Ain't It The Truth?

Two men were hotly discussing the merits of a book. Finally one said to the other, "No, John, you can't appreciate it, you never wrote a book yourself."

"No," retorted John, "and I never laid an egg, but I'm a better judge of an omelet than any hen."

Up In Her Grammar, Too

Professor Brander Mathews detests the purist and pedant. "And," he mourns, "You find them in the most unexpected places. Only recently, at Columbus, I introduced a very brave young airman to a very pretty girl."

He said to her, "do you go in for aviation?"

"Dear me, no," she replied, "One goes in bathing, but one goes up for aviation."

Shifted the Burden

Recently an Oklahoma teacher told all the boys in Jimmie's class they were to get a speech for the closing Friday, absolutely without help from anyone. When Jimmie's time came, he stepped out before a large audience and said:

"No one knows my piece but the Lord and me—" and after looking at the ceiling for a moment, he added: "I believe the Lord is the only one that knows it now."

Father's Ultimatum

The father of a large family was trying hard to read the evening paper.

"What's that terrible racket in the hall, Martha?" he protested.

"One of the children just fell down stairs."

"Well," he replied, turning over another page of the paper, "You tell the children if they can't fall down stairs quietly, they'll have to stop it."

Mr. Rural Hamlet (To ministerial agent)—Do have some more of the corn. Doctor, it came out of our own garden.

Little Buttin Hamlet—Yes n' the chicken came out our own garden, too. Pa says he bet the folks next door would keep their hens at home after he caught a few more of 'em.

Orientations

He was a character who had given the parish much trouble one way and another. The rector meeting him quiet and thoughtful in the street one morning said, "I was very glad to see you at prayer meeting last night, John."

Replied John, "Oh, that's where I was, then."

His Defense

A negro was brought up before a mayor a short time since for stealing chickens.

"Well, Toby," said his honor, "What have you to say for yourself?"

"Nuffin' but dis, boss. I was as crazy, as a bed-bug when I stole dat ar pullet 'coz I might hab stole de big rooster, and I neber done it. Dat shows clusively to my mind dat I was laborin' under de delirium tremendous."

On The Dairy Farm

Watered the horses this morning, Josh?

Yes, sir.

And the chickens?

Yes, sir.

And the cows?

Every one, sir.

And the milk, too; have you looked after that?

Yes, sir. I have watered it, too.

Reciprocity

A venerable Justice sat in the place of honor at a reception. As a young lady of dazzling charms walked past he exclaimed almost involuntarily: "What a beautiful girl."

The young lady overheard the Justice's compliment, turned, and gave him a radiant smile. "What an excellent Judge!" she said.

Last Big Block of the Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands

THIS announces the offering of the last big block of the Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands. Until this block is disposed of, you can secure at low cost a farm home in Western Canada that will make you rich and independent. The country is ideal for mixed farming as well as grain growing. Later, the same lands can be bought only from private owners—and naturally, prices will be higher. Never again on the North American Continent will farm lands be offered at prices so low.

Your Last Big Opportunity

This block contains both fertile open prairie and park lands in the Lloydminster and Battleford Districts of Central Alberta and Saskatchewan. You can buy farm lands on the rich prairies of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta at prices averaging about $15 an acre. Or land in Southern Alberta under an irrigation system of unending water from $20 an acre and up.

20 Years to Earn and to Pay

The Canadian Pacific offers you this land under a plan of long term, easy payments that is remarkable in the history of farm investments. You pay down 10%. Then you have no payment on the principal until the end of the fourth year, then fifteen annual payments. Interest is 5%. In Central Saskatchewan, bumper wheat grew the world's prize wheat. World's prize oats were grown at Lloydminster.

Lands Under Irrigation

In Southern Alberta, the Canadian Pacific Railway has developed the largest individual irrigation undertaking on the American Continent. This district contains some of the best lands in Canada. An unending supply of water is administered under the Canadian Government. Prices range from $10 an acre up, on the same easy payment terms, 1000 acres in improvements. Twenty years to pay back.

No Taxes on Improvements

There's a small tax on the land—sold on more than 200 acres for all purposes but there are no taxes on your live stock, buildings, improvements, implements or personal effects. Good markets, modern schools, roads, churches, amusements, make farm life desirable and attractive. Here you can achieve independence.

No Sale Without Investigation

The Canadian Pacific will not sell you a land until you have inspected it. You must satisfy—and every question answered—before taking up your home. Investigation is invited and made easy. This announcement calls attention to the last great block of Canadian Pacific Reserved Farm Lands.

Small Choice

Pat—Yes, Sorrr, Wur-rk is scarce but Oi got a job last Sunday that got me foive dollars.

Mr. Goodman—"What. You broke the Sabbath?"

Pat (apologetically)—"Well, sorr, 'twas one av us had t' be broke."

That was hard on Slithers.

What. He slipped down on a banana peel and was arrested for giving a street performance without a license.

"What do you want with all those hammocks and phonograph records and fancy groceries?" asked the store keeper. "Going to have summer boarders?"

"No," replied farmer Cornstossel, "I wouldn't waste all them on summer boarders. I'm tryin' to make the place attractive enough to persuade a few farmhands to linger around an' help me out with the wheat crop."—Kansas City Journal.

Father—I hear that Prof. Wiseman, the prophet, declares that the world will come to an end next Christmas day.

Tommy—Before or after dinner, pa?

It Was Time

The sportsman went out for a days shooting. Not being a particularly good shot, the bag was nil, and, as he did not like to return empty-handed, he bought a hare in the town on the way home.

He presented it to his wife, who, after expressing her thanks, thoughtfully remarked:

"It was a good thing you shot that hare when you did, John, it wouldn't have kept another day."

Broke It Gently

Following is an instance of New England phlegm: A raw boned youth came in from the barn, took his customary seat at the kitchen breakfast table, and commenced eating voraciously, without once looking up or around at the mother and sisters who poured his coffee and patiently turned "flapjacks" on the griddle. At length having literally shovelled seven or eight of the huge cakes into himself, he drawled, "Great doin's down to the barn this mornin', Dad done hung hisself."

Friendly Bill

The man I like, Is Bill McGuire; He stops and helps Me change a tire.

Back Again

Tramp (To lady of the house)—I just came back from the front and— Lady (Interrupting)—Indeed, and what success did you have there?

Tramp—None, madam. That's why I came around to the back.

No Paper Surplus In Sight

In a very short time, remarked the Paris profiteer, I shall retire and live on my rents.

What kind of a contract did you get?

Furnishing waste baskets for the League of Nations.—Washington Star.
