

Keep Your Eyes Wide Open

When buying a breakfast cereal and see that the name on the package is OLYMPIC WHEAT-HEARTS. It's a pure, wholesome breakfast mush, similar to one or two other well known articles—with this difference, it's made out of better wheat and only the richest part of the grain; then by sterilization it has strength and flavor.

An Eastern View!

Yesterday an Eastern hardware man was in St. Johns. Incidentally he inquired prices at our store—prices of the same goods, same make and same quality that he carried. Then he said: "Your people here are in luck to have such a store. My prices, 1,000 miles east of here, are fully as high, and in some cases a little higher than your dealers' here." That's the way we sell goods.

PORTSMOUTH and UNIVERSITY

Mrs. Bumgarner is on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Arnold. Mrs. Foster, who has been seriously ill, is slowly recovering. Frank Wright is visiting his mother, Mrs. Presko, of University Park, on his way to California. Mrs. Serrate, of University Park, has had her house painted and it now has an attractive appearance. Miss Vera Lyons is at Forest Grove visiting her young friend, Florence Allen, late of University Park.

Miss F. B. Hemstock has returned to her home in University Park, after an extended visit with her aunt in McMinville.

Mrs. W. E. Parthemer, who, until recently, lived four years here, is at the beach with her two boys—Russell and Robert.

Mrs. Ferris, of Dwight street, will soon, together with her two daughters, Jennie and Stella, leave for the mountains for the benefit of the former's health.

Mrs. F. D. Wolfrom, of San Francisco, is visiting Mrs. M. Brenner, 749 Lawson street, and will take in the fair. Mr. Wolfrom has an exhibit there.

Miss Nash has gone to Newport on a visit to Mrs. W. E. Parthemer. Roy Kane has also gone to Newport by the advice of his physicians—as his health is very precarious.

Miss Nydia Spencer, of McMinville, is visiting her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Hemstock, the popular post master of University Park, and will take in the fair.

Mrs. Aulman, of the confectionery and notion store, is having a nice house built on Lawson street, as he expects his family from Baker City. They will make their home here.

Thomas Reynolds, son of M. Reynolds, the popular grocer of Portsmouth, arrived Monday on the Columbia from California, and is at his home, 1627 Portsmouth avenue. He will reside permanently.

Hans Scharowsky and Harry Goety, who have paid a week's visit to Mrs. M. Brenner, Lawson street, leave on Tuesday evening's train for their home in San Francisco. They are much impressed with the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Hoyt entertained a party of friends at their home on July Fourth. Among the guests were her aunt, Mrs. John Bragg and daughters, of Downs, Kansas, and Mrs. Drew, of San Francisco, California.

Mrs. M. Brandt, formerly of Portsmouth avenue, has a nice new home situated near Columbia University of six rooms with cellar, pantry, closets and modern conveniences. It is hard finished and ready for occupancy. It is for rent.

Mr. and Mrs. James McKeon are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Izart at 1674 Gloucester street. They come from Des Moines, Iowa, and are accompanied by their sister, Miss Sarah McKeon. A nephew of Mrs. Izart, Vincent Allen, is also a visitor and comes from California.

The following officers of Marietta Lodge of Rebekahs were elected at the last meeting:

Mrs. Belle Nash—Noble Grand. Mrs. O. Beaumont—Vice Grand. Mrs. E. Hemstock—Secretary. Mrs. Singer—Past Noble Grand. Mrs. D. E. Hoyt—Treasurer.

Mr. Tucker is painting his residence and is going to put on an addition in the shape of a porch.

Alek Olney has now entire charge of the lower floor of the shingle mill with all its intricate machinery.

Ike Mulden, who moved from the Park a short time ago, is being sued by his wife for absolute divorce.

Renewed life is being put into the work of rapping along the bank. A new crew is at it at a salary of $3.50 per day.

R. B. Bessen, of Breckinridge, a prominent real estate dealer, has been guest of A. Smith. He contemplates locating here.

Mrs. Jenison has a house full of boarders, while some of the other neighbors who enjoy this vocation are not quite so fortunate.

James, Ted, Cornelius, Eugene and John, the young sons of Mrs. J. F. Murphy, went to Seaside on a camping trip last Monday. They expect to be gone a month.

Harry Bowlen and bride are visiting Mr. Bowlen's mother, Mrs. Jennie Bowlen of University Park. Mr. Bowlen is manager of the Northern Pacific coal office at Butte, Mont. Mrs. Bowlen was formerly Miss Jessie Hickox.

Mrs. S. S. Roberts, who is conducting a fashionable dress making establishment at 1611 Olin street, came to University about a year ago from San Jose, Cal. She declares she is well pleased with University Park. Mrs. Roberts is deserving of the patronage of the residents of the peninsula.

Some Boys Start in Evil Paths.

Three boys, of an average age of ten years, who reside with their parents in Portsmouth, are responsible for a robbery that would do credit to professional cracksmen who had spent a lifetime at their nefarious occupation. For some time past Glass Brothers have missed money from the cash register which they could not account for; the pilferings amounted to a dollar and two dollars a day, and when the money bag, containing over fifty dollars, was taken from their home, they were dumbfounded but decided to keep quiet and watch.

One day three youngsters of the neighborhood were seen enjoying new bicycles and feeding on choice confections.

Suspicion was aroused and one of them taken into the store, and after confessing to his share of the crime, implicated two others. Consternation reigned for a time—but as soon as the parents of the boys got wind of it, it was hushed up with the promise that all the shortage would be made good. So far as the community is concerned this ends it; but it is not at all a satisfactory conclusion to the moral sentiment of the neighborhood.

While we have a great deal of sympathy for the parents we cannot forget that these boys were old enough to know what they were doing, for did they not have a prearranged plan of operations? Would it be possible for boys who were "not responsible" to carry on such a scheme among themselves with such secrecy?

Parents in the community who have boys would like to see (for the sake of their own) that these little rascals be punished—not the spanking of a weak mother hand, but something more fitting the enormity of the crime.

The names are not given here on account of the parents, some of whom are highly respectable; but unless something is done to nip such a career in the bud as these boys have started on, they will be heard from again.

It is only a short time since that a hopeful of the age of twelve years was sent out to collect for his father; he wound up in Portland "doing the town," and was scared home by a suspicious officer of the law. Another case is that of a boy who stole a knife from a man working on the new sidewalks of Fiske street. He was followed to his home and the knife demanded; it was handed over without further comment and the pugnacious youngster told "not to do that again."

Prosperous Business Sold.

The Saint Johns Sash and Door Company has changed hands, C. M. Robbins and A. D. McDonald having sold the business to H. J. Holt, who came from Springfield, Massachusetts, (in fact, from all over New England) and who proposes to make his home with the people of Saint Johns.

Mr. Holt is conversant with sash and door business and proposes to hustle for all the business in sight. For a time the genial "Mac" with his steady smile will remain with the new proprietor and aid in his getting the run of the lines. Mr. Robbins has not yet made public his future intentions.

Local Cigar Factory.

The office-room in front of THE REVIEW printery is being fitted up for a cigar factory and the work of manufacturing smokers will commence next week. The plant will be conducted by P. J. Peterson & Co., the junior and working member of the firm being A. B. Heitkemper, who is an experienced man at the business. The firm proposes to turn out fine quality goods, as well as the ordinary-priced cigar. After this let's all call for a "Saint Johns Prince."

Held Brief Meeting.

City Council met last evening with all members except C. D. Edwards present. Attorney McGarry, of Portland, appeared for C. R. Olson and desired to at once reach a settlement regarding the claim made on the city for services as marshal. The committee is to meet Mr. McGarry tomorrow evening.

An offer was made by S. W. Simmons to care for all stock impounded at the rate of 50c per day per head. To be later considered.

A communication from H. L. Powers regarding the sale of waterworks was made in which he stated that he really wished to sell the plant and would give the council an itemized account as to the money thus far invested.

An ordinance regarding sidewalk obstructions passed first reading. A bill from the Oregonian for inserting 25 lines of reading matter three times, $13.80, was held for investigation.

Some More Stuff

George Kearney, of Portland, was a guest of his brother-in-law, W. G. Clarke, over the Fourth.

Little Jennie, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. S. H. Green, is quite ill, and concern is manifest that her illness is dangerous.

C. Rager, of Portsmouth, is building a six-room house at Saint Johns Heights for Mrs. Thurston, of 1717 Hurst street, University.

John Hamilton and wife, of Fort Jones, are visiting P. M. Shaddock, of Saint Johns Heights. Mr. Shaddock is interested in mines in California.

Captain Boucher has sold his pharmacy at Portsmouth to G. H. Hemstock, who has moved the entire stock to his store at University. Mr. Boucher contemplates going east.

W. I. Westerfield and family, of Grass Valley, are expected to visit the Misses Gardner at Northern Hill and will take in the fair. Mr. Westerfield is editor of the Grass Valley Journal.

Peninsula people should appreciate the excellent boarding and rooming house which Mrs. Anna Nokes conducts at 716 Amherst street. Mrs. Nokes is loud in her praises of this portion of Oregon.

Mrs. W. V. Hielman and Clara Waring, of Tacoma, C. E. Stevens and wife, of Portland, Mrs. E. J. Jones and daughter, Orla, and C. H. Brown, of The Dalles, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. S. L. Young.

Every resident of this city is urged to be at a meeting next Wednesday evening and aid in the formation of a Board of Trade. An organization to be conducted wholly for the benefit of this community can do much if all will work harmoniously.

Elliott's Pharmacy sent up last night a large balloon, which made the finest ascension of the kind ever seen by the throng of spectators. It went up fully one mile and drifted slowly to the southwest until lost to sight. The ascension made many rubber-neckers.

Mrs. R. A. Brannan, of Palouse, Washington, and C. C. Howard and two sisters, Zella and Rhoda, of Oakesdale, Washington, returned to their homes after visiting James Harding, of Northern Hill. The young ladies will return shortly.

W. B. Hunter, of Saint Johns, is keeping bachelor's quarters at his home in Saint Johns since his wife went to Pasadena, California, to stay till September. Mr. Hunter broke his finger at the woolen mills last Saturday and has been suffering some, but is getting along as nicely as could be expected.

Were Not Buried.

When the grader reached that point of Jersey street where the feed-wire for THE REVIEW printery was supposed to have been safely buried it was found that less than two inches of earth covered the wires. There was enough electricity in the wire to kill a dozen men under certain conditions. The Portland Consolidated was at once called up and a workman promptly came to care for the wire and bury it so deeply that all danger was averted.

Colorado Travellers.

Last Monday morning there dropped into THE REVIEW printery three visitors from Loveland, Colorado, who came to see the fair, and, incidentally, to see the junior member of the firm of publishers. They were B. R. Bonnell, merchant and banker; A. A. Ferguson, who is also a hardwareman and banker, and Joseph Bell, who is a cross between a retired farmer and would-be lumber merchant. The visitors were surprised and pleased with the little city of Saint Johns and declare that this portion of Oregon is the best country they have found on the entire coast.

"A Few Thorns" column is left out this week on account of matter more important. Next week.
