GOLDEN CHARTER ISSUED TO GIRL'S CLUB

The Busy Bee Sewing Club of Howard School, District No. 5, is the proud possessor of a Golden Charter, issued by the Department of Agriculture of the United States, O. A. C. Co-operating. This charter is issued in connection with the Boy's and Girl's Club work, which movement has gained so much recognition, and done so much good for the boys and girls all over America.

Under proper supervision, the boys and girls of the United States are learning good citizenship in this work. Their minds are turned to channels of usefulness, and instead of being idle in hours unoccupied by work or school, the learn to be happy and interested in learning the how and why of doing things. In a spirit of friendly rivalry, they gain knowledge of the most up to date methods raising gardens, caring for stock, housework, etc. Their gardens often put those of their parents to shame, and they soon are able to give pointers to others in the best points of cows, hogs, and other animals.

These clubs are especially invaluable to country schools, where there is not much recreation for the younger generation, as they assist in keeping up interest in farm life. There are pig clubs, calf clubs, corn clubs, garden clubs, sheep clubs, canning clubs, sewing clubs, and ever so many other kinds of clubs that can be organized and assisted through O. A. C., and the Department of Agriculture. There should be a club in every rural school.

It takes five members to start a club. The enterprising girls who form a sewing club at the Howard school are, Mabel Cox, Lola Cox, Alice Cox, Elizabeth Lanus and Elizabeth Scott. They received the charter as the result of completing their work 100 per cent strong. In the first charter issued this year in Crook County.

Another club which is also 100 per cent, but whose charter is not yet received, is the Lower Rye Grass School, District No. 2. It is also a sewing club, and the names of the members are, Ethel Grimes, Thelma Grimes, Lee Grimes, Dorothy Christian, Julian Christian, Violet Elliott, Edna Slayton and Addie Slayton.

It is a real achievement to receive a Golden Charter, and these clubs are certainly to be congratulated.

Piercing the Void.

"O' was in a dunnin' camp wanst," said the old Irish prospector, "when wan o' these here intinat science foblers blew in, an' he claimed he end till ye how much money ye had in yer pocket by lookin' in yer eye. He tried it on me, but he jabers. O' had the deadwood on him, fer O' had nothin' in me pocket."—New York Post.

"The Mule."

Being told to write a brief essay on "The Mule," Howard turned into his teacher the following effort: "The mule is a hardier bird than the guse or the turkie. It has two legs to walk with, two more to klick with, and wears its wings on the side of its head. It is stubbornly backward about coming forward."

Fashion Traced to Moreau.

The nick in a coat has been a puzzler to many. It is said to date back to the time of Napoleon. A general named Moreau had many followers but they were afraid to openly express sympathy with him. It was therefore agreed to put a nick on their coats as a secret sign. The letter M can be seen in the lapel representing the initial letter of the general's name.

Paradox.

Matherson surprised his friends at the club one evening by rising to leave much earlier than usual. "Why this haste?" said one of his friends. "The night is still young." "I know," replied Matherson; "but I promised my wife to be home by ten-thirty tonight and if I miss the last train I shall catch it!"

Brother William's Sentiments.

"I makes no doubt but what de we'll come ter a end some time or other," said Brother Williams, "but I ain't one ter pray fer it. I has never yit took flyin' lessons down here, an' anyhow, I never wuz in favor of flyin' too high."—Exchange

McADOO REFUSES TO BE A CANDIDATE

New York.—William G. McAdoo issued a statement in which he refused to permit his name to go before the democratic convention at San Francisco.

McAdoo reiterated that his reason for leaving Washington was that he decided to "rehabilitate his family" and that the time has not come when he can conscientiously give his services to his party. He declared that he cannot afford a presidential campaign, should he be nominated, and that he would not wish his friends to furnish funds.

"This decision," he said, "is irrevocable, as the path of duty seems to me clear and unmistakable."

His decision was made known in a telegram to Jonett Shouse, democratic delegate-at-large from Kansas, who had telegraphed Mr. McAdoo that sentiment throughout the country was rapidly crystallizing in his favor; that his friends would like to have him permit presentation of his name to the convention, and that they were certain he could be nominated and elected.
