

CROOK COUNTY WELFARE LEAGUE

Monday night a meeting was called at the Methodist church, all denominations of the city participating, to form the Crook County Welfare League, and the organization was completed Tuesday night.

The purpose of the league is to study the social, moral, economic and educational conditions and problems of Prineville, Crook county and the state of Oregon, and to suggest laws as a result of this study, and to assist in keeping regulations and laws which govern the community.

The league was formed before the election results were known, in order that there would be no feeling that the people of Prineville do not place confidence in the officials that they select. The league has been organized for the purpose of backing up the rules and regulations of the county and state.

Leagues have become universal in all important cities and towns of the United States, and are recognized factors in the improvement of all cities, and there is room for an active league in this county.

There are 20 charter members of the league. All citizens of Prineville and Crook county are eligible to join, but membership is decided by a two thirds vote of the members present at a meeting.

It is expected that the women's clubs of the city and county, and other organizations, will take steps to be well represented in the new work.

CHILDREN HAVE ENJOYABLE PARTY

Katherine Elkins and Margaret Trunkey were joint hostesses at a children's party last Friday evening in the Annex rooms. The affair was in the nature of a halloween party, and each guest came in costume suitable to the occasion.

The rooms were decorated for the evening with streamers of halloween colors, pumpkins and other suitable designs.

Nearly every child of school age in Prineville was present, and also their teachers, and the evening was spent in bobbing for apples and in other games.

Refreshments were served, consisting of punch and cookies, and every boy and girl enjoyed the evening to the utmost.

CATTLE SHIPPED LAST SATURDAY

Three cars of cattle were shipped from the local stock yards last Saturday. J. H. Rutherford of Portland shipped one car, and George Russell, one of Crook county's foremost stockmen, shipped two cars. Both lots were consigned to the Willard Commission Company of Portland.

DRIVE NOW ON FOR THE NURSERY HOME

The Albertina Kerr nursery in Portland is now having a drive to complete the new building. This baby home has about 75 babies in its care, most of them being in the main building in Portland—some are boarded out, and the remainder are in the Louise Home, a home for delinquent girls, about nine miles in the country. The officers of the nursery receive very small remuneration for their time and work and at present some of them are not accepting any pay in order that all money received may be put in the new building. This home is for the state and not for Portland alone. There are babies from Crook county in the home almost all the time, and we owe them our support. At the present time they are badly in need of small quilts for the cribs. Prineville did not help with the finances for the home this year as much as we have done in the past, but we can assist by contributing these small quilts. They need them in two sizes 2 1-2 x 3 feet for the smaller beds and 3x4 feet for the larger ones. If you have anything in this line that can be used please telephone Mrs. Robert Douglas, and the articles will be called for.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE ON NOVEMBER 11

J. E. Myers, county school superintendent has announced that Crook county schools will be dismissed on November 11th, Armistice Day, as the governor has announced that it will be a public holiday.

The teachers can lock up the doors and everybody will be free to celebrate in the manner they think most fitting this anniversary of American freedom.

50,000 BUSHELS OF GRAIN ON OCHOCO PROJECT

More than 50,000 bushels of grain have been threshed on the Ochoco Project during the season just closed, despite the fact that the season has been the shortest in years and the water supply was but one half of normal.

The grain was for the most part blue stem wheat, although fall wheat barley, oats and rye were produced in smaller amounts.

Much of the acreage under the project was in hay crops, which resulted in many thousands of tons of hay, a large part of which is alfalfa. These acres will produce a much heavier return next year, as in most instances the alfalfa, if cut, was being harvested for the first time.

Smith Brothers, who threshed 35,000 bushels of the project crop this year, completing the task this week, say that the quality of the grain has generally been good, although much of it was damaged to some extent by frost.

While a considerable amount of the crop has been sold at prices ranging from 1.50 to 2.35 per bushel for wheat, the greater part of it is yet in the granaries on the farms or being held in the Ochoco Warehouse.

Granaries are filled to capacity, grain is piled in the fields, the sack pile in many instances almost as large as the conical shaped straw stacks that dot the landscape.

Threshermen say that the present crop is ten times as great as the best previous year on record for these lands, which have not been irrigated previously, and that with a full supply next year and an average season the total crop should be many times greater than that of this season.
