"Prince of Wales." The title was first conferred on Prince Edward, afterward King Edward II of England, in 1291. He was born at Carnarvon, Wales, and the story goes that the king presented the new-born child to the Welsh as their native prince who could speak no word of English. The idea of using the title for the heir apparent to the British throne was introduced by Edward III, who in 1343 invested his son, the Black Prince, with the principality. From that time the title has been borne by the eldest son of the reigning king.

Time Calculated by Moons. Among the western Indians time is calculated by moons instead of months. January is called "the Hard Moon," February "the Raccoon Moon," March "Sore-Eye Moon," April "the Moon which Grows Lay Eggs," May "the Planting Moon," June "the Moon when Strawberries are Red," July "the Moon when the Choke Berries Ripen," August "the Harvest Moon," September "the Moon when the Corn and Potatoes are Planted," October "the Moon when the Apples are Planted," and November "the Moon when the Apples are Planted."

Rather, Profit by Them. We should not dwell too deeply on the paw-and-mistake, regrets, and might-have-beens. By so doing the mind grows limp and discouraged.—Exchange.

Received: One Wife. It was the privilege of a factor of the Hudson's Bay company, who did not care for the facilities at hand, to order for himself a wife through the company, which provided all of life's necessities to those of its agents who made proper application. One such transaction is noted in an old receipt book of the company as follows: "Received one wife in fair condition; hope she will prove good, though she is certainly a rum one to look at."—World's Work.
