A sidewalk on Burlington street from Bickner's store to the Braach addition would prove a great incentive to Christianity.

Rev. F. L. Young, the Methodist minister, has rented one of R. W.
McKeon's houses on John street, and will make that his home.

Edmondson, the plumber, has leased the house vacated by Isaac Baker, on Willamette boulevard, and has moved his family to that pleasant property.

Mesdames F. C. Kayler and W. P.
Kayler, both of Blaine, Washington, were in St. Johns on Friday—guests of Mrs. W. L. Thorndyke, of Park avenue.

Under the caption "Surprise Party" on the fourth page of this issue we announced that B. C. Henderson and party left for the east on Wednesday.
This was the intention—but at the last moment the start was deferred till next Monday.

W. C. Walker and wife, who reside at Stewart's station, have been putting in a couple of weeks on Wind River. They were at the mineral springs, near Carson.
Mrs. Walker can tell some very fine fish stories about her trip—and they are all true, too.

Those large apple pies—those luscious, juicy pies—best you ever saw; not just what your mother used to make, but probably, a bit nicer. We sell 'em at 10c—all done up. St. Johns Bakery, Jersey street.

Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Cole, of Prairie Grove, Arkansas, have been guests this week of J. H. Black and his mother.
They are all old-time acquaintances and the meeting was a pleasant one. Mrs.
Black and her guests went to Astoria yesterday for an outing.

We do not claim to be the cheapest on

R. J. Koerner has completed his plans for the brick block he is building for M.
L. Holbrook and has furnished his employer with a handsome front elevation.
The stairway to the upper floor will be six feet wide, and there will be three convenient stores on the lower floor.

If you haven't done so already it will please you when in Portland to try a "meal without meat" at the Vegetarian Cafe, 105 Sixth street. Delicacies are so definitely served that even a meat-eater is surprised and his palate pleased. Low prices.

W. E. Swengel drove down from Aurora, Oregon, this week—bringing with him a load of household goods.
He brought, also, his parents—Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Swengel—who will live in the Point View district. The son, who has bought property here, expects to soon be located here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Stockton left

Church Notice.

Regular services at the Evangelical church next Sunday. Subject at 11 a. m., "Seeking Things Above." At 7:45 p. m., "The Defeated Racer." All are welcome, and the pastor announces that the laboring class are especially urged to feel at home.

Music Lessons Given.

Miss Stella M. Campling will give lessons to a few pupils on Saturdays at her home on Lively street.
Her work will please.

St. Johns Has Candidates.

There are a number of girls in St.
Johns making efforts to win out in the contests conducted by the Portland Telegram. Among them are to be found Mabel McLeod, Lillian Perkins, and Ethel Thorn. Readers of the Telegram should save their coupons for one of these contestants.

Laundry Notice.

Headquarters of the Oregon Laundry is at W. W. Raser's cigar and confectionery store, Jersey street. Packages leave here Tuesday—returned Friday or Saturday.
Fine work guaranteed.

Mr. Hackett has left for the sound country. He secured a good situation in one of the shingle mills there. His family will follow in the near future. Miss Hackett is thinking of remaining in Portland and attending high school.

Mrs. D. O. Webster left this week for a visit to her old home in Boston. She was very enthusiastic over the prospects of seeing her many friends there and visiting the boarding school where she spent a happy season.

J. Taylor and family, from Vancouver, are new residents at the Park, where they have taken up housekeeping apartments.
Mr. Taylor is an employee of the shingle mills.

The shingle mill is running every day and new hands are plentiful, although the union men think eventually they will be taken back.

G. A. Thomas left Monday on his long trip throughout Oregon, Washington and home until Christmas.

G. W. Thomas, a contractor, and his family have moved out from Portland and are living in one of Mrs. Arnold's houses on Druid street.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, now of last Friday to stay indefinitely—hoping to improve the health of Messrs. White and Force.

Harry Bertram Reynolds has severed his connection with the Portsmouth grocery, better known as Reynolds, Dotson & Company. Harry may take up newspaper work.

Mrs. Plagg, formerly a resident here but who has been in Seattle and environs for some time past, arrived back again Monday night and is stopping temporarily with Mrs. Ella McBroome.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Dotson were delighted to entertain Mrs. Marietta Ritchey from Colfax, Iowa, last Monday. She was an old neighbor to Mr.
Dotson and this was their first meeting for seventeen years.

Mrs. J. G. Nash, of Vanderbilt street, is entertaining her niece, Mrs. George March, and husband from Jackson county, Oregon. Mrs. March will be remembered as Miss Myrtle Hurley, who spent eight months in the Park four years ago.

The Narcissus Club's series of dances begins next Thursday evening. This is glad news and their many friends will hardly fail to bestow on the fair women of this organization the liberal patronage they deserve. Don't forget the opening date. You are welcome.

Those of us who have any hopes for the Park and Portsmouth should hesitate before going to buy everything we need.
The other day a prominent business man was seen getting off the car with half a sack of potatoes, which he had gone to town to purchase. That's one man who tells visitors the Park is just the place in which to live! Give the store men a chance; before spending time and car fare call them up and see if their prices are such that it will pay you to lose car fare and time in the purchase elsewhere.

Eleanor Samuels, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Samuels of this place, died Wednesday morning at 5 o'clock of double pneumonia. The little one took sick Sunday afternoon, soon after returning from Sunday school. Dr.
Webster attended her and the parents did not think it was serious until Tuesday night, when she suffered greatly. At 4 o'clock Wednesday morning the ulcer broke and in one hour the little soul had passed away. Interment was at Albina, in the family plot.

Mr. Hackett has left for the sound

BUSINESS COMING.

Willamette Iron Works With 100 Men to Come.

If certain concessions shall be made by the city council there promises to be revival of business interests along the water front which will mean much to St. Johns. There is a need of vacating some streets below the railway track in order to give certain industries room for their plants, and there seems to be some opposition to such action.

The Willamette Iron Works now comes to the front with a proposition to locate its big plant here upon a tract just purchased—but, in addition to that site there is need of that space now staked out as a street, but never used as such. This plant will employ some eighty hands at the start—and it is safe to say that the number of employees will be about 100 within a short time after it starts.

To obtain such an industry without giving a bonus is something over which the city may congratulate itself. It means much to St.
Johns and those who own property and do business here. It means a big increase in many ways—and it would be a pity to lose it. Yet there is probability that such a result will follow a refusal to vacate a street: and there are some who oppose a permanent vacation of any more public streets.

There is really no necessity for any trouble over the matter. It can be obviated—if the new company is inclined to be fair in a business way. There are those who object to "giving away" the property of the city to anyone—and particularly where complete details are not made fully known.

If the Willamette Iron Works would appear before the city council and state the size of its contemplated plant, the number of employees probable, and any necessary data they may have, there is no doubt that a deal could be made along a satisfactory line. Suppose the city council would agree to vacate for a term of years the street desired in this instance, and turn the same over for the use of this company; its successors and assigns?
And suppose it should be agreed that at the expiration of that term of years the city, feeling there was still no demand for that space, could either sell at a conservative figure or lease for a nominal rent the same portion of a street. Why would not this satisfy all parties concerned?

In this way the desired space is gained by the company for ten or fifteen years, the investment is made and the employment is given; the city parts with nothing, gives away nothing, and gains great benefit.
THE REVIEW believes that this matter may be easily handled in this way, and that all parties may be satisfied.

Better Read It.

Couch & Co., of the popular grocery, have a new ad that all housekeepers should commit to memory.
It is brief and to the point.

When in need of lime, cement, plaster, sash, doors, builders' hardware and dry wood and the best of coal for domestic purposes leave the order at Donnelly's market for the Peninsula Feed and Fuel Co. to fill.

Mrs. Hartman and Gordon Ogden and wife have moved into their new home in the Willamette boulevard acreage.

All orders for dry wood and coal left at Donnelly's market will receive prompt attention and each customer will get exactly what they order.
