

The Grand Canyon of the Colorado

Here is an unparalleled spectacle—a sight never to be forgotten—one of nature's most stupendous wonders.

The Grand Canyon is about 250 miles long—with a width at the top varying from 5 to 12 miles. At some places it descends to a depth of a mile below the plateau surface. Its best effect, as revealed by extreme depth and brilliancy of coloring, is from a point opposite the Kaibab Plateau—about 65 miles northwest of Flagstaff, Arizona.

Motor roads lead to the Grand Canyon through Ashfork, Williams and Flagstaff, Arizona—and all the way you can get "Red Crown," the all-refinery gasoline.

You'll be glad if you make your Grand Canyon trip a "Red Crown" trip.

Look for the "Red Crown" sign on service stations and garages.

The Elkins Motor Sales have added a new and novel line to their already complete stock of auto accessories. It is a neat little rincus which keeps the sun from the driver's eyes and also wards off the rain from the wind shield. It is about the cutest little hickadoodle that it has been our good fortune to see in a long time, and one which young growing animals. It is during the growing period that it is possible to bring out the best there is in it. If neglected or underfed during that critical period it cannot be overcome and the value has been always much easier to sell an animal, if it is in good condition rather than thin. For young calves a good legume hay, either alfalfa, clover or vetch together with oats or ground barley, will assist very materially in bone development.

For young pigs, feed a grain mixture running fairly high in protein. Skim milk is of great assistance. Provide a creep where the pigs can get this feed without being disturbed. For a proper grain mixture consult the county agent and get his assistance in balancing the feed you have available.

The big thought in livestock production is to get the greatest efficiency in animal development at the lowest cost. In determining these factors always take into consideration the home grown feeds and use them as much as it is advisable in making up the ration. Benton county farmers recently imported hay from Malheur county. It cost them $27.00 per ton. Malheur county farmers received $8.00 per ton in the stack. Moral is the hay should be fed where it is grown.

Better sires mean greater efficiency in production of meat, wool or milk.

A Series of Human Interest Talks on Insurance

T. L. QUINN
DIST. MGR. PRINEVILLE, ORE.

"FULLY INSURED"

The excuse often given for not taking out insurance is this, "I am fully insured."

And yet, when protection is badly needed—when insurance could save off business disaster or make profitable expansion possible, thousands of men find that they are not "fully insured."

When the merchant finds the store on fire with a small amount of fire insurance—it's too late to get "fully insured."

When the doctor says "too bad you didn't apply for life insurance sooner"—it's too late to get full protection for your family.

With our large line of policies I am able to make proper recommendation for your case.

Think it over and talk with
