Under the Federal law, which prescribes seasons on migratory game birds, January 31 was the last day on which wild ducks and geese, coots, gallinules, and Wilson snipe or jacksnipe could be hunted anywhere in the United States. The Federal law provides, however, that the carcasses of birds killed during the open season may be possessed for an additional period of 10 days following the end of the season, provided the State or local laws do not prohibit it. The possession of carcasses of wild ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds in cold-storage plants after February 10 renders the owners subject to prosecution in the Federal courts. The law is administered under the United States Department of Agriculture by the Biological Survey.

LABOR AND AMERICANISM

Hon. Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana defines the relation thus: "Americanism means that every man may work for his living; that every man should work for his living; that every man is entitled to the peaceful enjoyment of the fruits of his toil and that all the strength of our popular, representative government will shield every man in the exercise of those elemental rights."

Thomas A. Edison says:

TRUE VALUE

At this time of generally unsatisfactory buying conditions, it is emphasized to the thoughtful purchaser that the true value of a corset does not lie in the number of dollars you pay for it, but in the number of days it will wear beyond the life of the average corset and continue to give you the joy of possession it gave the first day you put it on.

GROWERS TO GET $1.05 BUSHEL

THE DALLES—Interior flouring mills and grain buyers were advised from Portland today that the best possible price that can be paid to growers for export grades of wheat will not be over $1.05 a bushel.

The new price is $1.25 a bushel for the soft wheats, and the 20 cents difference is absorbed in shipment and other charges.

The rates now being paid for Argentine grain by European buyers are said to be responsible for the new price mentioned in the interior.

Word of the low price offered for interior grain proved a surprise in Portland, as the lowest bid today was $1.45, the highest being $1.60. —Portland Journal.

DAIRY HERD TO BE SOLD

The dairy herd and farm implements of M. E. Landes are to be auctioned off next Thursday afternoon at the ranch, two and one-half miles west and half a mile south of Redmond. This may be a good chance for some of the project farmers to secure some high class dairy cows.

BOARD ALLOWANCE IN FARM WAGES VARY WITH LOCALITY

At what figure does the farmer estimate the cost of board as a part of the compensation of hired labor? Or, does he have any definite knowledge with regard to this? Southern farmers who supply "rations" to their laborers know precisely what the food costs, but the food is prepared for eating and is eaten in the home of the laborer. Elsewhere there seems to be no precision.

Wage rates ascertained by the Bureau of Crop Estimates, United States Department of Agriculture, with board and without board, afford materials for computing what the farmer must, by implication, regard the board of a laborer as being worth, or as costing, whichever the fact may be, as an element of wages.

In hirings by the month, the difference between the rates of wages with board and without board, in the averages of the various groups of states, is least in the South Atlantic states, where a difference of $14.-81 is found for 1920, and, nearly the same is the difference of $15.41 in the south central states, or about 50 cents a day.

Considerably above these allowances are those of the two groups of the north central states, east and west of the Mississippi river, $18.60 and $20.16, respectively. The difference in the North Atlantic states is yet higher and reaches $23.62, while, highest of all, is the allowance in the far western states, $26.-22, which is 77 percent above the lowest allowance found among the several state groups, $14.81 in the south Atlantic states, and is equivalent to 87 cents a day. Allowances to the laborer in addition to money wages, as firewood and milk, may modify these somewhat.
