Traveling.

To any person who has all his senses about him, a quiet walk along not more than ten or twelve miles of road a day is the most amusing of all traveling; and all traveling becomes dull in exact proportion to its rapidity. Going by railroad I do not consider as traveling at all; it is merely "being sent" to a place, and very little different from bettoming a parcel.—Ruskin.

Laugh.

Build for yourself a strong box. Fashion each part with care; Fit it with hasp and padlock, Put all your troubles there.

Hid therein all your failures, And each bitter cup you quaff, Lock all your heartaches within it, Then—sit on the lid and laugh.

Tell no one of its contents;

Never its secre's share; Drop in your cares and worries,

Keep them forever there, Hid them from sight so completely The world will never dream half. Fasten the top down securely, hen—sit on the lid and laugh.
