The Blue Mountain Oil & Gas Co., is a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Oregon its main office being at Portland, Oregon.

Holdings.

The Company owns oil leases on approximately 200,000 acres of land in Grant and Crook Counties, State of Oregon, the Western border of which lies about 40 miles east of Prineville; the main portion is between the North and South forks of the Crooked river. It is bisected by a number of wagon and automobile roads, the principal one being the Willamette Valley and Cascade Mountain Military Road, that crosses the State in an Easterly and Westerly direction. Several post offices are located on the tract, among which are Post, Paulina and Suplee.

Chico Sea.

Geologists know that this territory was once the bed of an ancient sea which extended from Canada to Mexico and was confined between the Rocky Mountains and a range nearer the Pacific Coast. The California fields lie in this old sea bed. The climate was tropical and the profusion of fossils from marine, vegetable and animal life bear out this assertion.

The presence of these old fossil beds grahamite proving oil seepage, the typical geological formations and structures present in all oil fields and necessary for accumulation of oil, together with other equally infallible indications, combined with experience of other fields, prove that there should be a commercial quantity of high grade oil.

An experienced oil man devoted over a year at his own expense, to a most thorough and careful examination of this locality, making it his place of residence during that period. His report corroborated by other equally reliable and convincing evidence, resulted in the formation of The Blue Mountain Oil & Gas Company.

During this survey many perfect samples of fossil deposits of marine, flora and fauna were obtained and are now on exhibition in the company's of-ice, suite 724 Morgan Bldg. The public is urged to view them as they are both interesting and instructive.

Directorate.

The Board of Directors of the Blue Mountain Oil & Gas Co., is composed of well known Portland business men; their reputation for integrity and business ability is unquestioned. The reliability of the Company is thus established through their association with its directors. You are assured that your money will be handled economically and in your interests; when dividends accrue you will get them. The directors ask no remuneration for their services in that capacity, other than dividends on the stock which they hold. They are sincere in their desire to prosecute a successful drilling campaign and to develop the oil resources of Oregon.

Plans.

The Blue Mountain Oil & Gas Co., intends to drill its holdings in this tract as speedily as is consistent with good business. These operations will be close at hand and open to personal inspection.

People are daily investing money in oil propositions from one to three thousand miles distant; property they have never seen and in all probability never will have an opportunity to investigate personally; humanity is preverse in thinking that the greatest treasures of the Earth are found only in distant places, and generally, by strangers. Thousands of dollars are sent out of Oregon each year in oil speculation and for the purchase of fuel oil and gasoline. With every necessary indication of the presence of high grade oil in commercial quantities proven, is it not wiser to make your investments in a bona fide home company that is preparing to develop the oil resources of Oregon than to search for the Golden Fleece of foreign territory? The demand for oil is increasing by leaps and bounds; fear is expressed that the year 1921 will see another shortage of gasoline and that this shortage will be an annual and lengthened occurrence. The supply is inadequate to meet this growing demand and nearly every month shows a decrease of reserve stock. There is no problem in the disposal of oil; buyers are always waiting and anxious to take it from the producer.

Opportunity

Many people have made and are making fortunes in oil, frequently thru a single small investment. The desire to do likewise is universal but knowledge that a reasonable chance to strike oil exists is essential before investing. The directors of the Blue Mountain Oil & Gas Co., tell you that they believe the chances for getting oil on these holdings are excellent or they would not be connected with the Company. They promise that when dividends are ready for distribution they will be received by every unit holder in proportion to the number of units held.

Only a sufficient number of units will be sold to finance the development of these holdings; if oil is found the sale of units will cease and all who have been dilatory or hesitant as to early investment will have lost their opportunity to better themselves financially and to assist in the development of Oregon oil fields.

Chance

An element of chance exists in every business venture—SURE THING fortunes to be made on small investment DO NOT EXIST. The Directors are firmly convinced that the chances of success in this venture greatly exceed those of failure.

Units

Undivided five-acre units will be sold as rapidly as legitimate methods will permit; therefore it will be necessary to act promptly. There will be no favoritism in this sale and subscriptions will be filled in the order in which they are received. We do not desire you to put in your money without most careful thought and consideration, but do urge you to keep constantly in your minds what the positive indications of oil on this land means to those financially interested as well as to the State of Oregon.
