Mr. Ira N. Gabrielson together with an assistant favored the local forest office with a call on Monday, July 21. Mr. Gabrielson is the new director of the Biological survey for Oregon and states that there are, without question more range pests in this State than in any other State in the Union. As mentioned in previous notes two men are now at work on the Ochoco forest in an endeavor to exterminate the range pests known as the pocket gopher. As soon as these have been taken care of Mr. Gabrielson advised that as fast as funds are available he plans to attack the sage rats and other range pests. This trip is the first one Mr. Gabrielson has been able to make through this part of the state. He has gone out by way of Mitchell and John Day. One of his assistants will spend a considerable time in this section and Mr. Gabrielson states that his bureau will endeavor to give first attention to the communities who are disposed to help themselves and in this connection he advises that if there are local Rabbit Clubs or anything of the kind which will put out the poison and work under the direction of one of his men that he will give just as much attention to such Clubs or communities as funds, time and his personnel will permit. It is possible for organizations or communities interested in rodent extermination work to secure the following poisons at the prices indicated: Saccharin, 37c per ounce; Strychnine, (alkaloid) $1.70 per ounce; Strychnine (sulphate) $1.40 per ounce. The sulphate is just as good for rabbits as the alkaloid. The above poisons may be secured through O. D. Center, Extension Director, O. A. C., Corvallis, Oregon.
Grazing Examiner Ingram is on a field trip which will take him into the country east of Big Summit Prairie where he will spend the balance of July in an endeavor to gather information which will help enable the local office to more intelligently draw allotment lines between the different sheep permittees occupying this part of the forest so that an adequate supply for water together with several types of grasses may be included in each individual allotment, if this is at all possible.
Judge Wallace and wife and Mrs. Ray Mackay returned last Saturday from a pleasant outing at the head of the west branch of the Deschutes river near Crane Prairie. They report that they had the finest time possible and caught lots of fish.

FORESTRY
WSS NEWS NOTES WSS
The fire situation on the Ochoco Forest is perhaps more acute than it has been for several years. On Sunday, July 20, two rather serious fires started which required the help of probably thirty men and so far as the local forest office has been advised, one of these is not yet under complete control. This fire is about twenty miles northwest from Burns in the dry country easterly from Bald Butte in a rather isolated section. This particular country has never been fully utilized in a grazing way because of the scarcity of water (some 30,000 or 40,000 acres being entirely destitute of water) which makes the fire hazard much greater than is usual in a heavily grazed section. Ranger E. W. Donnelly together with about twenty men including the timber cruising party which has been working on Buck mountain, are now fighting the fire and will probably soon have it under control. The other fire mentioned started about 2 p. m. Sunday afternoon just north of the divide between Summit Prairie and Mitchell. It burned nearly 200 acres and required the help of seven or eight men to extinguish it.
Monday, July 21 at about 2 p. m. a fire started as if from a powder house at a point about fifteen miles north-easterly from Paulina and burned about 125 acres before night time. This fire burned up about thirty or forty ricks of wood that was being cut for local ranchers in the Paulina section together with the wood saw and outfit which belonged to the men who had been doing the cutting. On account of the prompt action of Ranger Congleton, Grazing Examiner Ingram and local stockmen of the Paulina section, the fire was put under control within a few hours.
The forest service appreciates the hearty cooperation that is usually given by stockmen and local people in emergencies since we realize that in most cases the ranchers are busy with haying or other important work and it is at a sacrifice that they help us out in such cases. It is, however, appreciated by those of us who have had experience in fighting fires that the time to accomplish most is immediately upon discovery of the fire, since a few hours delay may mean the expenditure of a lot of money and time and labor which could be avoided if immediate action were taken.
Owing to so many fires being started by reason of carelessness on the part of smokers and others who thoughtlessly throw away a burning cigarette stub or the like, or fail to entirely extinguish fires, the forest service has been obliged to take rather a drastic course in dealing with such offenders. On a number of forests there have been a lot of recent convictions and it is the common practice to require the responsible (careless) party to pay the cost of suppressing the fire together with the damage it may have done plus a fine for carelessness. It is surely hoped that the unfortunate predicament in which some of these offenders have been found will be a lesson to local people to be extremely careful whenever they are in the woods to entirely put out their camp fires or burning matches, tobacco or cigarette stubs which seem to be principal agents for trouble.
The mysteries of rain are not yet cleared away. The forces of electricity, of magnetism, of radio activity, of ultra violet light and all the other agencies which may collaborate in the production of a downpour of rain are very obscure.
We know from Holy Writ that the wind bloweth where it listeth. Nothing whatever can be more expressive of the capricious and lawless character of the wind. And wind and rain come together; and the changes of temperature make what we call weather. In the South Sea Islands the natives have no word which means weather as the atmospheric conditions never change. The vast majority of human beings are in contrast and unending conflict with the weather. Hence the universal interest in its causes, whether the noise and the smoke of battle fields or the ashes from volcanoes or from the changes of temperature produced by vast conflagrations, such as are witnessed when a city is consumed in flames.

Remarkable Chimpanzee Dies.
A few weeks ago there died a chimpanzee who had spent the eight years of his life defying all rules laid down for the well being of chimpanzees. His name was Antony, and he was the only one of his tribe of monkeys who has ever managed to stand an English climate unmitigated by artificial heat. He came from the Congo in 1911, when he was very young and small. At that time he weighed 14 pounds, by last summer he was just six times as heavy. During the whole period of his civilized life he was kept in a brick building facing southwest and unheated, and he slept in straw without blankets, Chocolates and sweets—poison to ordinary chimpanzees—were the special treats of Antony's dietary, and he had a less comprehensible fancy for beans.—Manchester Guardian.

COHRS RETURNS WITH BRIDE
Lester Cohrs, well known Prineville man, who enlisted from here early in the war, returned home Tuesday evening with a bride whom he captured near Spokane, Washington, since his discharge from the service a few weeks ago.
Lester saw a year's service in the A. E. F., was returned home about two months ago and shortly after he was mustered out at Camp Lewis. He is kept busy since his return home greeting his old friends, all of whom are mighty glad to see him. After visiting here for a couple of weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Cohrs will return to Colville, Washington, where they intend to make their home. The Journal with their many other friends joins in wishing them prosperity and happiness on their life journey.

BAND CONCERT
The City Band will give their regular weekly concert on Saturday evenings from now until the end of the season and will give them on the downtown street instead of at the city park. The reason for the change is to give the people in the country an opportunity to hear the concerts and Saturday evening is the time when most people living in the country are in the city.
The band will give a dance twice each month and the next one will be held Saturday evening, August 2, after the evening concert. This Saturday evening the concert will be given at the corner of 3rd and Main at 7:45 p. m.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC
Owing to the increased cost of production I have found it necessary to raise the price of milk to 12 1/2c per quart at the home and 14c delivered. These prices take effect August 1, 1919.
