Illustration of Old and New Methods.
A common nail is an excellent illustration of the difference between old and new methods. Formerly the metal was cut into strips and then forged into shape with hammers. Today they are made of steel and are lighter and stronger. Strips are cut with steam shears and fed into automatic nail machines.

Tragic Pens.
At the prison of St. Paul, at Lyons, France, there is a curious collection of pens. They are the pens with which the executioners signed the regulation receipts for the prisoners handed over to them to be guillotined. At each execution a fresh pen is used for the purpose, and the ink is left to dry upon it.

Probably Both.
"That woman on the corner, waiting for a trolley car, refused your offer of a lift rather superciliously." "So she did," replied the obliging man. "And now I'll never know if she turned up her nose at my company or my flier."

INTRODUCES DRUG IN LUNGS

French Physician's Method of Administering Chloroform Said to Be Pronounced Success.

A new method of administering chloroform, brought out in France by Dr. Guisez, is described in the Scientific American. The doctor no longer applies the drug by the usual compress or mask placed over the mouth, but introduces the chloroform vapor directly into the lungs through a tube running into the windpipe. The tube method has already been employed in several hundred cases, and with great success. Besides being very useful for operations to be performed on the head and neck, it is of great interest because it never produces nausea.

The effects of the new method will serve to explain the reasons why chloroform operations always produced nausea when operating by the former method, for it appears evident that the nausea was caused by a part of the chloroform vapors being absorbed by the oesophagus and the stomach.

Average Intelligence.

There have been a number of reports about the results of the psychological tests in the army which are not particularly encouraging. Of course it is all very well to find that more than half of those taken in the draft were of an average or of a higher intelligence and that four out of every 100 were of a "very superior" intelligence and eight to ten out of every 100 of "superior" intelligence. This will probably average up higher than what would be secured in any European country, but the fly in the ointment is the high relative percentage of those who are "below average" intelligence, or of an "inferior" intelligence or are "very inferior," with several grades and degrees even below the "very inferior."

Nelson's Victory Cups.

Recognition of the English "silent navy" which did so much to win the war has come in the presentation of two communion cups to the Royal Naval Barracks church of Portsmouth, England. These cups were used on Nelson's flagship Victory in the battle of Trafalgar. Thus the glory that was England's in the earlier days joins hands with the glory of the present, and the spirit of Nelson is linked with the spirits of the brave men who stood by in all the long months of the North sea vigil. Nine years ago these cups were given to a church in Glasgow. The widow of the rector of this parish now gives them to the navy as the most fitting holder of the goblets, which were made about 1800.

Misunderstanding.

"The Germans are always being misunderstood, and this misunderstanding is always to the poor fellows' disadvantage."
The speaker was Adolph Junck, the millionaire dye importer of Duluth. "I know a German motorist," he went on, "who arrived one June evening at a crowded country road house. When the clerk told him the house was full, he said desperately: "Can't you at least give me a bundle of hay somewhere?" "There ain't a thing left, mister," said the clerk, "but a bit of cold mutton stew."

In Death Valley.

Death valley is a narrow area between the Panamint and Funeral mountains in California. It is traversed by the Amargosa river, which is usually a dry channel, though probably it was formerly full of water. The level of the valley is covered with salt, supposed to have been brought by the torrents from the surrounding desert and left on the evaporation of the water. Death valley is said to be the hottest and driest place in the United States.

Costliest of Books.

It is said that the highest price ever realized for a book, was paid at an auction sale in London recently, for a book of private devotion, a "XIV Century Book of Hours," formerly the property of Jeanne II, Queen of Navarre, which brought $50,000.

When News is Not News.

The supreme court has held that news is property. Some of it is, and then some is "improvements thereon."

Generally Does.

The trouble with the fellow who is so disagreeable that he "says it to your face" is that he is likely to boast about it afterward.

Sacrifice.

Love means sacrifice and appreciation. And the man who thinks he loves and has not the spirit of sacrifice only is administering to his self-gratification. All of the big emotions have coupled with their expression an underlying element of capacity for repression. It is the ability to give or withhold that makes their true value, and since love is the greatest of all these, then the greater should be the power of sacrifice.—Alden.
