Our Local Grist

Mrs. Lawrence Hensel is now visiting in California.

M. L. Rowland and family are now living at Portsmouth.

B. C. Henderson and family, accompanied by Miss Eva Braasch, left on Monday for Wisconsin.

For fine cigars it will pay you to call at Valentine's: opposite city hall.

Mrs. J. Orville Farr, of Portland, was in this city last week for a few hours—guest of Mrs. W. L. Thorn-dyke.

Cars now stop at the point where the railway converges with Jersey street. The call for the stop is "Jersey Street."

W. J. Sterling, of Seattle, was in the city this week—guest of his brother, James Sterling. He is a strong ad for Seattle.

Smoke a St. Johns cigar—best 10c cigar on the market—the "White Crow."

The St. Johns Sash and Door Company has just erected another new and large warehouse on its Jersey street property.

The second story of the new brick block is now being rapidly pushed to completion. The block will prove a fine addition to the city.

Retribution gets there. Of the two Texans who murdered the brother of Mrs. Allan Donnelly one has suicided and the other confessed.

Mrs. Anna Suttler, mother of I.
W. and N. H. Suttler, is soon to return to her home in Maine—after a pleasant visit here of a few months.

The business card of Miss Rowland, piano teacher, may be found in another column. Miss Rowland gives great satisfaction to all who employ her.

Rev. C. M. Beller, wife and children, and Miss Clara Beller, left for Pomona, California, on Monday. The change was made for health reasons.

Fresh candies in nice variety and at modest prices at Valentine's—opposite city hall. Call and see.

Mrs. P. Heily, of Spokane, Washington, and Joseph Coyne, of Grace-ville, Minnesota, were guests at the home of Mrs. L. A. McKeon the first of the week.

W. A. Edgerton has purchased several acres of land at Northern Hill, and, together with his wife, is now living thereon. Mrs. Edgerton will soon go to Illinois.

Mrs. J. F. Brallier, of Seaside, was a visitor in St. Johns on Saturday. She was guest of Rev.
Hatch, of the Heights, and Mrs.
W. L. Thorndyke, of Park Avenue.

The St. Johns Meat Market now has a brand new sign to go above the door. Just as soon as the "kids" get over their "lazy day" they have promised to put it in place.

Try the "Par Excellence": the champion 5c cigar: made in St.
Johns.

Mrs. Joseph Bickner was called to Seattle last Friday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of her sister in the northern city. She returned Tuesday, leaving her sister convalescing.

W. Lougheed, a practical jeweler and watchmaker, has leased a portion of P. J. Peterson's cigar store for his shop, and opened his place of business. His ad shows in another column.

Miss Pearl Beebe was down from Seattle a few days last week—but her time was mostly taken up by the fair. She has returned to Seattle. Miss Margaret Corcoran accompanied her.

All orders for dry wood and coal left at Donnelly's market will receive prompt attention and each customer will get exactly what they order.
Peninsula Feed and Fuel Co.

The new delivery wagon of Couch & Company—in connection with an "Egg-Oh-See!" horse—makes a combination which so tickles the senior member of the firm that he insists on driving.

Guy Beebe, the noted fisherman, has gone to Castle Rock, Washington, where he will essay to capture salmon trout. He complains that catfish and black bass seem to shy every time he tackles them.

Mr. and Mrs. Page and two children, from Bedford, Michigan, arrived in St. Johns on Sunday evening on a visit to the family of Edward Cole, of Point View. Mrs.
Page is a niece of Mrs. Cole.

Wm. Westerlund, head of the Wm. Westerlund, land immigration agents, Chicago, was in St. Johns last Saturday. He reports the fair as having produced great results in not only advertising Oregon, but the entire Pacific coast.

When in need of lime, cement, plaster, sash, doors, builders' hardware and dry wood and the best of coal for domestic purposes leave the order at Donnelly's market for the Peninsula Feed and Fuel Co. to fill.

M. A. Ferguson, publisher of the Adams Advance, was in St. Johns on Monday—accompanied by a couple of the fair sex. Mr. Ferguson is, as are most of the newspapermen, a fine judge of the "fair" —and was enjoying himself.

UNIVERSITY and PORTSMOUTH

Miss Florence Shearer is on the sick list.

Miss Ida Davis, of Kelso, Washington, is visiting the Misses Hem-stock.

Tom Casteel has six White Plymouth Rocks entered at the Lewis and Clark Poultry Show.

J. E. Temple is building himself and wife a fine new home at the corner of Fiske and Amherst.

J. A. Carlson and family, from Iowa, who bought the Thornton property on Fiske street, are now living in it.

The two Misses Annie Wilman have returned to their Everett, Washington, home, after visiting Frank Wilman here.

Frank M. Heath, from Portland, is the new barber on Fiske street, vice George Haltzworth, who sold out and gave possession last Friday.

William D. Bollman, a brother of C. F. Bollman, the butcher, arrived last Thursday from Negaunee, Michigan, to make this place his permanent home.

C. W. Bowhay, formerly of Seattle and the Klondyke, accompanied by his wife and child, are new residents and are living at 700 Vanderbilt street. Mr. Bowhay has full charge of the pharmacy department in Hemstock's drug store. Welcome, Mr. Bowhay.

Suppose you call up the city engineer and ask him about those sidewalks on Fiske street? Find out what you can.

Mr. Samuels will open an office in the city in the near future, where he will act as agent in the homestead and timber claim business.

Diphtheria is in the air just now, and it will behoove parents to watch the little ones and call a competent physician at the first signs of throat trouble.

Mrs. Schuman's grocery on the Boulevard, near Portsmouth Avenue is doing a nice business at present, and she is continually adding to her stock of good things.

Florence Shearer, nine years old, of Olin street, died Sunday morning at 5 o'clock of diphtheria. The little one suffered but a few days.
Interment was at Columbia cemetery.

Little Amelia Samuels, who was taken down with diphtheria last week just after his sister was buried, is reported much improved. The family have temporarily left their home to stay with Mr. Samuels' mother in the city.

Portsmouth school has been fumigated, and its three hundred pupils are carefully watched and questioned by the teachers. Anyone found suffering with sore throat, no matter what the cause or how slight, is immediately sent home.

BAD POLICY

One of the drawbacks to this community are the advertisements in Portland papers which one of our real estate dealers frequently inserts.
When people seek real estate they don't care whether a man has grown old in the service of building up a town, or has the credit of building those happy homes: it is a mere matter of whether or not he has the proper goods to deliver.

For the sake of the Park in general those ads which read like patent medicine announcements should be dropped before the public commences to nauseate. This "posing" as a sort of a humanitarian does not go with investors: there is a strongly defined line between legitimate advertising and rot.

Let's cut out this "I-am-the-only-good-thing" business and mention the Park as a splendid place for homes.

This is a fact. And it is also a fact that no one man has pushed it to the front. It was by a united effort.

THE FATAL GERM.

"Morbus Sabbatum," or Sunday sickness, is a disease peculiar to the Peninsula since the rain has started.
It always is prevalent at this time of year. The symptoms vary but never interfere with the appetite.
It never lasts more than twenty-four hours. No doctors are called. It always proves fatal in the end to the church-going spirit. The attack comes on suddenly every Sunday except on occasions of a special game of base ball, or a free ticket to the Oaks. No symptoms are felt Saturday. The patient sleeps well and eats heartily. About 10 o'clock or near church time, the attack comes on and continues until services are over for the morning.

Then the patient begins to feel easy and eats a hearty dinner. In the afternoon the patient is much better, and is able to take a walk and read the Sunday papers: even go out and visit some neighbor.

He eats a hearty supper, but about 8 o'clock he has another attack which keeps him at home. On Monday morning, however, he wakes up refreshed and able to go to work—having no symptoms of the malady until the next Sunday morning. Remedy, Gal. 6:7.

Bri'ge Whist.

Saturday evening Miss Anna Heignay pleasantly entertained a party of her acquaintances, and the hours passed merrily with cards and refreshments. Those present were Miss Elva Brown, J. M. Epperson and — Davis, of Portland; Archie Buchanan, of Portsmouth; Misses Mabel and Myrtle McLeod and Ruth and Ethel Heigney. There were three whist tables.

For Rent.

Furnished room with heating stove; two blocks from postoffice, half block from car station. This office.

A Few "ifs."

If the new public dock is for the public, why should it be used as a storage bureau?

If we desire to keep Jersey street in good shape, why not raise a popular $1 subscription and roll the thoroughfare?

If getting up at four o'clock every morning will cause a man to weigh 210, how much will a man weigh who stays up all night?

If sidewalk men desire to stimulate business, why don't they select certain streets, draw up petitions, secure signatures, and get busy?

If electricity removes all bad substances from wheat flour, why doesn't someone experiment with running beans through an electric-light plant?

If the Portland Consolidated is to fix up Cedar Park as a general pleasure resort to offset next summer's business of the Oaks, when will the P. C. commence to get at it?

If the Northern Pacific is to bridge at Fessenden street, why are its surveyors driving stakes on every foot of vacant land between the Weyerhaeuser tract and the veneer factory?

Hotel Changes Hands.

The Central Hotel, in the Cochran block, has been disposed of by Mrs. Tyner, and she has retired from management.

J. B. Gentry is the new proprietor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Gentry have had considerable experience in the hotel business, and they have no fear of a failure in their new venture. The hotel will be conducted as a place of excellence—catering to the regular as well as to the transient trade.
