Forced To Yield Bottle.

Last August a man died at Kalama, Washington, under circumstances peculiar. When found his room was on fire—but no signs of violence were seen.

Coroner E. F. Wicker, now of St. Johns, held an inquest. A small bottle of white powder was found by the coroner in the dead man's room—and this was taken by Mr. Wicker who has since retained it.

The widow has been having trouble in getting the $10,000 for which O. M. Rosendale was insured—the company refusing to pay on what it deemed a suicide. The company has also been very anxious to get hold of the bottle of powder—but Mr. Wicker has steadily refused to yield it.

Last Saturday an order was issued from the federal court which could not be ignored. The bottle was turned over to the court on Tuesday—but precautionary measures were taken to avoid attorneys for the insurance company tampering with the contents. It would be a very easy matter to inject poison in the bottle—where so large a sum was at stake—even if the present contents were harmless.

The court has ordered an analysis of the powder.

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by Jackson's Pharmacy.

Contractor Was Hit.

The latter part of the week rumor was rife regarding the brick block being erected by W. C. Adams for the Chinese. It was asserted that an injunction had been issued against farther work on the building, that it would have to be torn down, and that it was unsafe.

These stories coming to the ears of Adams he posted a notice that was sharp and to the point. This notice refutes all these claims and declared that the building was to be a very fine one.

Just where these rumors originated THE REVIEW does not know. The heavy rains penetrated the soil about the brick walls so that the foundation settled and the walls were braced in order that the whole wall might settle evenly; and it is possible that this gave rise to the rumor.

Mr. Adams when consulted about the notice said:

"That means just what it says. By gracious, I tell you I'm loaded for bear! I've had enough of this knocking on me—these stories that the building is falling down, and that I've been stopped working on it! There's going to be trouble if someone don't quit it. The building is going right along and will be the best $5000 building in the city when it is finished."

Dangers Of A Cold And How To Avoid Them.

More fatalities have their origin in or result from a cold than from any other cause. This fact alone should make people more careful as there is no danger whatever from a cold when it is properly treated in the beginning. For many years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been recognized as the most prompt and effectual medicine in use for this disease. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Sold by Jackson's Pharmacy.

Made A Trial.

E. F. Wicker was awakened about midnight Sunday by a muffled noise and noted the glare of a flashlight. He sprang from his bed and called to his partner, Mr. Blackburn, at the same time reaching for his gun. A moment later the premises were clear—but he awakened in the nick of time.

The same night a couple tellows were driven away from Paschal Hill's property—and it is believed they tried to fire the barn. Some burned paper, shavings, and charred wood placed against the barn are evidence toward this accusation.

Levy Is Made.

The school board has made its levy upon the valuation of $1,542,594, and 3.60 mills is the figure selected. Of this amount 1.7 mills is for the general fund; street improvements, .4 of a mill; outstanding notes, .66 mills; bonds, .33 mills; interest, .52 mills.

Professor Paul Carus asks "What Is Forgetting?" Forgetting, Paul, is neglecting to agitate the yellow matter in your imagination bulb so as to definitely settle whether you were to take home a chunk of short ribs, order a cord of short wood, or get your teeth filled—and be short for six months. Forget it!

The sweetest ones I've ever met— Are dear old maids: You'll never see them in a pet— Those dear old maids: They exercise, as people know, that good old christian charity. ALL OVER THE HOUSE.

Rules to Be Observed in Cooking Vegetables.

Onions should always be boiled in hard water, salted, because they lose much of their flavor and aroma if boiled in pure soft water.

String beans usually need to boil forty-five minutes. The addition of a small bit of salt pork will generally minimize any rank flavor and will improve them. When done drain thoroughly, season with salt, pepper and butter.

Turnips, carrots, cabbage and onions should be boiled in a great deal of water and taken up immediately and drained when sufficiently done. Overcooking destroys the taste, and too little water will allow them to turn dark in color.

A very little sugar added to tomatoes, squash, peas, corn, beets and turnips will improve them.

Turnips will cook more quickly when cut into thin slices; otherwise they will need to cook a long time. Cauliflowers should be tied in a net to prevent boiling to pieces.

Potatoes on Half Shell.

Bake large, smooth potatoes of uniform size until they yield to the pinching fingers. Divide each carefully in half lengthwise, scrape out the interior, taking care not to break the skin; mash the potato with a little hot milk and melted butter until you can beat it into a cream; salt and pepper, beat in two tablespoonfuls of grated cheese for two cupfuls of potato and return to the waiting shells. Set into the oven until hot through and slightly browned. Serve in the skins.

To Clean Ribbons.

Pin them upon a board covered with a clean white cloth and scrub with a bit of soft white flannel from end to end with cold water to which you have added a little household ammonia. Do this faithfully, and dry upon the board in the sun, bleaching at last if necessary with peroxide of hydrogen, then exposing to the sun. When almost dry, cover with thin muslin and iron on the board.

The Dust Cloth.

A damp cloth is the best of all dusters, although many women will not use it on any account, claiming that it injures the polish on the furniture. This objection is absurd, for if the cloth is clean it will not harm the furniture in the least. It may remove the gloss, but this can easily be brought back when the surface of the wood is dry by rubbing hard with a dry, soft cloth.

Deviled Chicken.

Take the left over meat of cold cooked chicken and cut into neat pieces as large as possible, dust each piece lightly with cayenne pepper and salt and brush with a little made mustard. Melt a tablespoonful of mustard in a chafing dish and put in the chicken with a quarter of a cup of stock or milk. Heat thoroughly, turning the pieces over in the gravy, and serve on toast.

To Avoid Taking Cold.

Stop worrying about disease germs, which you cannot escape anyhow, and fortify your system against them by hardening processes. Keep the feet dry and avoid sitting in drafts when heated. Harden the body by reasonable exposure to cold air and cold water. Then you will never have a cold, and the grip and pneumonia germs will never bother you.

To Brighten the Hair.

Use yolk of eggs with a bit of baking soda beaten up in it and a little claret added as a shampoo to brighten your hair. Honey and rhubarb stalks steeped in three parts of white wine is also a good shampoo for brightening dark hair. Let it stand twenty-four hours, strain and use by wetting hair, roots and all. Let dry on.

To Drive Out Rats.

The rat has a very sensitive foot, covered by a very delicate integument, which is burned by unslacked lime. If we sprinkle the holes and runways of the rat with unslacked lime he will desert the houses. He is also a very thirsty animal, and if we cut off his source of water he will desert the house.

Baked Cranberries.

Fill a casserole or stone crock two-thirds full of fine large berries, not overripe, cover with hot water, put on a tight fitting lid and bake until tender. As they begin to get soft stir in carefully half as much sugar as there are cranberries and finish baking.

Tomato Bouillon.

A can of tomatoes and a quart of strong bouillon, one small onion, chopped fine, a bouquet made with six cloves, twelve whole peppers and half a teaspoonful of celery seed wrapped in a bay leaf. Boil and strain. Allow the bouillon to cool, heat again and serve at once.

A Jamaican Lady Speaks Highly Of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mrs. Michael Hart, wife of the superintendent of Cart Service at Kingston, Jamaica, West Indies Islands, says that she has for some years used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for coughs, croup and whooping cough and has found it very beneficial. She has implicit confidence in it and would not be without a bottle of it in her home. Sold by Jackson's Pharmacy.
