced.

UNCLE FRANK NICHOLS NOW 91

Celebrates Birthday and Goes
After Subscribers—Mrs.
Nelson Still Leads

The Journal's Ford race, which is a subscription contest in which a late model Ford touring car, which may be seen at the Inland Garage in this city, is the prize, will close at eight o'clock on the evening of December 12th, sharp.

The contest has narrowed down to two candidates, Mrs. H. Nelson, of Roberts, and B. F. Nichols, of Tumalo.

Mrs. Nelson has been working hard as has her opponent and is again in the lead this week but a good gain has been made by both candidates and it looks like anybody's race.

"Uncle Frank" Nichols celebrated his 91st birthday Monday evening at Tumalo where he was the guest of more than twenty Masons from Bend, who presented him with a diamond pin, and honored him in other ways.

Tuesday morning he was back in Prineville, hustling for subscriptions and getting them, displaying more vigor and pluck than many men of much less years.

These candidates are both deserving, and one thing is a fact; that is that the prize will be won by a meritorious person.

If you wish to help either of these people win this prize, do not forget that the contest closes on the above date.

The votes will be counted by three businessmen of the city, who have not been selected as yet and who will not be announced until after the count is made. The decision of these judges will be final, and the prize will be awarded immediately after the count is completed.

The standing of the contestants at the hour of eleven o'clock on Wednesday was:

Mrs. Hugh Nelson.....1,620,000
B. F. Nichols.....1,610,000
