LOCAL HAPPENINGS

street car track, making a double track to Portland, is progressing rap-dily.

Mr. Scott, local manager of the St.
Johns Water and Light Company, states that the company proposes erecting a larger reservoir next spring. The present tanks, while large enough to meet the present demand, will be entirely inadequate to meet the rapidly increasing demand.

St. Johns occupies one of the healthful locations on the Coast, and does not present at a very engaging outlook for doctors, yet four have located here, and others are looking the ground over seeking locations.

The wire for conducting electric power to Johns' flourishing mill, on the water front, is being stretched. Power for other purposes will be available as soon as the line is completed.

E. A. Wilson, the jeweler who just located in St. Johns, although a young man, is an expert. He has fitted himself for his trade, and is devoted to it. He knows how to do things and does what many older and more experienced men on his line do not attempt, making him master of his trade, which gives him a solid foundation to build on. He manufactures most of his tools, which are mar-vels of their kind. You would be really interested to examine some of the intricate and delicate mechanical instruments he has turned out. Mr. Wilson will be sure to become famous in his chosen work.

"NO HAT" CRUSADE

English Physical Culturists Would Abolish Headgear Altogether.

At the meeting of the Leeds physical materialists the other day, in England, the chairman, Mr. Harry Kemmott, an engineer by profession, brought forward his proposal regard-ning the "no hat" crusade. He held that the whole idea of a protective hat was purely from a hygienic point of view and believed strongly that the continued use of headgear with little or no ventilation was instrutmental to the growth of the hair, says the London Telegraph. It was also true in regard to its public thoroughfares. It is urged upon the council the condition of this development. Especi-
