

IRRIGATION SCHOOL AT REDMOND SIX DAYS

CALL IS MADE FOR ATTENDANTS
FROM ALL POINTS

ALL FEATURES TO BE DISCUSSED

Practical Demonstrations For Use
Of Water—May Visit the Ochoco Project

An Irrigation School has been arranged for the six days starting February 11, at Redmond.

The course is intended to cover all points of irrigation and one day may be given to the inspection of the Ochoco Project by those attending the school. At least 100 men are expected to take the course.

A letter which is being sent to one thousand irrigators in Central Oregon by County Agent Ward follows, together with a copy of the proposed program:

"This is the only school of its kind that will be held in Oregon this season and is equal or superior to short courses held elsewhere as it will deal primarily with Central Oregon.

"With the construction of the Ochoco Project in progress, the Central Oregon Irrigation District already formed and the North Canal and the Jefferson county project under consideration, irrigation should occupy a prominent place in all our affairs. I feel sure that a more thorough knowledge of irrigation law, water measurements, ditch construction and irrigation of our principal crops will be a benefit to all of us. A glance at the program will show you that all these subjects are adequately covered, as well as many others. You will also understand that men prominent in irrigation affairs in the state are in the list of instructors who will be present.

"The school is for Central Oregon from the Columbia river to the California line and is held at the most central spot we could find. However the school will not be put on unless 100 farmers register for the course and agree to be present during three complete days of the session. If you will be one of this fortunate one hundred fill out the following blank and forward to your County Agent on February 1 to 4.

"The Redmond Commercial Club will entertain the students on the last day of the school. Come. Very cordially yours,

R. A. WARD,
County Agricultural Agent,

DENTON G. BURDICK IS CANDIDATE AGAIN

Denton G. Burdick, of Redmond, announces his candidacy this week for re-election to the office of representative from this district.

He gives as his record for the last session of the legislature, the fact that he supported the district irrigation code, which is an excellent law, his support of the road bill, road bond bill, rural credits measure, game code and prohibition measure.

If re-elected to the legislature he pledges his support to all the following measures:

State endorsement of National Prohibition amendment.

State endorsement of National Equal Suffrage amendment.

Any legislation that will facilitate the sale of Irrigation or Drainage District Bonds.

Any road program that will immediately provide necessary lines of transportation for farm products, stock, or men and munitions in time of war.

Any legislation which enables the State to co-operate with the National Government in the conduct of the present war or the care and support of the Oregon soldiers and dependants.

Any legislation necessary to protect the true interests of organized labor; toward the end that the labor and industries of Oregon may compete with those of other States, on an equal footing.

Any legislation truly necessary for the protection of residents or property within the State of Oregon.

To support any legislation that will hasten development of the John Day and McKenzie Highways; and the North and South Trunk Lines running through the 21st District; for the purpose of facilitating the marketing of farm products and providing secondary lines of defense.

To oppose the expenditure of state funds for anything that is non essential under present conditions.

PUBLICATION RESTRICTED

Government Requests That Soldiers' Letters Be Kept Out of Print

Continuing the government policy to make every newspaper man his own censor, the committee on public information has requested that letters from soldiers and other matter of that nature be suppressed.

These letters make very interesting reading, but for the best interest of the government war policy, we will continue to observe this request.

PLAN TO BUILD CHURCH

Progressive Citizens of Powell Butte Community Plan For Building

Steps are being taken to build a church near the Community Hall at Powell Butte.

No announcement has been made as to whether this will be done soon, but is assured that if these people decide to build, it will be done, and creditably.

There is no community of like size in the state that possesses more of the proper cooperative spirit than Powell Butte.
