

MARY PICKFORD IN "DADDY LONG LEGS"

HER START IN LIFE

BROUGHT UP ON PRUNES, FEAR AND HARDSHIPS

HOW DADDY GOT HIS NAME

MARSHALL NEILAN, ACTOR, HANDS A GOOD BAWLING-OUT TO MARSHALL NEILAN, DIRECTOR

THE BACK OF DADDY-LONG-LEGS CHAIR

DEATH OF PIONEER OCCURS TUESDAY

GEORGE MILLICAN PASSES AFTER PROTRACTED ILLNESS

HELPED BLAZE M'KENZIE TRAIL

Mr. Millican Was Identified With Oregon History Since 1862.—Owned First Registered Cattle and in the year last mentioned made a trip from the Idaho gold fields to the mint in San Francisco, on horseback, with a quantity of gold.

From 1862 until 1869 Mr. Millican farmed near Eugene, on the McKenzie, and the town of Waltherville, in this community, was afterward named after his son, Walter Millican.

He first came over the Cascades as pilot for Captain Crouch, which was in 1863, and helped to construct the first trail over the Cascades, which was through the McKenzie pass, where the road crosses today.

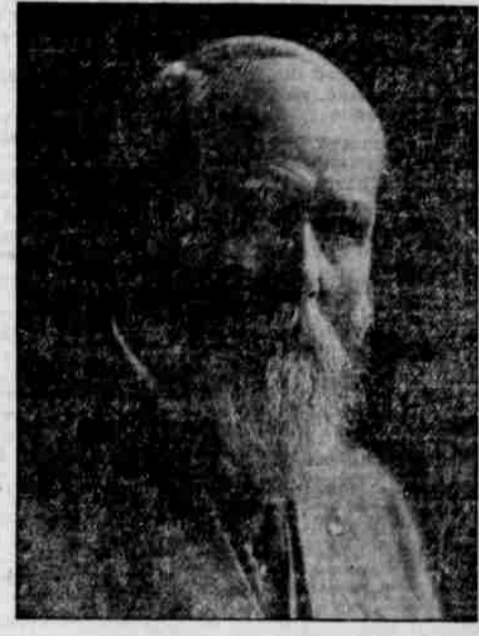

He was the owner of the first band of registered cattle in the state, and these he brought to Central Oregon in 1868, coming from the Willamett valley into the Crooked River country where wild deer had up to this time held undisputed possession of the ranges.

Shortly after this time he moved his family into this part of the state and settled on the McKay, two and a half miles north of Prineville, which place was known as the Millican Springs ranch for many years.

Continuing in the cattle business, he remained at the McKay ranch until 1886, when he moved into what has since become famous as the Millican Valley country, southwest of George Millican was born in New York 85 years ago and in the year 1851 drove a band of cattle across the plains from Missouri to Sacramento Valley, California, thus earning his way for the trip to the western country.

Until 1862 he was engaged in mining in California and Idaho fields,

Prineville, where Millican Postoffice is now situated, and he is the first man who settled in that vast bunch grass empire.

In addition to the registered Hereford cattle, he raised Clyde and Shire horses and always possessed one or more well-trained stock dogs, which were valuable to anyone handling livestock on the ranges.

He was married to Ada Bradley at Eugene, Oregon, September 23, 1881.

One son, Walter Millican, a merchant of near Eugene, survives him besides the widow.

GREAT INTEREST IN COMING THANKSGIVING SMOKER

The match between the two mat artists, Roy Anderson and James Thores which is booked for the club rooms in this city tonight, is creating much interest among local fans.

Anderson has won two bouts in this city recently and has shown that he has the goods and he has a number of ardent followers in the coming bout.

Thores has proved himself a hard man to down and no doubt will give Anderson something more to do than he has so far experienced in the local bouts. His coming to Prineville is a lucky pick-up by Matchmaker Johnson, as it is not often that men of his caliber are seen outside of the larger cities.

WILL MANAGE CLUB

Roy Anderson, All Around Athlete, To Reside in Prineville

Roy Anderson, wrestler and all-round athlete will be in charge of the local club for the winter and will drill a fast team in basket ball in addition to wrestling and boxing exhibitions.

There will be something doing in local sports this winter, that is sure.

The Amateur Speculator.

Another pathetic little feature of everyday life is the way every fool amateur speculator thinks for a time that he's a conservative investor—Ohio State Journal.

JAMES THORES of Portland, who will wrestle Anderson tonight for $200

LYRIC THEATER, NOVEMBER 28 AND 29