ALLEGED LIQUOR CACHE NOT KNOWN OF HERE

A story in the Oregonian of yesterday morning to the effect that A. L. Long is being assisted by Federal officers in a search for an alleged cache of 13 cases of stolen liquor in this vicinity is evidently without foundation as local officials have no knowledge of such a party in this vicinity.

The liquor is supposed to have been stolen from some one importing it from California before that state went dry with the other states in the union.

ATTENTION

Pocahontas and Redmen. There will be a joint meeting, Friday, June 11, to meet visiting officers. All are requested to attend.

NOTICE

Anyone knowing themselves to be in possession of Union Oil Co. Iron barrels will please return them to the Ochoco Warehouse Co., as soon as possible.

SHEEP SCABIES ERADICATED

More Than Ten Million Dippings Made by Employees of the Department of Agriculture.

In the work of eradicating sheep scabies from the United States employees of the United States department of agriculture made more than 22 million inspections and supervised more than ten million dippings during the last fiscal year. The work was conducted in co-operation with state officials. No cases of sheep scabies are now known to exist in Montana or North Dakota, in addition to numerous other states where the disease had previously been eradicated. In Idaho a spread of the infection during the previous year has been brought under control. Sheep scabies is a disease that has been prevalent chiefly in the western part of the United States.

KEEPING CATTLE AND SWINE

It Remains to Be Determined What Are Most Common and Best-Paying Propositions.

The keeping of cattle and of swine appear to be almost inseparable operations. This fact is being brought out in the returns of the "Better Sires—Better Stock" crusade of the agricultural colleges, the United States department of agriculture and co-operating agencies. This general practice has long been known, but much more definite information is being gathered, and the purpose is to extend it to such an extent as to determine the relationships among all meat animals.

If nearly every man who keeps cattle also keeps hogs, and if nearly every man who keeps hogs also keeps cattle, the inevitable conclusion is that the combination pays, especially when purebred sires are used. But it remains to be determined what are the most common and the best-paying propositions. The same thing applies also to combinations of cattle and sheep, or swine and sheep, or cattle and sheep and swine. One benefit of the work will be that it will enable the man of small personal experience to avail himself of the wide experience of a great number of men in working out the combinations of meat animals that he will carry on his farm.

ECONOMICAL FEED FOR BEEF

As Silage Becomes Better Known Feeders Will Better Appreciate Its Feeding Value.

There is no doubt but that silage is an economical feed in the beef-cattle ration and as its value becomes better known feeders will better appreciate its merits. In spite of the fact that it is an unbalanced feed itself, it can be fed with one of the highly concentrated feeds, such as oil meal or cottonseed meal, and makes a ration which is surely hard to beat in fattening cattle.

CARE OF EWE IS IMPORTANT

Machine Through Which Lamb Will Obtain Qualities to Enable It to Top Market.

What is done for the lamb is not so important as the care and liberal feeding of the ewe. The ewe must be regarded as the machine through which the lamb will obtain the qualities that will enable it to top the markets.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

It is very essential that ewes should be properly fed.

A self-feeder can be used to excellent advantage for fattening hogs and pigs.

Better live stock plus the breeder with in direct returns and by giving locality a favorable reputation.

In the cold months many farmers will give the stock enough salt. Salt is a vital part of each animal's ration.

BOOKS BRING AID TO SOLDIER SICK

American Library Association Serves Ten Thousand Men in Nation's Hospitals.

EFFORTS BRING RESULTS.

Works on Vocational Training Circulated Among Men Who Must Take Up New Callings Because of Their Injuries.

Hospital library service maintained by the American Library Association during the war was credited with great value in aiding in the recovery of many sick and disabled men.

There are still in our hospitals more than 10,000 former service men. Of these nearly 8,000 are in Public Health Service hospitals, the remainder in civilian hospitals. Books, magazines and newspapers are sent to these men from the American Library Association. In the larger hospitals, containing over 300 patients, special librarians are placed. To the smaller hospitals, through the co-operation of many public libraries, library visitors are sent to visit the wards once or twice a week and learn the book needs of the patients.

A special effort is made to supply to ex-service men in hospitals the books in demand as a result of the training given by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

More Books for Blind.

The A. L. A., in co-operation with other agencies already interested in work for the blind, is printing books in the new Braille type. Because of the newness of the revised Braille adopted for teaching to the American war blind, literature printed in it is limited to fewer than 200 books. Though the total number of blinded soldiers is small, their need of books is great, and the "magic of print" can do much to restore hope and usefulness to them.

Not only for former service men who are sick or disabled is the association working. The value of books proved so great to men in camps that efforts are still being made to connect discharged soldiers and sailors with libraries wherever they may be. Hundreds of letters have reached A. L. A. headquarters from former service men telling of the lack of library facilities in particular localities to which these men have returned.

Direct Service Provided.

In many cases there is a state library commission or a nearby library to which a man can be referred for the books he needs, but if there is no such organization through which he can be served, books for almost any serious purpose may be borrowed directly from the A. L. A. War Service, 24 West Thirty-ninth street, New York city. The only expense in connection with these loans is prepayment of return postage on books borrowed.

The A. L. A. has published lists of books to help ex-service men who are studying to advance themselves in their work. "Five Hundred Business Books," "One Thousand Technical Books" and reading courses on practical subjects are now in preparation.

Other Work Being Done.

Other branches of work which the A. L. A. War Service is carrying on include service to the Merchant Marine, Coast Guard and lighthouses, service to industrial communities which are resultant from the war, service to United States forces overseas. This work is carried on with money received from the United War Work funds, the use of which is limited by the conditions of the gift to these specific purposes.

The service of the Merchant Marine department provides free library service to seamen on American merchant ships in the form of "crews' libraries," bookcase boxes, each containing about 50 books. These libraries are exchangeable at principal ports. Books and magazines are sent also to men in coast guard stations, in lighthouses and on lightships.

Count Tolstoy on Chautauqua Program

It is with no little satisfaction and pride that the West Coast Chautauqua management announces the coming of Count Ilya Tolstoy, son and literary heir of the great Leo Tolstoy.

Born and reared to well advanced manhood in his native country, and having but recently returned from Russia where he made a careful study of political and economic conditions, no man in America is so well informed on present day Russian subjects as Count Ilya Tolstoy, and no other can speak with equal authority. Count Tolstoy has an excellent command of the English language, and his views, which are anti-Bolshevik, have appeared in twelve periodicals, including Century, Harpers, Everybody's, Collier's and Leslie's.

Presenting this lecture feature is a distinct accomplishment and is a striking example of the worth to a community of good Chautauqua service. This great movement has now assumed world significance and is placing within the reach of towns of any size the opportunity of hearing some of the world's greatest.

The third night of the Chautauqua should find a record attendance to do honor to the coming of Count Tolstoy.

Regulating the Concrete Mixer.

The hour glass principle has been employed in an almost automatic concrete mixer in which the ingredients fall through three cone-shaped hoppers in succession and are kneaded together.

Strategy.

The director took the studio violinist to one side. "In the next scene," he whispered, "the star has got to register intense anguish. When that point comes play some old drinking song."—Film Fun.
