Was Heavy Wind.

"It was twenty-six years ago today," said S. H. Greene, city attorney for St. Johns, last Tuesday, "that I saw the greatest wind-storm that Oregon's history ever showed. Say, but it was a fright! And there are yet to be found in the shape of fallen trees, broken short off, relics of that great storm."

"I had just come from San Francisco by boat—and, by the way, I was never so sick in my life! The sea was awful choppy—but if it hadn't been I'd have been just as sick. Every few minutes I'd make a grab over the rail of the shaky old craft that I was on and save my liver from going into the ocean and swallow it once more."

"But that has nothing to do with this storm. I'd been here three days—and was up in Clackamas county where my relatives were located. It was a few minutes after eight o'clock in the morning. We all stood at a window and watched that wind blow! It was great!

"When we essayed to walk out in the open it was found impossible—for we were thrown about like so many wisps of straw. Only by crawling could we get from the house to the barn—and I was feeling so light (after my recent illness on board the boat) that I dared not go out. I knew if that wind ever secured a grip on me I'd float around up there forever more."

"It was not a cyclone—but a straight wind the like of which has never been seen before or since in Oregon. Large sums of money were expended to put roads in decent shape and to clear the debris which the two-hour storm created."

"The older settlers will remember this storm very vividly. I remember this date distinctly—because I'd been here but three days—and at first I thought it was all done for my benefit because of my arrival. But it wasn't. And I'll tell you that I never desire to see anything like it again."

Then he lit his cigar.

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." No one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy, not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by Jackson's Pharmacy.

Bling Alley Dead.

Henry Ross has closed his bowling alley and shaken from his shoes the dust of St. Johns. Henry was a nice fellow while things came rosy—but he couldn't stand hard luck worth a cent.

After the sheriff's deputies came to his alley to see if Henry was running a blind pig and found cards, a card table, liquor, liquor-glasses, and such evidences in the cellar of the place—Ross seemed to lose heart.

It was generally understood that the place had been getting rid of more liquor than it should—but there was no proof. There seems to be no good reason why a bowling alley cannot be made to pay here—if a conservative rent could be secured and a first-class place be conducted.

Had Close Call.

Last Friday J. J. Shrine, who is engineer at the West Coast Laundry, had an escape from what might have been a serious accident. It is a portion of his duties to run one of the washers—and while he was leaning over into it to clean it the machine started.

His head and shoulders were down in the machine and but for his agility and the slow start of the machine he would have been badly mangled. The belt must have worked from the loose pulley by its own volition—because Mr. Sterling had not touched it.

Mr. Sterling succeeded in escaping with a badly bruised shoulder and a forehead that looked as if he'd been in a scrap with a strong man—but he's all right now.

Poff & Carey have genuine Rock Springs and Cumberland, Wyoming, coal. Try it. It burns up clean. No clinkers, no soot, and very little ash.

The Oregonian now has an authorized agent here in St. Johns. E. O. Magoon is the agent now for that paper—and desires that all subscriptions and business shall be given direct to him. He can now be found at the Hazelwood.

I have the best life insurance policy to be found in America: The Union Central Life. The safest and best—at a fair price. Come in and talk it over. W. H. King.

N. A. Gee made a successful raise this week when he transported the old Byers house under the hill to Edson street. The house is one of the oldest in the city—having been built nearly 40 years ago—but the moving was done all right.

One need not be born with a veil or the gift of prophecy to foresee that lots between Fisk street in University Park and Macrum avenue in Northern hill on Dawson street which extends through the center of that rapidly growing district between the rivers in Portland, and now selling for $10 per front foot, will, within twenty years from today, sell for one thousand dollars per front foot.

UNIVERSITY and PORTSMOUTH

Mrs. McGregor is quite sick. Mrs. Alberson is on the sick list. Miss Abi Deming has moved to Vancouver.

Mr. Gasplie and family will soon go to Newport.

J. Byers will shortly move to his farm near Newport.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Setterlee have returned from their trip to Olympia.

The Lady Maccabees will meet at Odd Fellows hall to form a new hive.

Miss Eva Cushman, of 260 Bain street, visited Mrs. Phillips on Saturday.

Lots on the Boulevard are going up in price by surprisingly rapid strides.

Miss Blanche Jennison has been confined to her home the past two weeks with a very severe cold.

Mrs. Thomson, of Centralia, Washington, is visiting her brother, M. V. Barker, Willis boulevard.

Mrs. Dolson, Miss Jenness and Phillis Miller, of Portland, were all guests of Mrs. Thurston last week.

Mr. Starr is home from Prineville, where, for a while, he was night clerk in one of the leading hotels.

Fisk street is to have more electric lights in the near future. Poles have been erected for that purpose.

R. V. Hoyt, the Portsmouth jeweler, did a nice business during the holidays. His stock of novelties attracted many city-bound purchasers. Mr. Hoyt is a practical up-to-date jeweler.

Rev. Grey, of the Congregational church, is doing much to draw people to that particular place of worship. He has adopted the old custom of "dropping in" on the neighbors, let them be Jew or Gentile. His personality alone is inspiring.

Mr. Casteel has a lot of fine white Plymouth Rock birds in the poultry show this week, some of which took high premiums at the Lewis and Clark fair last summer. If he doesn't come out with a first premium poultry fanciers about here will be much surprised.

Thuman's grocery store was broken into one night last week and a lot of goods stolen, among which were shoes, boxes of cigars and chewing gum. This is not the first time a robbery has been perpetrated in the Park; in fact such deeds are taking place with alarming frequency. Why do not the business men get together and engage a night watchman? The residents would, no doubt, chip in, and the individual expense would be trivial. A trustworthy man could be engaged for about $50 per month; we would then have some little protection against robbery and fire, whereas, today, we have absolutely none.
