OREGON MEN KILLED IN CAMP LEWIS EXPLOSION

Victims Members of Gun Crew Training at Target Range.

Tacoma—Rigid inquiry into the cause of the explosion of a six-inch field gun at the Camp Lewis artillery range, which killed three men and painfully wounded five other members of the Oregon coast artillery, national guard, will be made. The investiga- tion thus far shows that only a poor fuse, a possible flaw in the gun itself, or a flaw in the shell could have caused the fatal accident.

Governor Ben W. Olcott, of Oregon, narrowly missed being injured in the tragedy. Accompanied by Mrs. Olcott and several Camp Lewis officers, the governor had left the gun but a few minutes before the explosion.

The dead were: Corporal Edward G. Scott, 2d com- pany, Oregon coast artillery, Marsh- field, Or.; Corporal Clyde R. Dundinger, 3d company, Oregon coast arti- lery, Marshfield, Or.; Private Ralph Fraley, 1st company, Oregon coast ar- tillery, Ashland, Or. Scott and Fraley were killed instantly. Dundinger lived an hour.

The injured were: Private (first class) Herbert E. Peterson, 2d company, Oregon coast ar- tillery, Marshfield, Or., cut on head and face by steel fragments; Private William J. Blake, 3d company, Oregon coast artillery, Marshfield, Or., cut on arm and shoulder; Mechanic Peter Marrascal, 2d company, Oregon coast artillery, Marshfield, Or., badly stunned by concussion; Private Homer El- hart, 1st company, Oregon coast arti- lery, Ashland, Or., shoulder broken; Wagner Fred Scott, 5th company, coast artillery corps, United States army, foot badly torn; Corporal Roy Campigetto, 5th company, coast ar- tillery corps, United States army, stun- ned.

The rifle was of the 155-millimeter long range field type used by the French, but was manufactured in the United States. It had been fired only 14 times. Thirteen shots were fired last week in trying it out. The 14th shot was fired immediately before the tragedy in the presence of the govern- or, adjutant general and party.

More than 100 requests for repre- sentations at the hearing were received, Chairman Johnson stated. "We ex- pect to spend some time in California visiting various parts of the state," Chairman Johnson said, "and before we are through may continue the in- vestigation in Oregon and Washington. The situation is much more acute than we expected."

FILIPINO LEGISLATORS DEBATE IN ENGLISH

The English language recently was used for the first time in the debates of the Filipino House of Representa- tives.

The fact was noted by the United States Insular Affairs Bureau. The principal speakers were Messrs. Ben- ter, De Guzman and Virata. These members are graduates from the Uni- versity of the Philippines.

English is taught exclusively in the public schools of the Philippines, and it is announced, will continue to be if independence is granted. Accord- ing to an estimate based on the census just completed, seventy per cent of the inhabitants of the Philip- pines over 10 years of age are liter- ate. This is a higher percentage of literacy than that of any South Amer- ican country.

Beautiful Paisley Shawl Achieved Im- mense Popularity, but Only for a Short Time.

The story of the Paisley shawl—a specimen, I hear, has just been pre- sented to Lady Bonham-Carter—forms one of the shortest and most romantic chapters in the modern history of in- dustry, says a writer in the West- minister Gazette. The manufacture of these beautiful things was begun, reached a great height of prosperity and became extinct in the space of a little over eighty years. No Paisley shawl has been woven since 1890, and none is likely ever to leave the looms again. The shawl had its origin in the ambition of the Paisley weavers to produce on the loom the amazingly elaborate patterns, woven by the needle, of the Cashmere shawls that had been sent home from the East by Scottish officers and traders to their women folk.

The Paisley weavers were notable craftsmen, and they produced a shawl which excelled its prototype in beauty of design and richness of color. Their success was the reward of patience, skill, taste and a delicacy of touch which, experts say, has probably never been equaled before or since in the weaving craft. A common price for one of these shawls in the days when they were not a rarity was $100, and they were worn by women of all classes in Scotland except the very poor. Then fashion deemed that the Paisley shawl should no longer be the mode, and its fate was sealed. Queen Victoria gave the dying industry a new, but brief, lease of life when she bought seventeen of the famous shawls and wore one at the baptism of the prince who was to become King Edward.

GOV. COX CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT

Washington.—James M. Cox an- nounced that if elected president he "would endeavor with all my strength to give what President Wilson promised to those who sacrificed in the great war." His statement followed an hour's conference with the president at the White House at which Franklin D. Roosevelt, the democratic vice-presidential nominee, was present. The president in a formal statement, after the conference, declared that he and the governor "were absolutely at one with regard to the great issue of the league of nations" and that the governor was ready to be the "cham- pion in every respect of the honor of the nation and the secure peace of the world."

Asked as to the president's health, Governor Cox replied: "In splendid condition; in most agreeable shape."

Republican Nominee Asks Opponent to Declare Foreign Policy. Marion, O.—A list of particulars de- tailing the foreign policy now proposed by the democratic party was called for by Warren G. Harding, republican nominee for president.

In a broadside of pointed interog- atories, the candidate challenged his democratic opponent, Governor Cox, to say categorically where he stood on Article 10, the Armenian mandate and the other problems wrapped up in American participation in the league of nations.

Senator Harding's statement was written while the Washington confer- ence between President Wilson and Gov. Cox was in progress.
