LOWER FOOD COSTS ARE PREDICTED

Washington. — Marked indications that living prices apparently have started on their long-awaited fall was said by the federal reserve board to be contained in its latest reports. An "important downward tendency" in prices of all commodities except food is evidenced in all parts of the country, the board stated, adding that a sharp reduction in the price of raw products even forecast lower food prices.

In commenting on the price changes the board said that there had been a "pronounced checking" of speculation, as well as a definite, although slight increase in general efficiency and an "equally positive, yet limited, curtailment of extravagant expenditure" and "unnecessary borrowing." There has been also a "sustained tendency" toward the paying of loans secured by government and other bonds and securities.

The board's reports reveal that within the last two months price changes have been marked in all basic raw products, but have been most noticeable in wool, silk and leather. These reductions are said to have been accompanied generally by corresponding drop of prices in the retail field on clothing and shoes and several other staples.
