Did you ever go into a strange house in the dead of night, bent on the capture of a criminal whom you would not recognize if you met him? At least you've gotten up out of your bed to investigate the sound like footsteps which broke into your slumber. You know the feeling. But that is only a suggestion. Henry found it the least of his thrills. And they were indeed numerous.

Ruth Orton had two chances: Kiss or Kill. Which should she choose? And why? She was not a hasty girl. She was sincere and if she believed a certain course was right she would pursue it regardless of the end. That's why she got what she got. We do not want to spoil your pleasure by telling you what she got. We want you to come and see.

The State Irrigation Securities Commission has reached a decision, refusing to certify the bond issue of $1,100,000 sought by the Teel irrigation district in Eastern Oregon. The high estimate of the engineers of the cost of the work is said to be responsible for the decision. Attorney J. T. Hinkle and Asa B. Thompson, leaders in the project move, are trying to do something with the board to secure a favorable action. The outcome may be looked for in a few days.—Stanfield Sentinel.
