BETTER SAVE THIS.

All states contain towns bearing odd names—and Oregon is not an exception. The following brief article contains the names of nearly one hundred and fifty to be easily found on the map:

It was a Dusty day in Lost Valley when a Tallman named Eugene Greenleaf (sometimes called Greenhorn) wandered along the Trail. Had his shoes been of Asbestos, the Lava and the Deadwood, over a Pyramid of which he had travelled for Eightmiles, would have seemed less like a Bakoven; but the Warming Spring had removed every Dewey Dot from the Lee. He had intended to take the Steamboat going down New Pinecreek to the Seaside, thence to the Seal Rock which lay at Cannon Beach near the Harbor—but figured he was not Sucker enough to tackle a Muddy stream where even a Beaver would turn Fossil. Crossing a small bit of Prairie he reached a Cottage Grove, where he proceeded to lunch. A Sinker and a bit of White Salmon formed his repast, and, as he ate, he saw Bear, Panther, Antelope, and Coyote near to him—but gave no Chase. Lazily a Crow flapped his wings above an Apiary—but a Mule at a Haystack did not Shirk his duty.

And then he dreamed. He saw the Snow upon the Klondyke hills as in a Looking-glass; and then beneath the Juniper and Tamarack trees he saw Florence, and Minnie and Isabel and Mabel: he saw their Sisters, Ada, Irma, Dora and Alma. Then he noted the girl of his Promise, Beulah—stately as Minerva; he had met her in Switzerland but her Rural and Remote home had been Denmark. Upon her hand was his Diamond ring; upon her head was the Bridal Veil; with her was her sister, little Elsie—and he half awoke from his Paradise and Kist her, but the Sublimity had touched him.

Then in the Woods where the Wren flew from the Ash and the Oak to the Tiptop of the Spruce; where the Grizzly and the Fox slept beneath the Laurel; where the Gopher burrowed in a Mound over which the Pine stood in the Mist of June and the Grouse would Glide through Willows whose Roots sought dampness in the Stone; then it was he saw John Day Push Rufus down among the Granite in the Glen. There was nothing to Express where the Cove had gotten his Budge—and through the Dell there sounded only the Peel of the Pedee and the Pelican. The Mar-mot paused Halfway towards Free water under his Garden Home; he was a Granger, and, although his Prospect was not in the Vale of Sunnyside, it was above Tidewater in the Valley.

And now the Vesper of the Holly seemed to take the dreamer to the Empire of Palestine—to the Orient where the King was Wise, and where the Crane—the Acme of Enterprise—would Berry a Fish-hawk till its Fish-wock Echo Tennis—and the Goodberry its Box in the Blue River and then Shake with Mirth till he could Sellwood at any Price.

"Great Monument!" he ejaculated as he awoke. "I know I am needy; that I have neither Pearl, Garnet or Ruby; yet my life, full of Bohemia, is all Kiddles. I have no Talent to be an Humorist and I'm going now to my Sweet Home; but I would like to know what makes that Rooster Cock!"

NOT HIGH.

VISITORS to the Portland fair are considerably astonished at the low rates charged by all legitimate hotels and restaurants. There seems to be no place where a hold-up figure is charged; lunches and meals cost from ten cents to as high as one cares to pay—but only as high as they were before the fair started: while rooms can be obtained as low as 50c—and good rooms, too. There will be some money lost this summer by many who had figured that any old price went—and who were too lavish in fitting up temporary resorts; but the visitors, as a general thing, will be pleased with the treatment they receive.

WELL, WELL!

IN Colorado the Sunday schools have urged that no railways run trains on Sunday; so that mails and perishable freight would be injured and people in large cities would be without milk on Monday till about noon! This plan is urged because no work should be done on God's day; yet the bible distinctly commands "Set not one day above another, for all days are equal in the sight of God."

A FACT.

IT is asserted that conditions are so healthy in Saint Johns that if it wasn't for prohibition there'd be no need of drugstores.

A TALK BET.

THERE are many methods of procuring free advertising. One way is to tramp across the continent pushing a wheelbarrow, with "a vast fortune awaiting the lucky man" if he beats his way on time. In Portland it is to run for office, get connected with a sewer proposition or make a bet.

Two Californians have made a little bet (on wind) as to population. One wagers that in 1925 San Francisco will have a population of one million—and the enormous sum of $200 is in the deal. If both critters are alive at that date, and they do not forget all about it, and both have the money, and nothing serious happens, why, the wager may prove a real thing. The bet is between a couple of dagos—and "in the paper"—so it must be a real thing.

It is considerably like a bet reputed to have been made many years ago back east. Two men secured each a suit of clothes agreeing that the one who should lose a certain wager must pay the tailor for the two suits. The tailor agreed, delivered the goods, and waited. Each time he mentioned the payment the reply was made that "the bet hadn't been decided yet." A year later he was worried—and asked what the bet was on.

"Why, I'll tell you," replied the sport. "You see, William bet that when Bunker Hill monument falls it will fall toward the south. I don't believe it; and I'm willing to bet another suit it will topple toward the north!"

SAID GOOD WORDS.

AT the recent meeting of the city council when the proposition to publish all ordinances in THE REVIEW was brought up, Councilman Peterson spoke a good word for this paper. He said:

"THE REVIEW is the proper paper to publish such things—and everyone can see the notices and the ordinances the council enacts. It's a good paper, too; it's worth more than the dollar that is asked for it. If a fellow can't afford to take it for that price he doesn't need to know about the ordinances!" Amen and Amen!

Makes Affidavit.

"Dick" Shepard, with a brand new $12 fish pole, left a week ago for the home of the elusive trout. His companions yesterday forwarded the following affidavit to THE REVIEW, which proves Richard is holding his own with the rest of the crowd:

Whereas, One Richard Shepard of the city of St. Johns, State of Oregon, has in his possession one fish, said to be of the trout species, and weighing three pounds, and

Whereas, The said Richard Shepard claims to have caught the same in the Washington river, State of Washington, and

Whereas, The river is thronged with fishermen, "pot" and otherwise; and

ALMOST HERE.

The Time is Close For the School Election.

Next Monday, June 19, is the date set for the school election in Saint Johns—and the vote for or against the issue of bonds will be taken on that day. That the condition of affairs may be understood THE REVIEW has devoted several columns of matter and now closes the affair.

It is the desire of many to issue bonds to the amount of ten thousand dollars for the improvement of the school building. As close as estimated this sum will place this district in nice shape—yet it will give no more room than is absolutely needed. This matter, we believe, is fully understood; but people desire to know about the payment of these bonds.

The assessed valuations of this school district for the three years last past are as below:

1902	$182,468 00
1903	304,901 00
1904	419,580 00

The probable valuation for 1905 will be not less than $550,000. This is merely estimated, but we believe it is about correct. A three-mil special levy on that amount will raise $1650; this will pay off one thousand dollars of the debt and pay all interest. A levy of that size will not be felt; it means that the man who pays upon a property assessed at $1000 will merely pay $3 as his share. And the man able to pay on that assessment will not feel the small extra amount.

The voting on bonds will be held on Monday next between the hours of 3:30 and 7:30 p. m. The matter should be carefully considered and every voter and taxpayer should be present. It is not right to remain away—and then criticize the board unjustly for what could have been altered. It should be borne in mind that each year as the values increase the levy will decrease; will be more divided; will be less felt.

This paper favors the bond issue because it is the only way out—and will be divided between more people each year who will derive benefits from the expenditure.

At the close of the voting for bonds, at eight o'clock, the annual school meeting will be held. There seems to be no one who cares to act as director to succeed Mr. Poff, and, although he thinks he has had enough in his, it is very likely that it will be forced upon him.

Close hunting fails to find a man who cares to run for the office. It is almost impossible to find Mr. Poff, and while it is possible he might be induced to succeed himself it is a fact that he is not after it.

The office is a thankless one—and he who takes it must be a careful, prudent, unbiased man. The matter should be discussed—and the question carefully considered.

Our Local Grist

Mrs. I. W. Suitter has been badly under the weather for the past week.

Sip your soda at the Saint Johns Pharmacy.

Mrs. Jane Seeley of Mount Scott has been the guest of her brother-in-law—J. H. Crook.

N. O. Isaacson is securing estimates for a new story and a half cottage he is about to build.

R. A. Shepard has just returned from a week's trip to "catch some fish." No startling report as yet has been made public.

The dog poisoner is getting in some work. The pet animal of W. L. Bullis was poisoned on Tuesday, but hard work brought him again on his feet.

"Children's Day" program will be rendered at the Evangelical church on the last Sunday of June at 11 a. m. It has been necessary to change the hour from the evening to the morning on account of the evangelistic service at the tabernacle.

If we haven't what you want, who has? If our prices are not right, whose are? That's what we want to know. Saint Johns Pharmacy.

Mrs. Frank A. Smith is anticipating the arrival of her sister, Miss Lillian Peterson, the latter part of this week. Miss Peterson comes from Marshfield, Oregon—where she has been engaged as nurse in the hospital conducted by the Beaver Hill Coal Company.

All Next Week.

A very deep interest is being manifested in the revival meetings under the leadership of Evangelist McComb. At the first meeting Sunday evening the tabernacle was filled to overflowing and many remained around the outside unable to gain admission. All through the week the attendance has been good. The singing by Mr. Elliott is very much enjoyed by everyone. We are pleased to note the spirit of unity among all the churches. All take an active part in the meetings both in the singing and personal work.

A number have signed cards and taken a definite stand for Christ. The meetings will continue all next week.

Wanted.

Two or three girls to learn weaving. Apply at Portland Woolen Mills, St. Johns.

After J. Henry Smith has had all sorts of trouble in getting his name fixed to suit him so there were no duplicates here in the town, along comes another J. Henry Smith, from Iowa. At once J. W. Peddicord sells him a lot near Paschal Hill's home—and a new house will at once go up. We are anxious to see J. Henry Smith and J. Henry Smith scrap over the J. Henry Smith question.

ORDINANCE NO. 45

An Ordinance to Prevent Certain Animals from Running at Large and Providing for the Impounding and Sale of the Same, and the Appointment of a Poundmaster, and Fixing His Compensation.

The City of St. Johns does ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. No horses, mules, cattle, sheep, swine, goats, chickens, geese or ducks shall be allowed to run at large or to be herded in any of the streets, alleys, parks, uninclosed private grounds or public places in the City of St. Johns during any of the hours of the day or night except when being driven through for shipment or other purpose.

No horses, mules, cattle, sheep, swine or goats shall be allowed to stand in any place mentioned above without being attended by a person capable of controlling such animal, or such animal being securely fastened with a rope.

No horses, mules, cattle, sheep, swine, or goats shall be led along the streets, alleys, parks, uninclosed private grounds or public places in the City of St. Johns, except by a person capable of controlling such animal.

No animals mentioned in this section shall be allowed to go upon or stand upon any sidewalk or park in the City of St. Johns; no animal shall be staked or fastened on uninclosed grounds in such a manner that such animal can reach the sidewalks bordering such grounds.

SECTION 2. Any of the animals described in section 1 of this Ordinance found acting contrary to the terms of this Ordinance may be taken up by any police officer or by any person and delivered to the Poundmaster and impounded in a pound or inclosure; such animal shall be provided with proper care, food and water while so impounded.

SECTION 3. The Poundmaster shall, upon the taking up of any animal described in Section 1 of this Ordinance, give notice thereof within two days by causing a notice particularly describing such animal or animals, to be published for five days in the newspaper doing the city printing, stating that unless the owner or other persons having any interest therein shall claim possession of the same and pay all costs and charges of the keeping and advertising thereof, together with the fees hereinafter provided for, said animal or animals will be sold at public auction to pay such fees and charges. Such notice shall also designate the place and time of such sale, which shall not be more than one day after the date of the final publication of the notice herein provided for, unless such day shall fall on Sunday or a nonjudicial day, in which case said sale shall take place on the following day. The said Poundmaster shall also post in at least three conspicuous places, one of which shall be in the vicinity of the place where the impounded animals were taken up, copies of the notice provided for in this section.

SECTION 4. If no person appears within the time specified in the notice provided for in section 3 of this Ordinance to claim possession and pay the fees, costs and charges for taking and keeping such impounded animals, or show cause why the same should not be sold, the animal or animals as provided in section 3 of this Ordinance, provided, that in case a sum be not bid at such sale sufficient to pay the cost and charges for the taking up, keeping, and advertising such animal or animals, the Poundmaster may day to day for not more than three days. Any person having an interest in any such impounded animal or animal claiming to be aggrieved at the action or decision of said Poundmaster, may, within the time specified in the notice provided for in section 3 of this Ordinance, appeal to the Council by filing a statement of his grounds of appeal in the office of the City Recorder. Thereupon the Recorder shall notify the Poundmaster of such appeal, and the sale of such animal or animals shall be postponed until such appeal shall be heard and determined by said Council.

The Poundmaster shall keep a true and correct record and description of the animals taken into his custody, with the date of their receipt and the date and manner of their disposal, with the fees and charges collected on account of such animals, which fees and charges he shall pay to the City Treasurer once each month. He shall also keep conspicuously posted at the entrance of the city pound a description of all animals other than dogs detained therein.

SECTION 5. The Poundmaster shall at the time named in such notice or time to which such sale shall be postponed, as provided in section 4 of this Ordinance, sell such animal so taken up and impounded at public outcry to the highest bidder for cash, and shall forthwith pay the proceeds of such sale to the City Treasurer, taking duplicate receipts therefor, one of which shall be filed with the City Recorder. If the owner or owners of any animal sold under the provisions of this Ordinance shall at any time within one year from the date of such sale make satisfactory proof of his or their ownership to the Council, he or they shall be entitled to receive the amount, if anything, remaining out of the proceeds of such sale after paying all fees, costs, and charges of taking, impounding, advertising and selling such animal or if such owner or owners or the person or persons entitled to the possession of any such animal shall claim the same before the sale thereof, and shall pay to the Poundmaster the fee, costs, and charges of taking, impounding, keeping and advertising the same, he or they shall thereupon be entitled to take possession of the same.

SECTION 6. The owner or person having charge or control of any animal named in section 1 of this Ordinance who shall permit or allow any of said animals to act contrary to the terms of this Ordinance shall, on conviction thereof before the Recorder of the said City of St. Johns, pay a fine of not to exceed five dollars ($5.00), for each offense.

SECTION 7. The public pound shall be such convenient place within the limits of the City of St. Johns as shall be designated by the Council by resolution at a regular meeting thereof, and all animals taken up under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall be impounded therein.

SECTION 8. The building or enclosure within which any animal named or described in this Ordinance is confined or kept shall be kept properly cleaned and free from stench by the keeper thereof, under a penalty of not less than five nor more than fifty dollars for each offense, upon conviction before the City Recorder.

SECTION 9. The Poundmaster, besides the cost of keeping, advertising and selling such animals taken up under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall tax, collect and pay into the city treasury as fees for taking up the same, before the same is taken from his custody, the sum of two dollars each for cows, horses and mules; one dollar each for sheep, swine and goats; and twenty-five cents each for fowls.

SECTION 10. The Poundmaster shall be the Chief of Police of said City of St. Johns. It shall be the duty of the Poundmaster to attend strictly to the enforcement of the provisions of this Ordinance, and to cause the arrest and conviction of all persons violating the same; to enforce the provisions of the Ordinance to provide for taxing and killing dogs, and to perform such other duties as may be required by the Council.

SECTION 11. Any person or persons who shall resist, hinder, molest or interfere with the Poundmaster, his deputies or other person who may be engaged in seizing or taking up, in conformity with this Ordinance, any animals or fowls described in section 1 of this Ordinance, or who shall attempt to take from the possession or control of the Poundmaster, his deputies or other person, any animals or fowls seized or taken up by such Poundmaster, his deputies or other person in conformity with the provisions of this Ordinance, or who shall by any means whomever aid or assist any person to take from the possession or control of the Poundmaster, his deputies or other person, shall, on conviction before the municipal court of the City of St. Johns, be fined not to exceed one hundred dollars, or shall be imprisoned not less than ten nor more than thirty days, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SECTION 12. This Ordinance shall take effect and be in force on and after the first day of August, 1905.

Passed the Council June 7, 1905.
Approved, June 7, 1905.

In our report of the city council the name of one of the speakers appears as Aronson. This was noticed too late to change before printing. The name should have been N. O. Isaacson. The blunder is almost inexcusable.
