

CLEAN SPARK PLUGS SAVE MANY BATTERIES

"The man who is too busy to clean his spark plugs is shortening the life of his battery." This is the opinion of Mr. Mansfield, the local Willard expert, at the Inland Auto Co. in any garage.

Even though the engine is using magneto ignition the carbon on the spark plugs is putting an easy work on the battery. The engine must be turned over more rapidly in order to get a spark from the magneto and the battery has to do much more work for each start than it would if the plugs were clean.

The motorist who unscrews and cleans his spark plugs every week or two will find that he is able to get his engine turning over in noticeably shorter time.

WHEN IT'S NIGHT TIME

The light time!
It was a wise arrangement in Nature that divided the daytime and the nighttime.

The daytime was meant to be the time for real work, for planting and sowing, plowing and reaping, mucking and selling, all the activities that are necessary to the welfare and the progress of mankind.

Just as truly, the night time was intended for rest, for recreation—for restoring the energies spent in the day's struggles and for gaining new strength and inspiration for the ensuing day.

The nighttime—the evening hour—should be the pleasantest, the happiest time of the whole day. That is the time for most of the social activities, the time when neighbors get together, the time when the common interests of the neighborhood or of the community are considered, the time for everybody to forget to be selfish, to contribute his or her share to the happiness of others and to be happy in consequence, accordingly.

Some people can be happy and contented under almost any surroundings or circumstances, but the thing that does most to bring satisfaction and contentment to the majority of us, at the close of the day, is a comfortable, cheery home.

Right along with that, an abundance of bright light does more than anything else to insure a cheery home. It's hard to be cheerful under a dim, gloomy light, but under the radiant glow of cheerful light, mirth and jollity and good fellowship spring up naturally.

The importance of good light for a home has long been recognized. The continuous demand for a better light has led us up, from the days of the pine knot and tallow dip, past the era of the kerosene lamp and the gas light, until now, in this electric age, electric lights have come to be recognized as the one lighting medium that meets all the requirements for satisfactory home lighting.

They are convenient. Electric lights can be placed anywhere that the wires can be strung. They can be controlled easily and instantly, just by the touch of a button.

They are safe. Safe in any surroundings—where the children play, where the stock or herd must be left alone—where wind or weather makes other lights impracticable—where inflammable or highly combustible material makes open flame lights out of the question.

They are perfectly clean and healthful. They give an abundance of radiant electric light, without any cleaning of lamps or other unpleasant operations and they do not burn precious oxygen from the air, leaving it poisoned and ill-smelling as do open flame lamps.

There are some of the qualities that are causing them to be used more and more, in homes over where to the delight and the boundless satisfaction of all who try to find their chief comfort and enjoyment in the home.

See the Inland Auto Company for a demonstration of the Delco-Light System, which is the best of the systems now on the market for producing electric light and power in the home.

POISONOUS DRINKS CAUSE MANY DEATHS

Many Victims of Wood Alcohol
"Whisky" Reported From Eastern Cities.

New York.—Seventy-six persons have died and scores of others are suffering from paralysis and blindness, due to drinking wood-alcohol "whisky," according to reports received from eight eastern cities and Chicago.

The toll of poisonous liquor was the highest in New England, where 48 deaths have been recorded.

Federal agents arrested five men who they claimed were the heads of an organized band which has been responsible for the recent widespread sale of wood alcohol concoctions through five states. One of the men arrested was described by the government agents as "the kingpin of the ring." Two of the men in custody were described as New York business men.

The arrests were made in widely separated parts of the city. Three of the prisoners arrested are Adolph Panarelli, a wine and liquor dealer; John Romanelli, an undertaker, and Samuel K. Saleeby, a druggist.

In Chicopee, Mass., 33 men and two women died; in Springfield, three men and one woman; Holyoke, six men and in Greenfield, Mass., one man. In Hartford, Conn., 13 persons died. In Thompsonville, Conn., two deaths were reported. Chicago reported eight deaths. Two deaths were announced at Newark, N. J.

DRY MEASURE IS DEFIED

New Jersey Provides Bill for Own Enforcement.

New Brunswick, N. J.—The preamble of the bill authorizing the sale of beer and light wines in New Jersey was made public by State Senator Thomas Brown, who will introduce the measure at the next session of the legislature.

The preamble sets forth that the state of New Jersey has not ratified the eighteenth amendment, doubts that it was passed in a constitutional manner and intends to disregard the Volstead act and pass an enforcement bill which will be supreme within the limits of the state.

Senator Brown said the theory upon which Governor-elect Edwards and his supporters are working is that the eighteenth amendment gives equal power to congress and the states in the enforcement of prohibition and that the congressional enactment applies only where there is no state law in effect.

LABOR TO CONFER ON RAILROAD BILL

Washington.—The attitude of organized railway employees toward the anti-strike provision of the Cummins railroad bill will be formally stated in a declaration of principles to be drafted by the heads of all the brotherhoods at a conference here with President Comptroller of the American Federation of Labor.

Labor leaders declared that "nothing drastic was to be expected," but the general view among organized workers was that the affiliated trades would stand by the railway machinists' union, which voted to quit work if congress enacted the anti-strike legislation. Senators and representatives in Washington expressed the opinion, however, that the house never would accept the bill as it came from the senate and that even if it should pass President Wilson would veto it.

Regardless of what action might be taken by the brotherhoods, the belief prevailed in congressional circles that when senate and house conferees got through with the Cummins and each bills, no vestige of the anti-strike section would remain.
