OBJECTORS TO BE PUT TO WORK

Washington.—Drafted men claiming conscientious objection to military service and who have been found by army authorities to be sincere in refusing duty with non-combatant units as prescribed by President Wilson are to be segregated at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., under terms of an order announced by Secretary Baker.

If found to be sincere in their scruples by a special board of inquiry, they will be furloughed to work on farms as laborers at a private's pay.

"Under no circumstances will conscientious objectors be discharged from their responsibilities under the selective service law," the order says, and instructions are renewed to military courts-martial to try and punish all found to be insincere, defiant or active in attempting to convert others to their belief.

Money earned by the furloughed objectors in excess of a private's pay and subsistence is to go to the Red Cross, and the permission is to be continued only so long as the objector is reported by disinterested observers to be working to the best of his ability.

Only 600 professed conscientious objectors have been reported among the 1,300,000 men called for military service under the draft.

BRIEF NEWS OF THE WAR

The American front in Picardy is holding firm, despite considerable enemy bombardment.

American officers reported that practically every German body found after a recent night's fighting in the Luneville sector, was shot through the head or heart, showing the quality of the American marksmanship.

Dispatches from Rome state that the Austrians are continuing preparations for an offensive on the Italian front. Reinforcements are constantly arriving from Romania and Ukraine, while Turkish contingents are expected soon.

To Lieutenant Douglas Campbell, of California, goes the honor of being the first "ace" in the American flying corps. It was Lieutenant Campbell who shot down the German biplane near Ponta-Mousson. It was his fifth victory to be confirmed officially.

In Mesopotamia British troops have cleared the Turks entirely from the Kurkuk area, 150 miles north of Bagdad. The Turks have retreated across the Lesser Zab, a branch of the Tigris river, 25 miles northwest of Kurkuk city. The British are now within 100 miles of Mosul.

In their latest drive the Germans have reached the Marne, where the French have held them. So effective has the French defense been at this river that the Germans have been unable to cross it and are changing their course. On the 75-mile front from Noyon to Rheims the Germans have apparently been checked. Their 28 mile advance has proven costly and has been temporarily, if not permanently, stopped. The formidable nature of the German offensive may be gathered from the absolute identification of nearly 50 of their divisions (about 675,000 men). There certainly are a number of other divisions in immediate support. The French and British troops facing the German onslaught numbered about one-fifth of the great enemy army. Although the Germans have thrown back the allies they have not been able to create a breach in their lines. The gradual retirement of the French and British has been executed with considerable skill.

Common Sense Gasoline Saving

The gasoline question is not so much one of high price as it is how to make it go farther.

In the Franklin Car, light weight gives the gasoline less work to do, and hence less gasoline is needed.

Friction, that drags on a car, is cut down to the limit.

Valves in the head make the Franklin engine turn more of the gasoline into actual going power.
