WITH THE EXCHANGES

That there is no reason for alarm in the matter of securing state aid for highways in Central Oregon from the State Highway Commission, and that this section will be amply taken care of in the Good Roads measure was the statement made by Denton G. Burdick, of Redmond, representative from this district, who was at home a few days with a light attack of the "flu."

Before returning to Salem Monday, Mr. Burdick spent a few hours in Bend, conferring with those interested in the welfare of this section and assuring them that all was well at the State House in the matter of good roads. Mr. Burdick has introduced a number of measures in the House this winter, among the most important being a memorial to Congress asking for federal aid for the Deschutes project, which secured concerted action on the part of the Oregon delegation as soon as it reached Congress.—Bend Press.

CAUTION TO TAXPAYERS

In a statement received by the Collector of Internal Revenue, Milton A. Miller, from Commissioner Daniel C. Roper, taxpayers are cautioned against allowing themselves to be imposed upon by strangers who claim to be "Income Tax Experts." They should discriminate carefully between helpful, authoritative advice in tax matters, and irresponsible advice.

Mr. Roper states further that the bureau is arranging to furnish for the benefit of Income Tax payers in every city and town in the country, a free advisory service by trained collectors, agents, inspectors and deputies. At the offices of Collectors and their Deputies and at other central points, free information and advice with respect to filing returns under the new Revenue Bill may be had up to the final date for filing such returns.

Banks, Trust Companies, and similar responsible institutions have always cooperated in furnishing authentic Income Tax information, and have generously offered to serve the government and taxpayers in this respect again this year. It is the aim of the Bureau to bring its agencies as close as possible to every person and to make available in official form all necessary information regarding the requirements of the law. The Bureau welcomes aid from every responsible agency in its efforts to enlighten the people on tax matters.

Every taxpayer is assured of a square deal from the Government, based entirely on the tax laws and regulation and the facts in his case. No other influence is allowed to enter into Internal Revenue matters and the statement of any firm or individual that they are in a position to exert special influence with Internal Revenue officers is wholly without open-minded consideration is given in every case regardless of whether the taxpayer appears in person or by attorney.

Firms or persons who offer to prosecute claims against the Government can secure no special consideration beyond the merits of the claims as determined by the facts and the law.

Any Government official or employee is barred by statute from acting as counsel, attorney, or agent for prosecuting claims against the United States which were pending while he was an officer or employee; and is also barred from aiding in any manner the prosecution of such claims within two years after leaving the Government service.
