Grover Gibson, who has been called in the selective draft, was given a farewell party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nell McLean, Sunday evening. About seventy-five friends were present to do honor to this young man who is offering his all in the service of his country. A splendid lunch was served by the ladies at eight o'clock. Several patriotic songs were sung, including a vocal solo, "Keep the Home Fires Burning," by Mrs. Rippey, after which Rev. Van Nuy's delivered an address that was most fitting for the occasion.

TERREBONNE NEWS

(By our Regular Correspondent)

Miss Adeline Dietrich left last Wednesday for Salem where she will attend summer school.

Mrs. Carl C. Hyde spent Friday in Terrebonne on her way to Fort Columbia where her husband is stationed.

Dr. Secley, general superintendent of Presbyterian missions in Oregon, spoke at the Hall, Sunday night and has been visiting the people this week in the interest of the Federated church here.

Miss Irma Keeney, who has been elected primary teacher, was visiting friends here last week. Both she and Miss Roxy Morris of this place are planning to attend summer school at Bellingham, Washington, this summer.

Both W. S. S. societies will meet together at the L. P. C. Hall, Saturday evening and will be addressed by Rev. McVicker. Mr. McVicker has just been attending a war conference in Portland and will have some timely war topics to discuss with us.

Scraping the flour bins has been done graciously by most of the people this week we believe. Those who grumble at turning over a few pounds of flour or wheat ought to be sent to the war zone to let dawn upon them the realization of the blessings Americans are really enjoying in this war time.

Of course Terrebonne went over the top with her second Red Cross contributions. Mrs. Galbreath worked hard completing the canvass alone. Anyone she missed should hand her his contribution.
