The canal at this point is eight feet wide at the bottom, will average about four feet in depth, and has been completed from the east end of the work to be done by the district, well across the Mattson ranch, and is progressing noticeably each day.

More than 60 head of horses are employed on this work, and the supply of men is much better than at the beginning of the work.

After the west end of the canal is completed these men and supplies will be used in completing the system of laterals that will supply water to every parcel of land under the project.

The engineering crews are busy running lines for these laterals and will be well ahead of the construction crews. They have a camp es-"The Bible School and Men," "Bible tablished near the Dr. Hyde place, just north of the city and some of the men are taken to and from ents and teachers will attend this ing their nights in this city.

As the lateral system must be completed in order to get the benefit of any water, the district plans to rush its part of the work and be ready for the water as soon as any part of the canal is completed by the contractors.
