PORTSMOUTH and UNIVERSITY

Chicken pox is prevalent on the peninsula.

P. Swan is building a fine, large residence on Portsmouth avenue.

P. P. Collier has returned to Pendleton after spending the winter here.

Professor Tillman, formerly of Portland the University, is visiting Mrs. Hines.

Hans Scharowsky and Harry Goetz are visiting Mrs. M. Brenner. They are from San Francisco.

E. L. Pitchoot and wife, of Seio, Linn county, are visiting S. M. Flemer and wife, of Point View.

The K. O. T. M. Tent 82 will meet Monday, July 3, instead of Tuesday. N. A. Gee is the Commander.

Nate Peterson is here from the Sound, and has engaged apartments for his family, who are expected the latter part of the week.

C. W. Foster, an old Portsmouth boy, who is now a merchant at Prineville, Oregon, was visiting friends here last Saturday.

The Misses Jessie and Nettie Bear, have returned from the Monmouth Normal school—where they both graduated this spring.

Rev. A. C. Fairchilds, who formerly lived on Fifth street, has bought some lots near Dr. Webster's place. Mr. Fairchilds sold to Rev. Lenord.

The Methodist church is being enlarged and will soon be ready for the roof. The building, repairs and furniture will cost over three thousand dollars.

J. N. DeVaul and family, of Garden Grove, California, are visiting his brother, Dr. Oscar DeVaul. They expect to stay two or three weeks.

Marietta Rebekah lodge met last Tuesday night and initiated eight candidates. The second degree was worked by a large audience—ice cream, cake, candy!

Mrs. W. S. Robinson and daughter, Beatrice, expect to leave for Seaside very soon. Mrs. Robinson is having a nice cottage built right by the roaring waves.

Mrs. Thomas VanSoy, wife of the former president of Portland University, is visiting her numerous friends in University Park this week. She lives in Eugene now.

Miss Jennie Lundegren is here from Tacoma, and thinks the Park a delightful place. She intends staying for the summer, and her sisters will join her for a visit to the fair.

Dr. Eshelman, formerly Supreme Artisan, of Portsmouth, visited Mesdames R. E. and J. F. Haworth. The Doctor was Mrs. Haworth's family physician at The Dalles.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cummings, who have lately returned from Myrtle Point, Oregon, are thinking of selling their house on Portsmouth avenue. Mr. Cummings is going to be a reader of THE REVIEW.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McArthur, lately of Pendleton, recently bought the old Francis McKenna house at 1539 Portsmouth avenue, and will be at home after this fall. He is now at his ranch near Pendleton.

Tuesday, the glorious day of American history, will see hundreds of visitors to the Park. Don't fail to give them a friendly nod, and, if possible, have them take a walk along the bluff and view our magnificent scenery.

The Hughes Brothers are building a fine board walk along Fiske street for a distance of fifty feet and R. E. Haworth is extending it on both sides of the street. There will be over 2500 feet of nice walk completed very soon.

Mrs. Eva Jenison, on Amherst street, is the proprietor of one of the nicest boarding and rooming houses in the vicinity and one should consider it a favor to obtain accommodations there. As she has room for only two more, the first come will be the first served.

The officials should look after loose boys who are entering people's yards to do mischief. Mrs. F. Merrill and Mrs. Bowen report that boys have been especially bothersome around there of late, and they threaten to bring legal proceedings if the culprits do not desist.

Five years ago James Mallet came to Oregon and two years ago located in Portsmouth, where he bought five acres of uncleared land. Now he has his place cleared, a house built by and for himself, a garden, small fruit and flowers. His early potatoes brought him a good price, and, although he is over seventy years of age, he declares he'll never again live among Missouri cyclones.

Some time ago an item appeared in THE REVIEW, stating that a bakery was needed in University. Mr. Sibray, the University agent for F. I. McKenna, says that soon after that he was swamped with mail from all over the country asking about University and how far it was from Saint Johns. Some letters came from as far east as Cincinnati and New York. Who says THE REVIEW is not read some?

Mr. Scarritt, the book-keeper for the Acme Mills, recently bought 14 lots of Captain D. Buchanan, between Fisk and Haven streets.

Disciples of Isaac Walton in this vicinity would like to know where all the black bass have gone. As yet they have been few and far between.

The Epworth League of the Methodist church is to have an excursion to Linnton on the Fourth. There will be over a hundred guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Whiteley and Mr. Bruns have left the Park for North Bend, where a job is under way. The expect to return in two months.

Mr. Kelley, wife and family are, down from Hoquiam, Wash. The gentleman is a expert shingle weaver, and has a good sit at the University shingle mill.

Mrs. Hackett, who came down from Hoquiam, Wash., to visit her family for a few days, has left for her home, where she intends selling her property and buying in University Park.

George Churchill, working at the Peninsula mill, met with a slight accident, which developed into blood poisoning, compelling him to lay off for some time. He is now rapidly improving.

W. H. Cummings, who formerly was the proprietor of the Idaho Hotel at 631 Hood street, has moved to the Park and says that it is the best part of Oregon. He has bought a house and lot from Matthew Barron. He will be a reader of THE REVIEW.

Miss Lillian B. Clark and Mrs. Emily P. Belding, of Clinton, Iowa, are visiting J. K. Temple and wife at "Temple Lodge" on Fiske street. They are going to visit the fair and Seaside, Seattle, Thurflow Island, Vancouver and elsewhere—starting about the last of July.

A Daring Robbery.

Last Monday night about half past eight o'clock the residence of Mr. Samuels, on the Boulevard near Fiske street, was entered through the back door, and a valuable watch and chain taken from the wall where they were hanging.

It was one of the most daring robberies in the history of the Park, from the fact that it was a moonlight night and some of the family were in the yard at the time. The robber must have been hanging around for some time previous to entering the house, for it was not more than five minutes after the watch had been taken down and looked at by a member of the family that the sneak entered the kitchen, took the watch and chain and made his escape.

Mr. Samuels' son Willie heard the man walk out and through the alley, and thought it might have been his uncle, who was a visitor that evening. He went in to inquire, and found that his uncle had left some time before. Turning to the wall where the watch had been hanging, it was not to be found, and a hasty search in and around the yard was in vain. The police department was notified, but Mr. Samuels has little hope of ever again seeing the stolen valuables. He especially mourns the loss of the chain, which was a gift from his mother.

This is the most daring of many petty robberies that have been going on of late, and it has put many of our residents on the alert to protect their homes. Seeing that there is no use asking for police protection six shooters are filled and kept in convenient places, and one of these days a tragedy will be enacted.

A GREAT ENGINEER'S TASK.

John F. Wallace and His Problems as Isthmian Canal Engineer.

John Findley Wallace, chief engineer of the Panama canal, is fifty-two years of age and in the prime of his physical and mental powers. But the prospects are he will be an old man before the great engineering project of which he is in charge reaches its finishing stage. Mr. Wallace is accustomed to handling big engineering propositions. During his connection with the Illinois Central railroad as chief engineer and afterward as general manager that railroad was almost entirely rebuilt.

While the congressional committee on interstate and foreign commerce was on the isthmus recently in company with Judge Taft, Engineer Wallace explained to members of the committee the results of the study he has thus far given the canal problems. He presented estimates of the cost of the work and the time required for its construction according to four different plans. According to the plan which Engineer Wallace appeared to favor most, that of a sea level canal, it will cost $300,000,000 and require twenty years for construction, though it could be open for traffic in fifteen years' time. There are many advantages in favor of a sea level canal. It is urged that, though more expensive to construct, it would be more economical of operation when completed. For a ninety foot level canal the estimated cost is $200,000,000. Between these extremes are the propositions for sixty foot and thirty foot levels, costing respectively $225,000,000 and $250,000,000.

Already over 8,000 men are at work on the isthmus under the direction of the canal commission. Of these over 2,000 are laborers who receive 15 cents a silver an hour.

PAST MASTER OF POLITICS.

Senator Mitchell of Oregon and the Charges Against Him.

United States Senator John H. Mitchell of Oregon declares that he does not fear investigation into the charges which have been made against him in connection with land fraud cases now under the searchlight in his state. He attributes the charges to the personal animosity toward him of Secretary Hitchcock of the interior department and says he will face his detractors and prove his innocence.

The Oregon senator is a veteran politician. He was born in Pennsylvania in 1835, was educated in the public schools and studied law, beginning his practice in Pennsylvania, but removing to California. From California he removed in 1860 to Oregon. He was sent to the Oregon legislature in 1862 and in 1865 came near being elected to the United States senate, being defeated in the caucus by only one vote.

He was successful in his aspirations to the senate in 1872, when he was elected to succeed Henry W. Corbett, taking his seat in March, 1873, and serving until 1879, when he retired in favor of the late J. N. Dolph. He was chosen for another term in 1885 and in 1891 was re-elected for a third six-year term. In 1897 he was the unanimous choice of the Republican members of the legislature to succeed himself, but a contest which occurred prevented his election. He was again chosen senator in 1901. Thus his present term will expire in 1907. Senator Mitchell as a young man was a professor of medical jurisprudence in Willamette university, Salem, Ore., serving from 1867 to 1871. He is regarded as a past master of the art of political management.
